ACHIEVEMENT

Achievements: A State established. A wilderness bowing to the hand of man. The exacting of a toll from Nature's storehouse. Man looking forward. Rivers spanned, roads laid, communication completed, the air a highway, plagues held at bay, life more livable. Forward and Onward. Driven by the relentless will of man to think and to achieve.

FOREWORD

Progress: The log schoolhouse, center of the social life of the pioneer, schoolhouses with real glass windows, gradual improvements to the well equipped center of learning, I.H.S., made possible only by the efforts and the sacrifices of innumerable fathers and mothers in Independence who wanted something better for their sons and daughters.

FACULTY

J. H. Clement Navigator

The function of the navigator is to guide and direct. Without him no objective can be obtained, no goal reached. We are extremely grateful that we have had a man of wisdom, kindness, and loyalty, at the helm of our school ship. Though the stormy winds of depression have blown hard, Mr. Clement has stayed on deck and guided us through safely.

J. H. CLEMENT, Superintendent of Schools
A. B. McPherson College
A. M. University of Kansas
A. M. Columbia University

Mr. Clement obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree at McPherson College. He also holds two Master of Arts degrees, one from the University of Kansas and one from Columbia University. Our Superintendent has been entrusted with many honorary positions. He has served as vice-president of two sections of the Kansas State Teachers Association. His most recent appointment was to the Kansas State School Book Commission. With his brother, he is co-author of a book on "Curriculum Construction."

E. R. Stevens

Mate

All great and deserving men should be remembered in song and story. Space does not permit the writing of either, but someday we hope to see both in print. For who more richly deserves the honors and plaudits of the students and community than our Principal, Mr. Stevens? We call him friend, and what higher tribute can be paid to any man?

E. R. STEVENS,
B. S. Kansas State Teachers' College, Emporia
M. S. University of Kansas

Mr. Stevens is widely known in educational circles in Kansas. He received his Bachelor of Science degree at the Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia. He then received his Master of Science degree at the University of Kansas. Mr. Stevens is also president of the Kansas State High School Athletic association, and president of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations.

Board of Education

The Board of Education is still carrying out its important functions in spite of the depression, the bank holiday, and other political and economic upheavels.

This board is composed of six prominent, hard working men and women of this city. They are: B. H. Woodman, president; C. E. Stewart, vice-president; J. O. Ferguson, C. M. Carman, Mrs. C. C. McCoy, and W. O. Gray. Ex-officio members are J. H. Clement, superintendent of schools, and Florence E. Harper, clerk.

We are quite sure that the students of our school system, and even the voters of this community, are not aware of the tremendous power, and importance of this group. The operation of our schools is the biggest business in this city. In money alone approximately 300,000 dollars a year is involved. This board, due to the famous, (or infamous) depression has had to carry on in the face of many difficulties. They have had to contend with reduced funds, unjust complaints and criticism. This body of public-spirit citizens, working without pay, must draw up a budget of expenses every year. They must estimate the cost of running the entire school system each year. They then dictate to the city the tax levy that must be laid to cover this expense. Extra meetings have been called many times in the past year, to meet such emergencies as the bank holiday. The schools had enormous sums of money tied up in the banks. For the coming year, because of the reduced valuation of property, this board will have reduced funds to work with. They must entirely revamp their budget, and trim and save as much as possible to make possible the successful operation of our schools.

It is our humble but unshakable opinion, that the people of the community should take a greater interest in this board that governs the destinies of the youth of our schools. For is not the youth of today the person in whose care this great nation will rest tomorrow. The operation of our schools is not only big business from the financial standpoint, but big business from a moral and social standpoint. The younger generation is older America's biggest investment and must be watched over with care and thought.

Our own Board of Education is working powerfully, smoothly and unselfishly behind the scenes for us, and those people who stop and think, are deeply and sincerely grateful to this group for their interest in us.

The Senior Class

'Way back in '29, we all entered on the four years of our high school career. In the days of which I speak, we were what the seniors called "small fry"; we were classed as freshmen, and we lived up to our name.

In our sophomore year, we placed two boys on the co-championship football team of South-East Kansas. We also had two boys on the basketball team, and in the spring, in the inter-class meet, we beat the juniors, a feat that had never been accomplished before.

Last year, our third year, the football team was composed almost entirely of juniors. We did not fare so well in that line, but the boys who came back this year won the championship, not being beaten or tied during the season. Last year the basketball team was composed principally of juniors, but our crowning achievement was the winning of the inter-class meet, another feat which had never been done before in the history of the school, the seniors always having the best material.

This year, our last, has been the climax. We had a winning football team, as I have stated before, and although we were not in the running for the basketball championship, we had a good team.

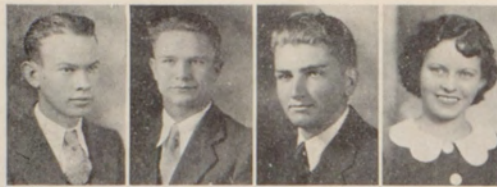

So far, all that has been told of this dear old senior class has been about athletics, but we do not want you to get the idea that that is all we are good for. We have many brilliant scholars—so many, in fact, that we would hate to give you a list of them; it would take too much room. In the four years that we have been in high school, we have been winning, or have helped to win, some of the beautiful trophies you will see on the second floor of the junior high school.

This year we had a debate team, composed almost entirely of seniors, that has given us a good name in surrounding states as well as all over this one. We also have a certain girl, a dignified senior, who is winning acclaim for the school by her oratorical talents.

We wish to thank the people of Independence for the excellent school system which they have provided for us, and for all they have done to help us get the education we have received.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Rogers, Gray, McCoy, Beebe.

Junior Class History

The junior class of '33 is composed of eighty-two boys and one hundred fifteen girls. The class officers are as follows: Paul Rogers, president; Katherine Gray, vice-president; Lee Beebe, treasurer; Winifred McCoy, secretary; Charles Raglin, chapel representative. Paul and Winifred were both officers of the sophomore class last year. Miss Beth Hall and Miss Irene Murphy are the junior class sponsors.

The junior class was well represented by the boys in football, basketball, track, tennis, and golf. Those who went out for football were Paul Rogers Ray Corn, Joe Seymour, Paul Long, Raymond Arrington, Charles Armsbury, Charles Raglin, Elmer Braden, Paul Kalber, Alfred Todd, and Everett Wagoner. Those who went out for basketball were Bill Sloop and Paul Rogers. Those out for track were Paul Rogers, Ray Corn, Bill Crawford, Edwin Robinson, Joe Seymour, Horace Bell, James Tharp, and Elmer Braden.

Two juniors, Roberta Snow and Vera Keener, were awarded letters for debate.

Both the boys' and the girls' glee clubs had a number of junior members. A large percentage of the orchestra was juniors.

Lee Beebe was a junior officer in G. A. A. Lee was treasurer.

The junior members of the G. R. cabinet were Virginia Helene Smith, Virginia Gilmore, Virginia James, Martha Lou Merrill, Lee Beebe, Katheryn Sullivan, and Winifred McCoy.

By the school records, there are several students of the junior class who will probably qualify for the Honor Society.

The Junior-Senior banquet, which has been a traditional event, was not given this year because of the existing financial conditions. Letters were sent to the parents of all juniors requesting their opinions. About two-thirds of those who answered were opposed. There was no longer a necessity for giving a play as the proceeds would not have been sufficient to finance the banquet.

Sophomore Class History

The 214 members of the sophomore class are just entering into their high school careers; so, naturally, they have not had the opportunity to distinguish themselves to the extent of many of the upperclassmen; but if their first school year is any indication, they will write many a page in the history of the Independence high school before they graduate.

Though the sophomores are looked down upon by the high and mighty seniors, by far the majority of the upperclass grandeur is merely to hide the jealousy of the elders for their protegees. An indication of the prominence of the sophs was the popularity contest for the Orange and Black kodak pages. Of the twenty students picked as the school's best liked, three were members of the sophomore class, and a large percentage of all votes were cast for sophomores.

The officers of the class are: president, Frank Sicks; vice-president, Ruth Jane O'Brien; secretary, Ann Brown; treasurer, Fred Beal. The chapel representative is Bob Noel. The class sponsors are Miss Plank and Miss Gustafson.

The basketball team of next year should be very strong, and nearly all of its members will be from this year's sophomore class. Coach Smith organized a team of sophomores and kept it working out with the regular team all year in order that it might gain experience.

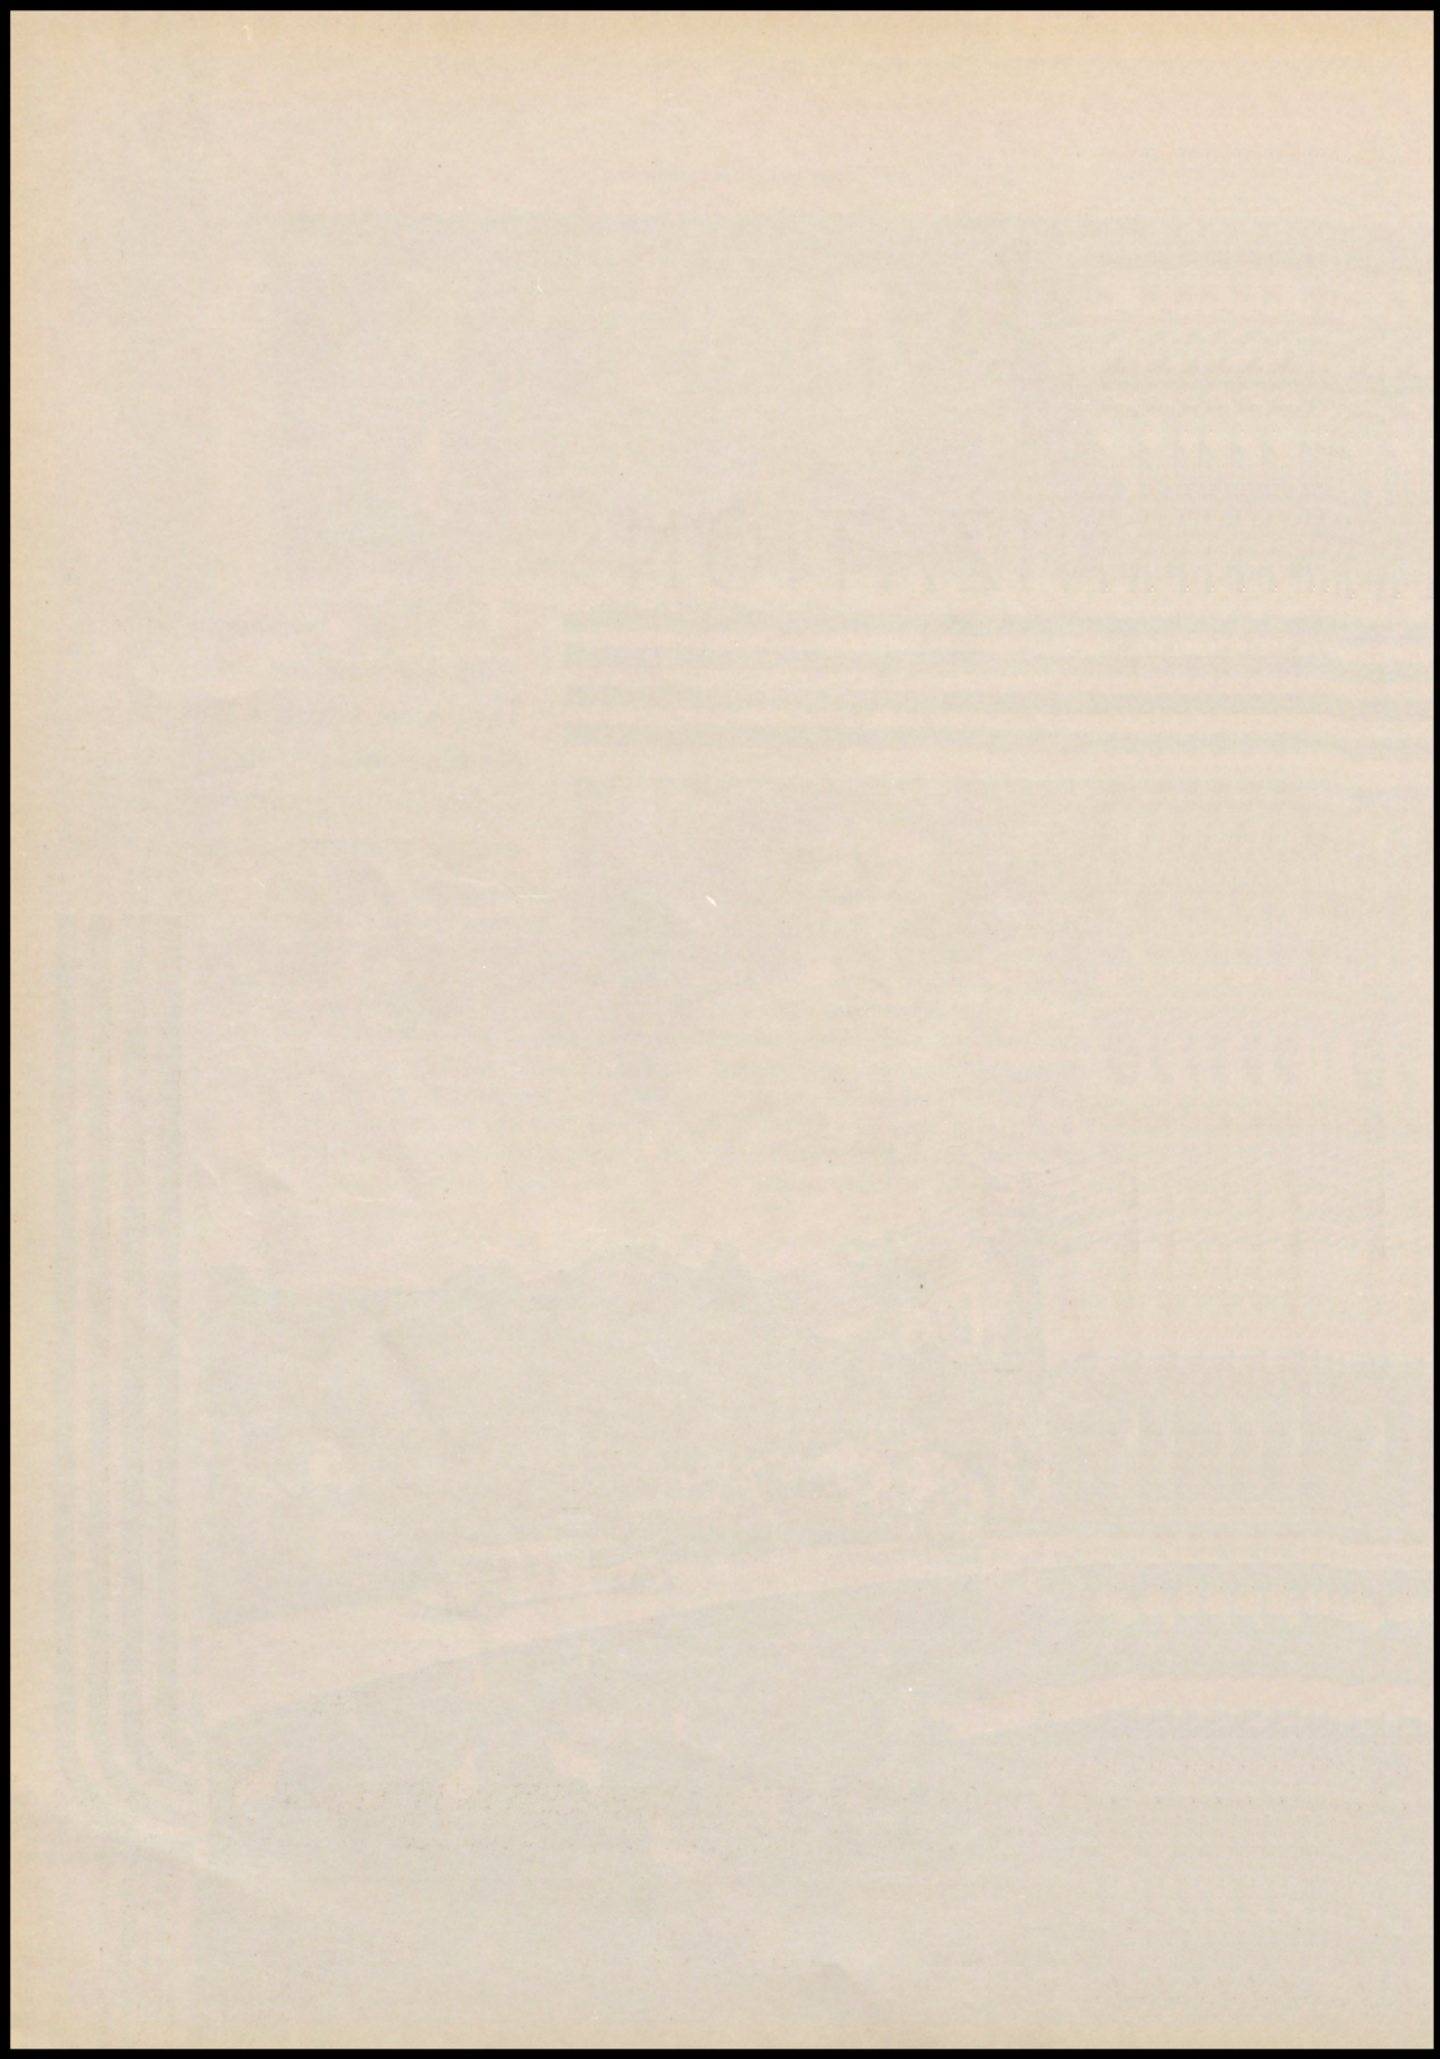

One regretful thought about the sophomore class is the fact that in two more years they will lose most of their youthful pep and exuberance and will be stolid, lazy seniors. But perhaps that is destiny. In the meantime they constitute the future hope of the school, and we are sure that they will be worthy of bearing the orange and black in future years.

ORGANIZATIONS

Fraternalism; brotherhood created by intimate relationships. The factor which makes school life pleasant. Associations providing lasting friendships. Cooperative planning to achieve the heights.

ACTIVITIES

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society, as we now know it, is an outgrowth of an Honor Society for high schools, the Phi Beta Sigma, founded by Dr. Owen of Chicago Normal College in 1900. Following this lead, other societies were formed each acting independent of its brother society. Then came the formation of the National Honor Society, binding all individual societies together.

The local chapter of this society was organized ten years ago under the supervision of Mr. W.L. Friley and with Miss Arvilla Jarrett as sponsor. Both Mr. Friley and Miss Jarrett are still affiliated with the society.

The chief purpose of the society was at first to honor the scholars, but feeling that scholarship alone was not sufficient, a committee decided that character, scholarship, leadership, and service were to be the fundamental virtues for membership. The gold pin is symbolic of membership in this society, the highest honor which can be bestowed on any high school student, since only ten percent of the senior class and five percent of the junior class are eligible for membership.

Due to the unusually high scholastic standings and achievements of many of the members of the senior class, a quota of twenty-three was this year taken into the society, the largest membership since its organization ten years ago. These candidates were initiated into the society in an impressive ceremony held in the senior high school assembly. Principal Stevens presented these students with the National Honor Society pin.

The following officers were elected for the year 1932-33: president, Elson Goodell; vice-president, Ward Hille; secretary, Grace Roberta Beal; and treasurer, Georgia Lee Rockwell.

DRAMATICS CLUB OFFICERS

Dramatics Club

The Dramatics club has gained distinction for the quality of the plays it has presented throughout the year. The first long play, "Two Girls Wanted", was presented in December, and was a portrayal of New York life. "The Sixth Key", March 23, was an unusual mystery comedy and drew a record crowd, the first since 1929. The casts of these two plays were members of the dramatics club, with the exception of Bill Emerson and Woodrow Gordon, in the former, and John Brown, in the latter.

The senior play, "Jonesy", was presented May 16, with Bill Mitchell in the title role.

"The Man in the Bowler Hat" was entered in the Pittsburg dramatics contest in April. Elizabeth Johnson represented the club in declamation.

In addition to the aforementioned, many short plays and skits were presented at various times.

Credit for the success of the club must go to Miss Anna Ingleman, dramatics director and club sponsor.

Debate

The debate team this year had one of the most successful seasons in its history. Of the four tournaments entered in which it was possible to win a trophy, three cups were added to our collection, representing awards for two first places and one second.

Only two of those comprising this year's team had had previous experience, Edith Thompson and Dolores Dowell. Eight letters were presented to the debaters, and Edith Thompson received two stripes and a second letter.

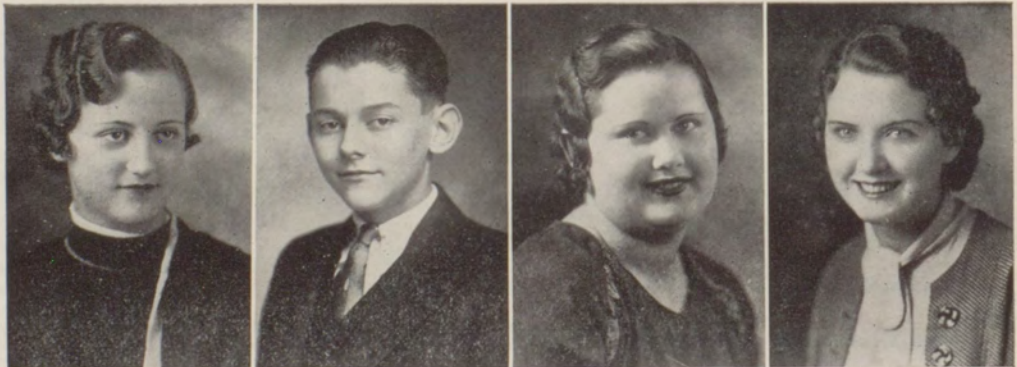

A unique feature initiated this year was the practice of debating both sides of the question. This means that only two debaters, instead of the customary four, compose a team. This in itself is a handicap in a large tournament, as the debaters must have thorough knowledge of the question, and they must debate twice as many times.

The question for debate was "Resolved: that approximately one half of the total state and local revenues should be derived from sources other than tangible property".

The first tournament in which Independence was represented was held in Winfield, Kansas, November 25 and 26. June Bolton and Edith Thompson composed the team which won second place in the tournament, being defeated by Hutchinson in the finals.

In the next tournament Independence came through with flying colors when the team won first place in the tournament at the teachers college at Pittsburg, December 9 and 10. Mary Beth Gibson and Bob Bittman were defeated in the semi-finals, while Edith Thompson and June Bolton composed the team which defeated both Pittsburg and Parsons on both sides of the question in the finals.

In the Coffeyville tournament held December 16 and 17, teams were allowed to debate only one side of the question, and Independence was defeated in the last round eliminations.

In the state-wide tournament held under the auspices of the College of Emporia, January 6 and 7, Independence again walked off with the highest honors when the team composed of June Bolton and Edith Thompson won first place. The meet was the largest in which I. H. S. has competed and the largest ever held in the state. There were forty-four class A and seven class B schools entered. June was selected as the best debater and was presented with a gold medal; while Edith, as second, also received a medal. The Independence team was opposed by Hutchinson teams in the quarter-finals, semi-finals, and finals, the Orange and Black winning by decisions of two to one, three to nothing, and two to one. The two girls debated first the affirmative and then the negative side of the question, winning all of the debates in which they participated. They defeated the Topeka team which won the previous Coffeyville tournament.

In the S. E. K. tournament held in Parsons February 16, Independence entered two teams, debating only one side of the question, according to the rules of the tournament. Independence lacked two points of getting into the final round.

Credit for the teams' success must be given Mr. Jacoby, the coach, for his untiring leadership and diligence in training the debaters.

The Orange and Black

Over the last quarter of a century the Orange and Black has become a prominent factor in the Independence high school tradition. In years past the yearbook has established a record for quality surpassed by few in the same class. This year the staff has labored to uphold that record and maintain the standard of quality set by those in previous years.

Handicapped by decreased sales and advertising, and the prospects of an unbalanced budget, the staff has worked to turn out the best possible book at the least expense.

We of the staff are proud of what we have accomplished in the face of difficulties. We are glad that we have been able to issue the '33 Orange and Black and not forced to discontinue it, as so many schools have abandoned their yearbooks because of the depression.

Well, here it is. If we have made any mistakes it is too late to correct them. The book has gone to press. The judgment is in your hands. If you like the annual, we are happy in the consciousness of a job well done. If not, all we can say is that "we've done our best". The difficulties we have encountered will be smoothed out in years to come. We hope the editors of the future will profit by our experience. We hope that you will adjudge this as the best, or one of the best yearbooks ever issued by I. H. S., or any other high school. We hope that, in the future, you will look back through this book and picture again the happiness of youth and school days. We hope that this book will have served its purpose as a chronicle of the school year of '32-'33. If it does, we are proud and happy and content.

The Orange and Black

Greatest credit for this yearbook must go to Marlin Reppert, faculty advisor of the Orange and Black. In his capacity as advisor Mr. Reppert was the guide who enabled this book to be published. His foresight and experience enabled him to iron out many of the difficulties which lay before the staff. Not only did he direct the planning and compilation of the material, but he oversaw the printing and binding. Without his valuable assistance the successful completion of this annual might have been an impossibility.

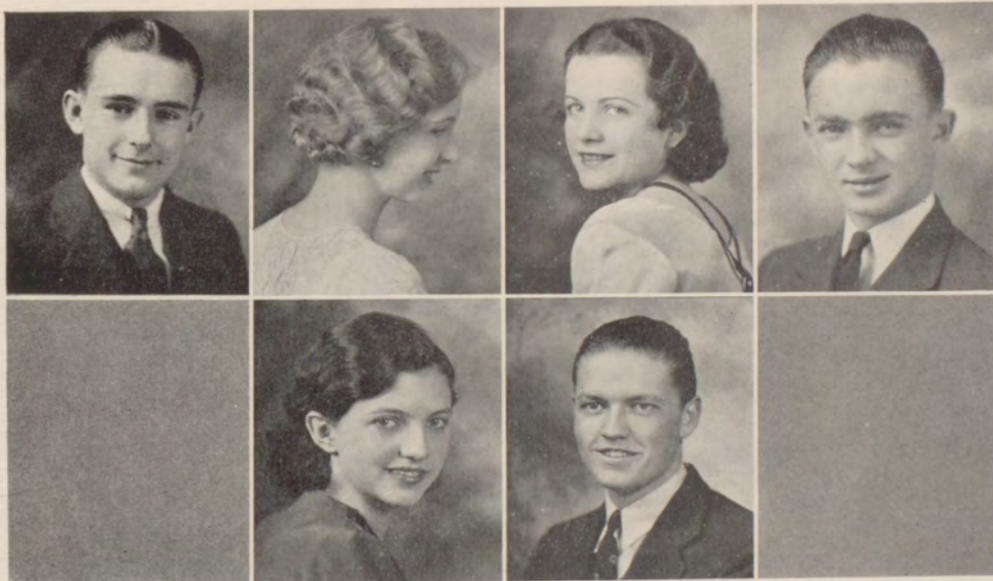

Mr. Hugh Brown, journalism instructor, also was very helpful in the issuance of this book. He supervised the work of the kodak editors and did the copy-reading. He also provided the impetus sometimes necessary to get copy in before the deadline.

Other faculty members assisting were Miss Stewart, Miss Old, and Miss DeLury.

The editor-in-chief was Charles Olson. He generally directed, with Mr. Reppert, the issuing of the Orange and Black. The associate-editors, Ruth Cheney and June Bolton, wrote a great many of the stories. Bud Sellars and Truman Thompson were business managers. Bill Mitchell, circulation manager, took care of the advance annual sale and the distribution. Charles Phipps, boys' sport editor, wrote all the boys' sport stories. Elizabeth Feldman, girls' sport editor, wrote the girls' sport stories and assisted in the lettering of the kodak pages. The kodak editors were Edith Thompson and Emily Vrooman. The joke editors were George Patty and Bette Talley. George also assisted in selling advertising.

New features of this year's book are the flexible covers and four-color printing of the title pages.

"The Independence Student"

The year 1933 marks the eleventh year of publication for "The Independence High School Student". In spite of the depression the work was carried on splendidly. We should be proud of our paper because of the high position it holds among the state high school papers. "The Student" is the voice of the junior college and the junior high, as well as the senior high, thus making it a representative paper of the entire school. Separate staffs for the junior college and high schools are used, making the news of each school easier to take care of.

Elson Goodell was elected first editor of the year by popular vote. Later a slightly different method of selecting editors was adopted. The selection was made partly on the basis of the amount of news contributed to the paper. The students who have attained the honor of being editor of "The Student" are: Elson Goodell, June Bolton, Emily Vrooman, Grace Roberta Beal, Dorothy Coldwell, Jane Blaney, Edith Thompson, and Elizabeth Feldman. The business management for the entire year was handled competently by Virginia James and Ruth Cheney. Charles Olson and Truman Thompson served in the capacity of circulation managers throughout the course of publication. The advertising was handled effectively the whole year by students of the college journalism class.

More than the usual number of students enjoyed the annual trip to the University of Kansas this year to attend the conference held at Lawrence for journalism students from all over the state. Delegates from the Independence journalism class are found in attendance at this conference every year. Delegates this year were: Jane Blaney, Ruth Cheney, Dorothy Coldwell, Eugene Emens, Elizabeth Feldman, Elson Goodell, Cecile Keeney, Bill Mitchell, Charles Olson, Charles Phipps, Harold Simmons, Edith Thompson, and Emily Vrooman. A very enjoyable trip was reported by everyone.

The personnel of both journalism classes wish to thank those loyal business men of this city who, throughout the year, contributed greatly to the support of the paper by their advertising. This support is doubly appreciated because of the depression, and all its attending evils.

"The Independence Student" is a member of the National Scholastic Press association and also holds a charter in the "Quill and Scroll," the National Honorary Society for High School Journalists, although no chapter has been organized here.

Lest the misinformed get the idea that the journalism classes do the entire job of putting out the paper, it should be made plain that much of the credit of a successful paper goes to the printing classes. They are the unsung and little thought of persons working in the midst of ink and hot lead. Theirs is no small job, and they should receive no small amount of credit. The teachers of the school should also share in the praise, by making possible more and better news stories. Last, but not least, are Mr. F. M. Reppert, head of the printing department, and Mr. H. C. Brown, journalism maestro. They are the brains behind everything, and to them all homage is paid.

The Girls' Glee Club and Quartet

The girls' glee club this year has been one of exceptional ability, under the able direction of Miss Reid. The work was chiefly a capella. The "Fiesta of Song" was given the night of April 20 by the glee clubs. Violin, vocal, and piano solos added variety to the program.

As twenty-four of the members are seniors, it will be necessary to select many new students next year, but that shouldn't be very difficult, as there is much promising material.

These organizations have been very much in demand this year, and it is gratifying to note that our vocal music department has complied with every request made for its services.

Boys' Glee Club and Quartet

Under the firm leadership of Miss Irene Reid, the boys' glee club has made a remarkable improvement since the school term began.

This glee club has always been recognized as one of the school's best musical organizations. The club this year has twenty-nine members, and of this number twenty-two are seniors. Miss Reid inaugurated a more extensive a capella program than previously, and this work has been an outstanding achievement.

The boys' organizations have furnished programs on many different occasions and have always been highly complimented.

The chorus which furnished the music for commencement and the baccalaureate sermon was composed entirely of seniors.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES

Senior Girl Reserves

The senior Girl Reserve club, with its code and aims representative of of the Christian standards and ideals of the school, has this year been one of its most active organizations.

The success and achievements of this group were due largely to the untiring efforts and guidance of the sponsors, Miss Morrison and Miss Gray.

This year's programs were planned to meet problems which are foremost in the everyday lives of the girls. During the week-end spent at Camp Moodyroth in the fall, the cabinet formulated plans for the year's work.

A Recognition and Vesper service was held at the First Christian Church at the end of the membership drive. The old members also entertained the new girls with a "Backwards" party.

The club sent four girls to the annual mid-winter conference, held at Columbus. These expenses were met by a pre-Christmas bazaar.

"Trails of Friendship" was the theme chosen for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet, held February 28, with Miss Florence Stone, state Y. W. C. A. secretary, as guest speaker.

One of the most notable successes on this year's social calendar was the party given last fall for the senior Hi-Y club. Approximately 165 members of the two groups attended.

A new feature of the club's activities was the "Heart-Sister" week observed in March. During this week each girl presented gifts to and wrote friendship notes to a fellow member.

The social service projects of the club have been of inestimable value and aid to the community. At Thanksgiving time a number of baskets were sent to the needy of the city. A Christmas party was given for thirty-five less fortunate children, and again at Easter baskets were prepared. Twenty scrap books were sent to shut-ins at Mercy Hospital, and the girls sewed on children's garments for the Red Cross.

Senior Hi-Y

The membership of the Hi-Y showed an appreciable increase over that of preceeding years. As a group, the club has cooperated splendidly in all the activities which have been sponsored throughout the year.

At the beginning of each semester, the Hi-Y preforms a service of inestimable service to the student body. A book exchange is put into operation and junior and senior high school books are resold to the students.

The club has stimulated interest in athletics by the sale of pencils with the dates of the football games for the high school and college printed on them. The sale of pencils was resumed during the basketball season; the pencils having the basketball schedules on them. During the track season each year, the Hi-Y generously provides the medals awarded to contestants placing first in each event in the inter-class track meet. These medals create an interest in the meet, and serve to bring out class talent.

The activities of the club are many and varied. Tournaments are held in the following sports: ping-pong, tennis, checkers, old jack, golf, and swimming. The winner of each tournament in each sport is presented with a medal. The social activities of the year included a mixer in the gym, water-mellon parties, wiener roasts, and a sweetheart party.

The officers of the club, organized as a cabinet, consist of: Jack Sharpe, president; Raymond Arrington, vice-president; Glen Elfman, secretary; Edwin Reynolds, treasurer; Junior Hatcher, program chairman; Frank Ebright, Bible study chairman; Jack Duckworth, service chairman; Harold Cotner, publicity chairman.

Under the able guidance of its sponsor, R. L. Daggett, and with the help of the cabinet and personnel of the club, the Hi-Y has had a very successful year.

International Club

The International Relations club in Independence high school, a branch of an international organization, was founded in February, 1931, through the efforts of Mr. Maust, who is still its sponsor. To Mr. Maust belongs the credit for this twofold purpose: to encourage interest in and understanding of national and international problems; and to promote understanding and friendship between the youth of the nations. Towards accomplishing the latter, the club members, through exchanges, receive the names and addresses of students in foreign countries with whom they may correspond.

Programs during the past year have been conducted in two manners: reports on outstanding current articles on questions of national and international importance given by the members and followed by open discussions; and special talks by outside authorities. The organization was especially fortunate in having as guest-speakers, Miss Esther Eakin, of Paris, France, who has attended school in Italy and who spoke on the Italian educational system; and Richard Peck, who has traveled extensively in Europe and Africa. For unusual programs, guests who might be interested in the club's work were invited. The club also held a party on December 3, and Carrol Bailey entertained the members at her home during the Christmas vacation.

Unfortunately, due to conflicting schedules, it was impossible to hold meetings regularly during the second semester.

Officers for the year were: president, Jane Blaney; vice-president, Elaine Quattebaum; secretary-treasurer, George White.

Daubers Club

Art, like many of the other fine arts, is thought by the majority of the students and parents to be non-essential. The purpose of the Daubers club, which was formed in '28, is to educate the students to a better knowlege of the essentials and meaning of art. With this purpose in view, the Daubers had, through out the year, reports and talks on the principles and current topics of art. These were given by outsiders and also by the members.

For the past two years the club has not been able to sponsor an Art Exhibit, but it is hoped that they will be resumed next year. However, they were fortunate in being able to obtain an exhibit of Japanese prints from which the students were allowed to purchase as many as they desired.

Besides the reports that were given at each meeting, the members made individual projects such as: leather tooling, batik work, enameled placques and many other useful problems. The club also made posters for the various events of other departments of the school.

Miss Old, the art instructor, is the sponsor of the club. The officers were elected at the first of the school year and held their positions the entire year. They were: Elizabeth Feldman, president; Alice White, secretary-treasurer. The meetings are held bi-weekly as in previous years.

The pins were not changed and are still the palettes with the letters "D. C." and the primary colors on them.

ATHLETICS

Sportsmanship: Clean, hard-fought encounters. Little matter the outcome, though victory is sweet if fairly won. True sportsmanship breeds and evidences well-trained intellects.

Sportsmanship

Sportsmanship is defined as that type of behavior that regards the rights and feelings of others.

Modern sportsmanship is said to have originated from the old English game of cricket. The people almost forgot how to play during the middle ages. A few hundred years ago English schoolboys developed the notion of playing games just for fun. The old ideal of doing your best and letting the other fellow do his, has become the English code; and "play cricket" became the English expression for playing hard and accepting defeat without humiliation, or victory without gloating.

This athletic competition idea has spread to the New World and it is under the direction of the coaches of America that a fine set of sport traditions has been built up in the United States.

Sportsmanship is simply another way of stating the Golden Rule. You want to play your best; hence you take no advantage that will prevent the other fellow from doing the same. You respect him and want him to respect you. Or sportsmanship may be applied to the old saying of "Turning the other cheek". Take a blow and don't strike back. Pity the other fellow who loses his temper and don't lose yours because at that time you are a better man than he is.

The test of real sportsmanship is behavior in a game that taxes our self control, where moral courage must be at its highest. It is said that a man who can be a gentleman on a football field can be a gentleman anywhere.

Football gives some of the best examples of good sportsmanship. The game teaches sportsmanship by deed, not by words; for after all it isn't what you say, it's what you do. No matter what happens the player must control himself and not fly off the handle. It is the greatest tribute to any sport that the players should manifest self-control.

Sportsmanship is not merely a form of behavior to be used only in the athletic world, but it is needed everywhere and everyday. Those who learn to be a good sport in athletic competition can find use for sportsmanship throughout the rest of their lives in the office, at home, or on the road.

Many times in a game, organization gives way to spontaneity; the fun of the game tends to be crowded out by the will to win. In fact, it is this will to win that gives rise to the need of sportsmanship.

It is a poor sport, indeed, who cheats in a game of skill. He is not respected, and he loses his self-respect and interest in the game.

It is no credit to a fellow who can cheat and not get caught. Play fairly and learn the joy of victory well-earned. It should always be remembered that it is better to lose with a clear conscience than to win by an unfair trick.

Sportsmanship is more than just a word to be preached by coaches and newspapermen. It is an attitude toward the other fellow. It is said that sportsmanship is the philosophy of living. It is one of the really big things of our day.

Pep Club

Williams

Kandt

The Pep Club, which originated in 1926 under the sponsorship of Miss Spradling, physical education instructor at that time, had a membership this year of twenty-four junior and senior girls, including the two cheer leaders.

The club is fundamentally an organized group to lead the student body in its support of the different school activities. The girls, before important football and basketball games planned assemblies and pep meetings to arouse enthusiasm and to get the students to come to see the games.

Each girl in the club attended all home games and as many out-of-town games as possible. They are required, also, to take part in drills and stunts planned for the entertainment at these games and to help with the ticket sales.

This year, as been the custom, the Pep Club entertained the football boys with a banquet at the end of the football season, and in the spring a picnic was given to the basketball players.

The officers of the Pep Club, this year, were: president, Ruth Whistler; vice-president, Mary Beth Gibson; secretary-treasurer, Ruth DeVore.

To Miss Hughes, the sponsor, much credit is due for the activities of the Pep Club. It was through her untiring efforts and patience that the girls have been able to work up drills and assembly stunts.

"I" Club

Nine years ago Coach Deane Smith organized a club whose membership was limited to those athletes who had earned a letter in any one of the five major I. H. S. sports—football, basketball, track, golf, and tennis. It has been in continuous existence since 1924 under the sponsorship of its originator, Coach Smith.

Meetings of the organization are held bi-weekly. At each meeting various sorts of entertainment are provided by talented individuals, both in and outside of the school and club. Each week individuals, are appointed to arrange the programs for the coming meeting. The failure to provide a program results in severe punishment.

Features of every school year are the initiations of new members, held at the conclusion of every athletic season. Enforced parades in outlandish costumes, trying ordeals, and the application of large paddles by brawny arms, topped off by a feed, provided through donations from the new members, constitute the ceremony.

This year the "I" Club put on an assembly program, headlined by a screamingly funny blackface skit. Popular approval voted it the outstanding assembly of the year.

The membership of the club now stands at twenty-four, a number which will be swelled at the close of the spring sport season.

Football

For the third time in the past four years the Bulldogs showed their supremacy over Southeast Kansas opponents by winning nine straight games and annexing the S. E. K. league title.

Approximately seventy boys turned out for the first practice on September 5, including ten lettermen. With the first game three weeks away immediate preparation was begun. After the first two weeks of practice the Bulldogs were reported as showing signs of having another great team. The coming of the first game was therefore watched with great interest.

The opening game of the season with Fredonia proved very satisfactory, Independence winning 47 to 0. The Bulldogs flashed a powerful offensive and a stiff defense. Things began to look bright once more for I. H. S.

The first league encounter was with Pittsburg. Again Independence showed offensive power by winning 37 to 6. In the next game, with Parsons, the Vikings held the Bulldogs scoreless the first half, which ended 0 to 0. However, Independence came back strong and pushed over three touchdowns, winning 18 to 0.

The opening half of the Ft. Scott game looked bad for Independence. The Tigers led 7 to 0. But the Bulldogs came out fighting, scored two touchdowns and won 13 to 7.

Without the services of four regulars the Bulldogs whipped Neodesha 32 to 7. In the next encounter, Independence avenged the defeat of a year before and downed Columbus 12 to 2.

A large crowd turned out to see the game with Chanute. Both teams were tied for first place, the winner, however, gained undisputed possession of the top berth. After a hotly waged contest the game ended in a 12 to 0 victory for the Bulldogs.

Independence played their poorest game of the season with a hard fighting Sedan team but won 13 to 6.

The final game, the annual Turkey Day battle with Coffeyville, proved to be a typical Tornado-Bulldog affair. Independence had too much power and come out victorious, 20 to 0.

Seventeen boys were award letters and of this number only four will return next year. It seems that Coach Smith will have to build up a new team for the 1933 campaign. Nevertheless, the Bulldogs will be in there fighting when the season opens.

Football Lettermen

Harold Simmons, quarterback—Signal calling was not his only specialty. He was an accurate passer and a good place kicker. His line plunges made him a constant threat throughout the season. He will be lost by graduation.

Elson Goodell, end—"Doc" was probably the best defensive end in the league. He was an excellent pass receiver and did the punting for the team. His outstanding work earned him a position on the first All S. E. K. Team. He is a senior.

Paul Rees, fullback—"Buck's" ability as a line plunger and a blocker earned him a name well known in Southeast Kansas. Many times he broke away for long gains. His work placed him on the first All S. E. K. Team. He will not be eligible for further competition.

Paul Rogers, halfback—Speed and cleverness enabled him to be the trickiest ball carrier in the league. His long runs were thrilling and spectacular. He placed on the second All S. E. K. Team. Paul has another year to play.

Charles Phipps, quarterback—Fast, shifty, and heady are the words which characterize the play of Charlie during the season. When a passing attack was needed Phipps was on the throwing end of the tosses which seldom went astray. He is a senior.

Maurice Cannady, halfback—Maurice was outstanding as a linebacker, blocker, and line plunger. His fighting spirit was much to the success of the team. He placed on the first All S. E. K. Team. Maurice is a senior.

Watt McBrayer, end—Watt showed vast improvement over last year and proved himself to be a good wingman. He was a good defensive end, especially blocking punts. Offensively he was a splendid pass receiver. Watt will be lost to the team by graduation.

John Deere, tackle and captain—Hard fighting and fast, John played a fine game at tackle. His fighting spirit was a mainstay in the line. He was named as captain of the All-S.E.K. first team. John will be lost by graduation.

Football Lettermen

Edwin Reynolds, tackle—Ed might be called the utility man of the team. During the season he played center, tackle, and guard. He played a hard, clean, and heads-up game. Ed has one more year to play.

Ted Ward, center—Although not so big, Ted showed that he could play center. An accurate passer and outstanding on the defense he was a great factor in a great line. He placed on the second All S.E.K. team. Ted is a senior.

Kenneth Head, guard—Kenneth was a hard scrapper with lots of pep. His blocking was good as was his tackling. He pulled out of the line fast and his interference for the backfield was fine. Kenneth is a senior.

Junior Passauer, end—Junior was the best offensive end on the team. Plays thru him were generally good for gains. Also, he played a noteworthy defensive game. Junior has completed his eligibility, and his loss will be deeply felt.

Ward Hille, halfback—Near the close of the season Ward was shifted from halfback to end. At either halfback or end he played a steady game. His blocking was excellent and he was a sure tackler. He is a senior.

Loyal Pattin, guard—Independence has the reputation of having fine guards and Loyal kept the record true. He was an excellent tackler and blocker. Many times he broke through and ruined the opponents plays. He should be a great guard next year.

Myron Cadwell, guard—Myron is the first player in recent I.H.S. history to earn a football letter his freshman year. He played a hard, fast game and could stand a lot of punishment. Myron should become an outstanding guard in a few years.

Charles Armsbury, tackle — Charles is another man to show much improvement over last year. Although the largest man on the team he was fast and handled himself well. With another year to play, Charles should come through in great style.

Willard McNutt, Guard—This was "Mac's" first year and he played a hard, steady game. The opponents found him mighty hard and tough to get through. He played heads-up ball and was always in there fighting. He is ineligible for further competition.

Basketball

The fact that Independence did not fare so well in league play does not mean that they did not have a successful season. Although the Bulldogs failed to come thru as was expected in the pre-season dope, the games won during the season exceeded those lost, Independence winning eight and losing five. They scored 344 points to their opponents' 256, and finished in fifth place in the Southeast Kansas League race.

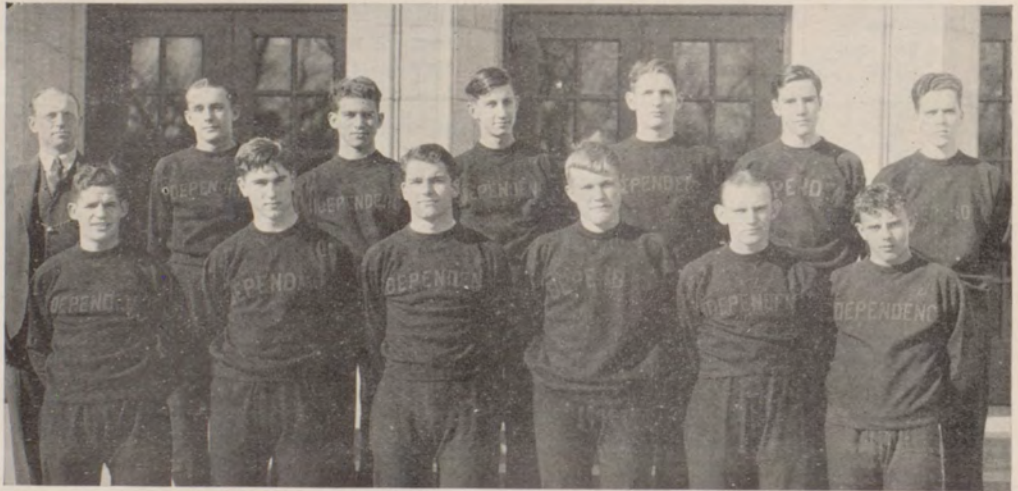

Independence opened the season with Caney and came out victorious by a 22 to 8 score. In the next two games the Bulldogs showed great scoring power with victories over Neodesha, 48 to 9, and Sedan, 46 to 6. However, Independence played poorly in the first league encounter and was defeated by Pittsburg 16 to 35.

After playing a poor first half, the Bulldogs came back strong and defeated Fredonia 32 to 18. In the next game, the strong Parsons team gave Independence their second league defeat, 37 to 17. The game with Coffeyville, there, turned out to be an exciting affair, Independence finally winning 22 to 18. Fort Scott proved to be too strong for the Bulldogs and handed them another league defeat, 42 to 23. Independence suffered their fourth straight loss in the league, at the hands of Chanute in a thrilling 21 to 24 game. The Bulldogs repeated their victories over Neodesha and Coffeyville by the respective scores of 32 to 10 and 15 to 8.

Independence was defeated in the second round of the regional tournament at Coffeyville by Parsons, 14 to 34, after defeating Neodesha 50 to 7 in the first round.

Letters were awarded to nine Bulldogs at the close of the season, and Charles Phipps was elected honorary captain of the team. Those receiving letters were Charles Phipps, Harold Simmons, Paul Rogers, Elson Goodell, Watt McBrayer, Francis Blade, Junior Passauer, Lewis Behrens, and Jack Knight.

Track

With only six lettermen returning, the 1932 track season looked as though it might be a poor one for the Bulldogs. However, the interclass meet brought forth a lot of new material and from this Coach Smith built up a fine team. The juniors pulled a surprise and won the interclass meet easily.

The first meet of the season was a dual affair with Chanute. Independence showed a fine array of talent and won by a 71 2-3 to 60 1-3 score. The Bulldogs' next opponent was Neodesha in another dual meet. Independence overwhelmed the Blue Streaks by a score of 110 to 22. By defeating their old friend Coffeyville, 89½ to 42½, the Bulldogs ran their string of consecutive victories in dual track competition to twenty-four. For their final meet of the year, besides the league meet, Independence journeyed to Neodesha to participate in a quadrangular meet among Cherryvale, Chanute, Neodesha, and Independence. The meet ended in a victory for the Bulldogs. Independence then went to Pittsburg for the Southeast Kansas league meet, in which they placed third. Ft. Scott won the meet, with Pittsburg a close second.

Two school records were broken during the season, one by Don Strait, in the pole vault, and the other in the medley relay by the team composed of Meyer, Rogers, Corn, and Fitz.

At the close of the season, letters were awarded to eighteen boys. Those receiving the "I" were, Cannady, Rogers, Meyer, Corn, Fitz, Newell, Crawford, Gordon, Reynolds, McBrayer, Goodell, Strait, Ward, Crosslin, Bell, Isle, Rees, and Campbell. Of this number, thirteen will be eligible for competition next season.

S. E. K. Golf Champions

An undefeated season and a championship were the honors obtained for I. H. S. by the 1932 golf team. The team composed of Sicks, Emerson, Wade, and Scott won all of its six scheduled matches and annexed the team championship of the S. E. K. league.

The first opponent for the Bulldogs was Fredonia, who was defeated 10 to 2. Their next encounter, with Coffeyville, ended in a 12½ to 2½ win for Independence. Fredonia was a victim for the second time of the sparkling play of the Independence team by a 8½ to 3½ score. In a second match with Coffeyville, the Bulldogs handed them another loss, this time by a score of 10 to 2. Columbus was the next to go down in defeat at the hands of Independence, 11 to 1. The sixth and last match of the season, a second meeting with Columbus, resulted in another Bulldog victory by a 10 to 2 score.

In the Southeast Kansas league meet at Ft. Scott, Ivan Sicks won first place, Bill Emerson was runner-up, and the Sicks, Emerson, Wade, and Scott combination won the team championship.

Tennis

Undefeated in six matches and the annexation of the S. E. K. league championship was the record of the tennis team for 1932 season. This also marked the second undefated season for the Bulldogs.

Playing Fredonia on the local courts, the Bulldogs took all the matches and won 3 to 0. In competition at Chanute, Independence again won all the matches and took another 3 to 0 victory. For their next encounter, the Bulldogs journeyed to Fredonia for a second match with the Yellow Jackets. The result was a 3 to 0 win for Independence. A second match with Chanute turned out to be a fourth straight 3 to 0 Bulldog victory. At Columbus the team encountered a little trouble, but won, 2 to 1. In their second meeting with the Columbus aggregation the Bulldogs concluded their season with a 3 to 0 win over the Titans.

Keeping pace with the golf team the netsters annexed the Southeast Kansas league title. Elson Goodell won the singles championship, and the team of Simmons and Behrens won the doubles.

At the close of the season letters were awarded to Goodell, Blade, Simmons, and Behrens.

Senior G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association, which was organized in 1926, is under the sponsorship of Miss Elva Hughes, and through her efforts the girls of the senior high are able to partake in the various after school sports. The girls greatly appreciate this privilege given to them and the opportunity to win letters the same as the boys do in their sports. The officers are: Helen Deane Gibson president; Charlotte Cox, vice-president; Aldean Jones, secretary; and Lee Beebe, treasurer.

Although this organization was formed locally in 1926, it was not until last year that it joined the state organization and was then classified as to the equipment, instruction and length of class periods.

The activities for which points are granted are divided into four groups: (A) organized activities, (B) unorganized activities, (C) achievement tests, (D) health and hygiene.

Three different awards are given. The first, which is a school letter in the school colors, is given when a member has earned 600 points. Those who are working for this award are: Anna Blank, Charlotte Cox, Catherine Crosson, Helen Deane Gibson, Trilbajean Hamontre, Aldean Jones, Mary Jane Mibeck, Gertrude Wesley, and Naida Sharpe. The second is the letter K in the state colors, brown and gold. Louise Adair, Esther DeVore, Ruth DeVore, Marguerite Goll, and June Ioerger are working for this award. This is given when an additional 400 points has been earned. The third and final award is a gold pin with the letter K inscribed on it. As yet no one has earned this award.

Junior High Girl Reserves

Willing cooperation, more than ever, has this year characterized the junior high organization of the Girl Reserve club. This organization, with its aim to prepare the girls for a three-fold life-mental, physical, and spiritual—, is divided into two groups, the Blue Triangle group under the sponsorship of Miss Crocker and Miss McNiel, and the Blue Star group sponsored by Miss Wahl and Miss Tulloss.

Neither group followed a theme in its year's work, but each program was planned with the idea in view of including as many girls as possible. Unusually interesting and instructive programs were those on "India", "Safety First", "Recreation", "Religion", and "Partiotism".

Each group enjoyed a picnic in the fall. The social events of the year were climaxed with the Mother-Daughter banquet held on February 28, with Miss Florence Stone, state Y. W. C. A. secretary, as speaker.

Further work of the clubs included the sending of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets and contributions to various funds. All of the projects were financed by candy sales.

The officers of the Blue Triangle group for the year 1932-33 were: president, Eleanor Cavert; vice-president, Jane Cowles; secretary, Mary Jane Clark; and treasurer, Viola Lang. The Blue Star officers were: president, Barbara Burns; vice-president, Jesse Schaid; secretary, Ann Stewart; and treasurer, Middo Garr.

Junior Hi-Y

The junior Hi-Y, like the senior Hi-Y, is a Christian organization for the boys of the junior high school and this year has thirty-five members. The club was formed in 1926-27 under the leadership of Mr. Heckethorn, who has been the sponsor since that time. Much credit is due Mr. Heckethorn for the success of the club.

The greatest and highest achievement of the Hi-Y is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout our school and our community high standards of Christian character". For this reason the club was organized and members of this activity try to live up to their motto. For the boys who are enrolled in this Christian activity, life will contain more happiness and they will obtain finer ideas out of life than they otherwise would.

The officers of the junior Hi-Y are: Dalton Simons, president; George Chaney, vice-president; Burks Sherwood, secretary; and Charles Wills, treasurer. Members of the cabinet are: Richard Arey, programs; Stanley Porter, Bible study; Arthur Knott, world brotherhood; George Jones, service; Bill White, publicity.

The junior Hi-Y sent several baskets of food to the poor at Thanksgiving. This is an established custom, having been done every year since the organization of the club.

The club was well represented at the district conference at Altamont this spring, and took an active part in the proceedings.

Junior High Basketball

This season found the Junior 4 League, which was begun in the season of 1929-30, enlarged to a six-team circuit. The schools originally in the league, Fredonia, Humboldt, Cherryvale, and Independence, invited Chanute and Parsons into competition, and these two schools accepted, making our league one in which a better balanced schedule could be maintained.

The new additions to the league, as if to make a name for themselves in their new company, proceeded to run away from the older members in one-sided games, and the season ended with Chanute in possession of first place, with one defeat, while Parsons took runner-up honors.

The Bullpups, formerly used to the highest standing in the league, sank to the lowest position in the standings. Previous to this season, the Bullpups had thrice been champions of the league, having won the trophy each of the three years since the formation of the league.

The season began with no lettermen or experienced men around whom to build the Bullpup squad, and inexperience proved to be too great a handicap to overcome in such a short time. However, the team showed qualities of sportsmanship and determination which helped to offset the sting of defeat, and so the season cannot be termed wholly a failure.

At the end of the season, only five boys were eligible to receive letters. These were: Malcolm Wewerka, Ted Baker, Robert Hamilton, Lloyd McKain, and Marvin Baker.

Junior High Track

Having been twice champions of the Junior 4 League in track in the first two years of its formation, the aspiring Bullpups came out in large numbers at the first call for practice, indicating a threat to take the championship three times in a row.

Among the large number who came out for the team were the following lettermen: Yewell—hurdles; Baker—hurdles; J. Crawford—weights and dashes; McKain—hurdles; and F. Sicks—pole vault.

After a few weeks of diligent practice, the Bullpups met Humboldt in a dual meet in which they lived up to their predicted strength. The score of the dual was 91 2-3 for Independence, 62 1-3 for Humboldt. The outstanding mark in this meet was John Crawford's 139-foot heave in the discus, a mark much better than the league record. The next dual meet of the season was one with Chanute, in which the Bullpups lost in the closest race seen on the Independence field. The result, 63-62, indicates only mildly the closeness of this contest, and the thrills connected with the meet.

The league meet was held at Independence on April 12, 1932, and turned out to be a triangular affair with Fredonia and Humboldt competing against the Bullpups. Cherryvale dropped out of track competition.

In this meet, the Bullpups for the third consecutive time proved their championship ability by running up the winning total of 72 points. Humboldt was second with 64½ points, and Fredonia trailed with 55½ points. This meet was a thriller all the way through because of the close competition in all events.

Among the outstanding marks made during the season was Crawford's 139 ft. throw on the discus, Harold Goad's time of 6.5 seconds in the 50-yard dash, Frank Sicks' vault of 9 ft., 6 in., and Sam Fitzpatrick's time of 14.8 seconds in the low hurdles.

Those who were awarded letters at the close of the season's competition were: Jack Yewell, Thomas Baehl, Lemual Donaldson, Joseph Sims, John Crawford, Lloyd McKain, Marvin Baker, Frank Sicks, Malcolm Wewerka, Clarence Fowler, Sam Fitzpatrick, Harold Goad, Doyle Haberly, Kenneth Brooks, and Gerald Blake. From this group of lettermen enough material to form a strong nucleus for another team will return for the sason of 1933.

Junior G. A. A.

Last year a junior G. A. A. was organized under the leadership of Miss Elva Hughes. Previous to this time there was no division in the organization. The purpose of the club is to give the girls of the junior high school an opportunity to compete in both outdoor and indoor sports.

Designated points are given for the various activities. These are divided into two separate divisions: organized activities, such as basketball, volleyball and swimming; and unorganized sports, such as hiking, horseback riding, and skating. After eight weeks of organized activity an achievement test is taken.

Besides making the required number of points, one must keep sixteen weeks of a health chart, must be able to pass the Bancroft straight line posture test, and have a heart examination by a certified physician.

Three different awards are given, but to receive them the member must be passing in all subjects and have a good record in sportsmanship. The first award is received when the person has earned 400 points. It is a felt shield with the letters G. A. A. in the state colors, brown and gold. The second is received for an additional 500 points and is a school letter in the school colors. The third and last award is received for the final total of 1500 points, and is a gold pin of a sunflower design with the letters G. A. A. inscribed on it.

I heard one yesterday about Charles Wadman who went to school for the first time. When he returned home his father inquired how he liked it.

"It's all right but they ask too many questions," replied Charles. "First they ask me where you were born and I told them. Then they asked me where mother was born and I told them. But when they asked me where I was born "I had to tell a lie."

"Why?" asked his father.

"I didn't want to say I was born in a Woman's hospital and have them think I was a sissy so I told them the Yankee Stadium.

Jim: "Hurt! Say, what do you think a sewing machine is made of, whipped cream? Look, you can see it yet."

Pete: "See what? The sewing machine?"

Jim: "No, the stiches the sewing machine took in my head. And when I came to, I looked around and saw a pretty girl in a third story window beckoning to me."

Pete: "I know what happened—you rushed in the house, up the stairs, clasped the pretty girl to your manly breast, and carried her safely out of the burning building."

The laziest man we know hereabouts is Will Knott. He's too lazy to sign his full name anywhere—
he just writes "Won't."

* * * * *

Two small boys were hunting in the woods when one of them stopped and picked up a chestnut burr. "Come here, Tommy! I've found a porcupine egg!"

Old Mother Kangaroo
Has a shopping bag for her children too,
But someday they'll "scram" and not come back,
And leave their old Mother holding the "sack!"

* * * * *

He (whose unusual tactics are being decidedly cramped): "Do you know the difference between trying to kiss you and trying to kiss Dorothy?"

She (who is slow but sure): "I'll bite."

He: "Exactly. And she won't!"

* * * * *

"Abie! Abie! Come from the shade vit your new sun suit on!"

* * * * *

"Dearest, I want you to marry me."

"But have you seen father?"

"Many times. But I love you just the same."

* * * * *

What is Love?

Love is when a girl wearing a long white dress will ride to a formal in a fellow's rattle-trap, moth-eaten, dust-laden, topless automobile.

* * * * *

"Who's that homely looking girl over there?"

(Angrily) "That is my sister."

"Boy! She sure can dance."

* * * * *

Bob Bittman: "Do you know anything about the Greeks?"

"Chuck" Olson: "Those fellows that run the fruit stands?"

Bob Bittman: "No—do you know
Homer?"

"Chuck" Olson: "Yeah, he's the guy that made Babe Ruth famous!"

* * * * *

"Have you seen the timber girls?"

"No, who are they?"

"They are Rose Wood and May Hogany."

Where He Shone

"Did you make 100 today in Constitution?" Ernest's mother asked him, a few weeks after school had started. "You look so glad about something that I'm sure you are doing find in your studies."

"No'm, I didn't know my Constitution lesson today," admitted Ernest, "and I went to the foot of the class in history, and I couldn't answer a single question in economics."

"Why, son," his mother began, her face and tone both showing disappointment, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself instead of..."

"Don't let that worry you," he interrupted, beaming happily. "I'm the only boy in the class that can wiggle his ears!"

"I'm the happiest woman in the world. I'm marrying the man I want."

"Oh, that's nothing. True happiness comes to a girl by marrying the man somebody else wants."

* * * * *
Harold Simmons: "What kind of man would you like to marry?"
marry?"

Marjorie Smith: "Oh, tall, dark, and handsome."

Harold S.: "What if you met a man who had lots of money but was sorta sappy looking—what would you do?"

Marjorie S.: "Well, just how much money do you have?"

* * * * *
"Mummie, I want to go to the zoo to see the monkeys."

"What an idea, Bobby! Fancy wanting to go and see the monkeys when your Aunt Jane is here!"

* * * * *
Elene Quattlebaum: "You know my neighbor got a dozen hogs and tried to keep it a secret from me."

Maxine Preece: "Did he keep it a secret?"

Elene Q.: "Yeah, till this morning, but this morning I got a 'whiff' of it!"

* * * * *
Rebecca Chaney: "Do you know the difference between a 'corpse' and a 'corps'?"

Martha Kimball: "Sure, a corps is a dead gentleman, a corpse is a dead lady!"

* * * * *
Grace Roberta Beal: "Do you know when my brother is on the farm he can get more milk from the cows than anyone else?"

Bill Mitchell: "Do you say he can get more milk from them than any one else?"

Grace Roberta B.: "Yes."
Bill M. : "Gee, what a pull! What a pull!"

Little Ruth Cheney (at 8 years of age): "Mother, was your name 'Pullman' before you were married?"

Mother: "Why, no, Darling. Why did you think it could have been that?"

"Lil" Ruth: "Well, I just wondered 'cause that's the name printed on all of the towels!"

Buck Rees: "I sure have. I don't take orders from anyone!"

* * * * *
A man went into a butcher shop and said, "Give me a pound of beefsteak in two slices."

The butcher cut, weighed, and wrapped the meat, but said the man, "I've changed my mind; I want it cut into cubes."

The butcher went back, cut some beefsteak into cubes, and started to hand it to him again when the man changed his mind again. "I want it ground," he said.

This time the meat man ground the meat, wrapped it, and said, "Shove off, sailor?"

"How did he know the buyer was a sailor?"

"He had on a sailor's uniform, you sap."

* * * * *
"What happened, dear?" she asked her husband, who had got out of the car to investigate.

"Puncture," he said briefly.

"You ought to have been on the lookout for this, was the helpful remark. "You remember the guide warned you there was a fork in the road!"

Dog Catcher: Do your dogs have licenses?

Small boy: Two of them have just been washed so they have'nt any, but the dog we got this morning is just covered with them.

* * * * *

Golfer: "My boy, do you know what becomes of little boys who use bad language when they are playing marbles?"

Small Boy: "Yes, Sir. They grow up and play golf."

* * * * *

Esther DeVore: "Your husband is sulking again. What's wrong this time?"

Mrs. Passauer: "Oh, it's just because I used his silly old tennis-racket to strain the potatoes."

Suspicious Husband: "Who called this afternoon?"

His Better Half: "Only Aunt Sophie."

Suspicious Husband: "Well, she left her pipe."

* * * * *

Miss Lake: "Who was Columbus?"

Jim S.: "The Gem of the Ocean."

* * * * *

Aunt Sadie and Uncle Hiram were sitting on their veranda one peaceful evening not so long ago, listening to the merry chirping of the crickets. "I jest love that noise," said Uncle Hiram, dozing off.

Soon afterward the choir of the village church down the road broke into a beautiful chant.

"Just listen to that! Ain't that beautiful?" exclaimed Aunt Sadie.

"Yes," murmured Hiram sleepily; "they do it with their hind legs."

* * * * *

Miss Lake: "Eugene, can you tell me a well-known date in history?"

Eugene Perkins: "Yes, Antony's with Cleopatra!"

* * * * *

The intoxicated song—"Hiccups the bride!"

* * * * *

Irene Beasley: "Did you know that Columbus was crooked?"

Mildred Manley: "Aw, he wasn't either."

Irene Beasley: "Sure he was. He double-crossed the ocean."

The Rent-a-Car Song: "My Phaeton's in Your Hands."

"Sorry to keep you waiting, old man; but I've just been setting a trap for my wife."

"Heavens! What do you suspect?"

"A mouse in the pantry!"

* * * * *

High Jacker: "Your money or your life?"

Scotchman: "Take my life. I must have my money for my old age."

* * * * *

Mr. Maust: "Would you care to take Bacteriology?"

Jessie June DeVauk: "Don't bacilli, don't bacilli!"

* * * * *

Emma Lou Midcap: "How much is a ticket to Kansas City?"

Ticket Agent: "$5.80."

Emma Lou: "Gee, everything is high here. They're selling for $3.60 up at Iola."

The first mention of baseball is in the Bible. Eve stole first, Adam stole second, Gideon rattled pitchers, Goliath was put out by David, and the prodigal son made a home run.

* * * * *

"Father," said little Mickey, "wasn't it Patrick Henry who said: 'Let us have peace'?"

"Nivver," said the old man. "Nobody by the name of Patrick ivver said anything like that."

* * * * *

An excited Scotchman over the telephone: "Hurry at once, doctor, my baby has swallowed a penny."

Doctor: "How old is it?"

Scotchman: "1894."

Jones (hot and tired, to neighbor's son): "Hullo! Father wants to borrow something, as usual, I suppose?"

Boy: "Yes, please, Mr. Jones. He says could you 'blige him with the loan of a corkscrew?"

Jones: "A corkscrew? Certainly! You run along, Billy. I'll bring it 'round myself!"

The prospective young tourist was doubtful: "Are you sure that these field glasses are high-powered?" he inquired.

"Say", replied the enthusiastic salesman, "When you look at anything closer than ten miles, it looks like it is behind you."

* * * * *

Hali Tosis: "I hear you had burglars at your house last nite."

Adda Noid: "Yes, they stole practically everything but the soap."

Hali Tosis: "The dirty crooks!"

* * * * *

Even his best friends wouldn't tell him, and so he flunked the examination.

* * * * *

Marshall Ross: "Where has Ralph gone?"

Hienrich Neidhardt: "If the ice is as strong as he thinks it is, he has gone skating—if not, he has gone swimming!"

* * * * *

Rosalie S.: "Do you know how to play golf?"

Mary Frances H.: "Oh gracious no! I don't even know how to hold the caddy."

Junior Partner (to pretty stenographer): "Are you doing anything on Sunday evening, Miss Dale?"

Miss Dale (hopefully): "No, not a thing."

J. P.: "Then try to be at the office on time Monday!"

"Ah, a rose between two thorns," said Charles Olson, as Elizabeth Feldman seated herself between Ward Hille and Jim Sheldon.

"I should call it a tongue sandwich," said Ward Hille.

Once upon a time a queen's heart was won by a king. He had a large diamond which cost lots of jack. People at the wedding saw a great pair.

One night, however, the king played the deuce by coming in late. Whereupon the queen grabbed a club from a tray. But the king would not admit that he was beaten. He tried trumps, handing her four tens, and remarking, "Do some shopping with what I've won."

So they lived happy ever after, and no spades were needed.

Alice White, who was enjoying her first trip abroad, wrote a post card to Ruth Whistler, who was somewhat surprised to get this message:

"Last night I reclined in a gondola on the wonderful Grand Canal drinking it all in, and life never seemed so full before. Wish you were here with me. Love, Alice."

* * * * *

Father had brought company home for dinner, and everything was going along fine until his small daughter remarked: "Isn't this meat roast beef, Dad?"

"Yes, why?"

"I thought you said you were going to bring an old mutton-head home for dinner."

* * * * *

"If you don't shut off that loud speaker," shouted an irate tenant across the street, "I'll come over and stop it for you!"

"Here's wishin' you luck, neighbor," came the calm reply. "She's been going that way ever since I married her."

* * * * *

Employer: "My boy, I started out of college on the theory that the world had an opening for me."

Office Boy: "And you found it, sir?"

Employer: "I did. In fact, I'm in the hole right now."

* * * * *

"I had a dream the other night and dreamed that I ate too much blueberry pie and went to the hot place!"

"You did?"

"Yeah, and one ol' timer down there said that I acted as if I owned the place."

"And what did you say to him?"

"I told him I did 'cause my wife gave it to me while I was on earth!"

Do right and fear no man.
Don't write and fear no woman!

* * * * *

Neighbor: "Jones, do you know that woman across the street?"

Jones: "She certainly looks familiar. Let me see. It's my wife's new dress, my daughter's best hat, and my mother-in-law's parasol. Sure, I know her. It's our cook."

* * * * *

A devout mother was showing her little son the picture of the martyrs thrown to the lions and explaining it to him at great length and very solemnly, trying to make him feel what a terrible thing it was.

"Oh, mother!" he said tremulously, "just look at that poor little lion 'way behind the rest. He won't get any!"

* * * * *

"Millie," he said, "you are a little angel!"

His wife, unaccustomed to such praise, beamed at him across the breakfast table. "And why do you think that, dear?" she asked in the sweetest tones she had used since their wedding day.

He gave a bitter smile. "Because," he said, "you're always flitting about the house, always harping on things, and now, according to your own account, you have nothing at all to wear."

Teacher: If I cut a beefsteak in two and then cut the halves in two, and then divide the pieces, what do I get?

Johnny: Eighths.

Teacher: Correct. Again?

Johnny: Sixteenths.

Teacher: Right. Again?

Johnny: Thirty-seconds.

Teacher: Correct. Again?

Johnny: Hamburger.

Watt McBrayer: "I'm a man who always goes to the bottom of things."

Kay Gray: "I noticed that when you were near the punch bowl last night!"

While Kelly and Cohen were having dinner together, Cohen helped himself to the larger fish on the platter.

"Fine manners ye have, Cohen," said Kelley. "If I had reached out first, I'd have taken the smaller one."

"Well," replied Cohen, "you got it, didn't you?"

Clyde Williams: "I'm sure tired."

J. B. McKinley: "Why?"

Clyde W. "I slept on one of those three seasoned beds last night."

J. B. M. "Three seasoned?"

Clyde W. "Yes—no springs!"

* * * * *

Housewife (suspiciously): "I see you have placed all the best tomatoes on top."

Storekeeper: "Yes lady. That saves you the trouble of hunting through the box for 'em!"

* * * * *

His Lordship: "I wish you would quit driving from the back seat."

Her Ladyship: "I will when you quit cooking from the dining-room table!"

* * * * *

Miss Reid: "Maurice, what are your two favorite radio programs?"

Maurice C.: "Vitamin and Calorie."

Miss Reid: "Vitamin and Calorie?"

Maurice C.: "Sure Paul Vitamin and Cab Calorie!"

The teacher of a country school assigned the poem "Evangeline" to her pupils for outside reading, telling them to be prepared to give a short review of the story in class. The first boy she called on began a long-winded account, so she stopped him and called on another. His recitation was not satisfactory either, so she asked still another to give his. He said, "She met him, she loved him, she lost him, she found him, she kissed him, he died."
