ORANGE
BLACK
THE 1934
SENIOR HIGH
INDEPENDEN
KANSAS

Father Time---Time caused the mist to spin around the central fiery air till the mass, assuming the form of a huge world egg, flew, by reason of its rapid rotation, into halves. Of these, one was Heaven, the other Earth.

THE ORANGE AND BLACK

Published by the Senior Class of the Independence, Kansas High School

Helios, the sun god--- Helios is the physical phenomenon of light, the orb of the sun which, summer and winter, rises and sets in the sky. There is no destinction made by the Greek poets between Apollo and Helios.

THE FOREWORD

The elusive figure of time leaves a great impression on the minds of all. The days of this year at I. H. S. will be lost in the march of time unless they are recorded in some way. We have published this Orange and Black hoping it will preserve the memories of our school year 1933-1934 at Independence High School.

"NANA": For many, the sand doth trickle slowly through the hour-glass of time; and thus it is for all who remain in these halls, while the Mills of the Gods grind slowly on and on----

THE DEDICATION

To perpetuate the Memory of one whose efficient and cheerful life has endeared her in the hearts of our school family; and whose influence will mark the lives of all who have been privileged to know her--- We most sorrowfully chronicle her passing, and lovingly dedicate this volume to---Nana Margaret Sloan, born September 20, 1909; died, March 29, 1934.

Saturn---A Titan who yielded to Jupiter. On one hand his reign is said to have been the golden age of innocence and purity, and on the other he is described as a monster who devoured his children.

What Have You?

THE SCHOOL

The Board of Education

Oh, the Board of Education!
What a glorious name!
You'd think from implication
'Twas some kind of a game!

Like these checker boards and all
That are made for our amusement;
But here's where you shall fall—
'Tis education's agent!

Mayhap they're like the chessmen
Kept always on the jump
Providing for the children
Now here in one big lump.

But lo, the simile ends
For this most wonderful board
Is one indeed which lends
It's brain and brawn, not hoard.

It does all within it's power
To help you win your game
And blessings it does shower
On everyone the same.

Continue on this pleasing work
Let not your zeal abate;
Work hard, work hard, and never shirk—
No discard for your fate.

Our Superintendent

You are, 'tis very, very clear
The pride of all the high school here.
You are sedate and thoughtful, too,
And ever help so tried and true.

'Tis Clement this and Clement that—
Why shouldn't he get many a pat?
He's here, he's there, he's everywhere,
Of all the schools he's taking care.

We like to have a guiding hand
That does his business understand
And strives to do his utmost best
To do this well, also with zest.

J.H. CLEMENT, A.B., A.M., Superintendent

He deserves our praises thru and thru—
Could we do all that he must do?
We very seldom realize
What tasks within his realm lies.

An author even—what's his line
It's education all the time.
This shows how clever he must be
To do this takes mentality.

In all he ever undertakes
We wish his luck for all our sakes;
For truly does he merit luck
Since this good man has lots of pluck.

E. R. STEVENS, B. S., M. S., Principal

Our Principal

There's no man that's so efficient
In all the land throughout,
Nor one that's less impatient,
As we quite know, no doubt.

If he weren't capable,
He couldn't hold this job—
For his hands are very full
In ruling all this mob.

We like him well, indeed;
For he's a chummy sort
And just the kind to lead
In study and in sport.

You're puzzled on school subjects?
Then take them to this man.
There's no person he rejects;
He will help you all he can.

A jolly sort of hombre
With a grin that's very wide;
It's seldom that he's somber,
And for this we're gratified.

May long he be at school
And longer be remembered
As one who was no fool
But with fine points engendered.

The Senior Class History

"At the take off we wonder will we crash or reach our goal." Four years we were wondering this. Now that we have reached our goal, we are proud to display the talent of the senior class.

When freshmen, there was approximately two hundred of us. Now we number one hundred fifty-one—ninety girls and sixty-one boys. This is the largest graduating class since 1924.

When we were sophomores, we were active in athletics, scholarship, music, and dramatics. In our junior year we increased our activities to include tennis, golf, and debate. Several of the junior class were qualified for the Honor Society. Because of financial conditions, we did not have the Junior-Senior banquet, and, therefore there was no necessity for producing a junior play.

This year, our last, our class officers are John Stichman Jr., president; Bill Sloop, vice-president; Winifred McCoy, secretary; John Thompson, treasurer.

A large part of the football team was made up of Seniors this year. Although not a championship team, it was a very good one and offered some very thrilling games to us. We placed one man, Paul Rogers, on the Southeast Kansas team. He was choosen as honorary captain.

We placed two on the basketball team. They were Paul Rogers and Bill Sloop. This year a new sport, swimming, was introduced into our school's activities. We had one member, Roland Goll, on that team. He placed second in the back stroke in the state meeting held at Topeka.

The track team is largely composed of senior material. We had two members in our class who "gamboled on the green." They were outstanding in golf. These two members were Roderick Wakeland and Herbert Lodge. We have several members out for tennis.

In the field of forensics we were represented by a large number. The dramatic ability of our class is perhaps the most extensive of our activities. This talent was displayed by several plays and the senior play, "The Judsons Entertain."

After these four years we have reached our goal, and again we wonder will our future goal spell success or failure.

Class Colors---Blue and Silver.

Class Flower---Forget-me-not.

The Junior Class History

An outstanding student is one who ranks high in scholarship, and who participates in and is a leader in the various school activities. Likewise, a class may be judged by the scholarship, leadership, and the wholehearted participatin of its members in the school activities.

The junior class has been very outstanding in scholarship. Several juniors have been entered in the state scholarship contest by the school. There will be a large number of juniors eligible for the National Honor Society this spring.

Participation in school activities has been one of the outstanding traits of the junior class. Many of the junior boys are taking an active part in the school athletics. Several members of the football team, four of the five members of the basketball team, and the entire swimming team are juniors. There are junior boys on the track, golf, and tennis teams also. We are very proud of the number of junior boys who are members of the "I" club.

The debate class this year is composed of juniors for the most part. For instance, eight of the twelve debaters entered in the Parsons tournament are juniors. Although the debate teams have not been very successful this year, these junior debaters will return next fall with a year's experience, and we're expecting a better record from them.

This class has been well represented in the dramatics department.

Many members of the boys and girls glee clubs are juniors. Members of this class make up a large per cent of the orchestra and band also. There is one junior who has been particularly outstanding in the musical department.

A number of juniors are enrolled in the art classes. The talent of several of these young artists has been acclaimed through the winning of prizes.

Many members of the junior class have appeared on the chapel programs at various times during the year.

In looking over the membership lists of such school clubs as Girl Reserves, Hi-Y, G. A. A., International club, and others, we find the names of many juniors. They not only belong to these organizations, but are taking an active part in them. Examples of the leadership of this class can be found in the fact that all the G. A. A. officers, five of the eight members of the Hi-Y cabinet, and six of the twelve members of the G. R. cabinet are juniors.

The junior class is sponsoring a banquet this year. In spirt of existing conditions it is expected to be one of the most gala affairs that I. H. S. has experienced in years.

Thus we can see that this class has had a very successful year. Due credit should be given to the capable leadership, and hard work of the class officers and the sponsors of the class, Misses Beth Hall and Irene Murphy. With such a record as juniors, we have every reason to believe that the class of '35 will go down as one of the most outstanding classes of I .H. S.

The Sophomore Class History

Although the Sophomore class, having only 192 members, is one of the smallest in several years, it shows promise of being one of the most outstanding in both scholarship and athletics. The officers chosen by the class were Paul Neilson, president; Ansell Hugo, vice-president; Tavy Kandt, secretary; and Ted Baker, treasurer. One of the most important acts of the officers this year was choosing the class colors, motto, and flower. The colors chosen were red and white, the flower was the red rose, and the motto was "Be sure you are right, then go ahead".

In the winter sports three Sophomores won letters; Lloyd McKain and Myron Cadwell in football, and Robert Hockett in swimming. A number of Sophomores took part in basketball and a good turnout is expected for the spring sports.

In the scholastic field it is noteworthy, that, although the Sophomore year is generally conceeded to be the hardest in high school, nearly half the places on the honor roll were held by Sophomores. If this standard of scholarship is carried on through high school, the graduating class of '36 should be one of the foremost in the history of Independence High School. One member of the class, Virginia Spellman, won first place in Latin in the Emporia State Teachers' College Scholarship Contest in 1933.

This Sophomore class is the first to take an active part in dramatics work, and although this work was opened to Sophomores for the first time this year, two members of the class, Emma Lou Midcap and Seth Kellogg, played leading roles in the Dramatics Department's first long play of the year, "Seventeen".

This years record may seem impressive now, but the class is only getting started, and "you ain't seen nuthin' yet!"

The officers, aided by a committee, planned an All-Sophomore program, which was given in Assembly during the early part of May.

ACTIVITIES

The Dramatics Club

The Dee Dee club, the forerunner of the present dramatics club, was organized in 1922. It was composed of the members of Miss Ingleman's oral English classes. They chose as their first president Clair Midcap. It had been the custom of the school to give only one play a year, but after the formation of the club two were presented, the first being, "Bobby Takes a Look", the second "Clarence", a comedy by Booth Tarkington.

Twelve years have elapsed since the first small group was organized. Each year has made a history of its own.

The club has grown both in efficiency and membership. This year marks a new stepping stone, since this makes the first year sophomores have been admitted; also the first time a sophomore has taken a lead in a long play.

The dramatics club meetings are held every other week; programs consisting of readings, short plays and skits, are given at each. Miss Ingleman gives pointers on stage work.

This year the club has presented two long plays, which were very successful. The first, "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington, was presented on December 8; the second, "Thirteenth Chair" by Bayard Veiller, was given on February 9.

Besides the long plays many short plays have been presented. The most outstanding are: "Gas", which was a portrayal of how war will be carried on in 1940; "Breakfast", a play which showed the laughs from a family breakfast table, (this play was presented at the Teachers' meeting, which was held in Parsons); "Poetry and Plaster", which shows the woes of the wife of a would-be-poet, (this play received many words of praise and was presented in the Cherryvale Assembly program); and "I Knew George Washington".

These and many other short plays and readings were presented to the assemblies of both junior and senior high with great success.

We owe the progress of the club to the guidance of Miss Anna Ingleman.

The Science Club

The Science club of the high school was organized in the fall of 1933, with Miss Isa Ruth Plank, the chemistry and physics teacher as sponsor. The officers of the society were Neal Masters, president; Frances Wilkin, vice-president; Jane Ford, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Noal, program chairman. After the first semester the club voted to elect a new program chairman with an entirely new committee. James Tharp received the position and served the remainder of the year.

The Science club met once every two weeks, and the meetings were taken up by reports, films, and lectures by outside speakers. Notable among these speakers were Colonel J. P. Dunn, Paul Hammond, and Mr. Watson, the city chemist. The reports and lectures took in all phases of science as did the films which the club obtained. During February the Science club had a picnic at Table Mound, accompanied by the sponsor, Miss Plank. An enjoyable time was had by all.

A Science club of other years bequeathed to us a small sum which put us on our way to financial independence. We , likewise, are leaving a like sum for our successors.

The Science club has not been an annual organization, but is organized in the science classes from year to year if there are enough students interested to warrant having such a club.

After having started the Science club anew, this year, we trust that there will be enough interest, in the years to come, to make this organization a permanent part of the school's activities.

The Orange and Black

For many years the Orange and Black has been an important and eagerly awaited feature of the school year. The staff is glad that it has not been necessary to discontinue the annual this year because of financial conditions. We have endeavored to uphold the standard of quality established in former years. We hope and believe we have succeeded.

This 1933-1934 edition of the Orange and Black, published annually by the senior class, is the result this year not only of the efforts of the staff and sponsor, but of the cooperation of many other students and teachers whose work has been truly appreciated.

Mr. M. F. Reppert, printing instructor of the high school, was the sponsor of the book and mainly responsible for its publication. Mr. H. C. Brown of the journalism department helped greatly with the kodak sections and with the copy-reading. Miss Katharyn DeLury, junior high mathematics teacher was in charge of the junior high section. Miss Lota Old, art instructor, and Miss Jessie Stewart, typing teacher, also assisted.

The staff worked under the supervision of the above named committee. A committee of teachers chose the staff and it was then formally elected by the senior class. The staff this year was composed of seven members. This is much smaller than in previous years, making it necessary to divide the work up among fewer members. The editor-in-chief was Mary Louise Aubuchon, who worked with Mr. Reppert in the issuing of the annual and assigned and gathered up the stories and write-ups at the proper time. The associate-editor, Virginia Gilmore, typed the senior section and many of the stories for the printers. Both editors worked on the junior and senior sections of the annual and wrote several of the stories. The business manager, Frank

Holden, and the assistant business manager, John Robinson, worked together on the advertising and other business work of the book. The joke editor was Edwin Silger, whose duty it was to prepare the joke section. The kodak editor, Katherine Gray, had charge of all kodak sections. The printing manager, Joe Dreisbach, helped Mr. Reppert in the printing of the book.

The pictures of the members of the junior class this year were taken differently than before. They were taken by the kodak editor instead of at the studios, with the object in view of saving money for the students. This of course put additional work on the kodak editor.

The poems written about Mr. Stevens, Mr. Clement, and the Board of Education, by an outstanding member of the senior class are another new feature of the yearbook. This year "Time" was used as the theme of the book. This is quite different from any theme previously used.

Without the constant effort, careful planning, advice and supervision of Mr. Reppert, it probably would have been impossible to publish this Orange and Black. He not only drew up the plans for the book, but also supervised the printing and binding which was done by the printing department. It was he who helped the staff out of the difficulties with which it found itself confronted. The staff is under great obligations to him and is truly grateful to him.

We submit this 1933-1934 Orange and Black to you, the students of I.H.S. The book is far form perfect as you will see, but we have put forth all our efforts to make it a book of superior quality. We hope that you will enjoy the book, as we have endeavored to please all in every way possible. The staff and sponsors have tried to produce a yearbook a little different in theme and execution from former ones and have also worked to make this Orange and Black a true record and reminder of the happenings of this school year, both the usual and the unusual things. As such we hope it will succeed, for that is the real purpose of an annual.

High School Debate

While the debate season was not one of outstanding achievement, and in spite of the fact that no trophies were received, each participant has profited considerably through the actual knowledge gained in this activity. The teams were handicapped by lack of experience, since only one letterman returned from last year.

The debate subject this year was, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation." The question was difficult because in a great many instances it was a matter of personal opinion.

The first tournament Independence entered was the tri-state high school meet at the Pittsburg Teachers' college, held November 10 and 11. There were approximately twenty different towns from Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri entered. The group was eliminated in the preliminaries and returned home after the all-college party that night.

Southwestern college was host to the next tournament, held December 1 and 2. Fifty-seven schools from two states were represented. A novel system was used. On Friday each team was allowed to debate in four non-decision debates. The purpose of this was to give the teams practice. On Saturday each school was allowed to enter only two teams. The contestants were Frances Gowing and Ruth Helman; and Vera Keener and Edward Davis. Both teams survived the second round.

In the Coffeyville tournament, December 8 and 9, the I. H. S. debaters showed up well among the eighty teams participating. The teams were divided into five brackets and each contestant was given an opportunity to debate five times Friday. After eliminations, the two highest affirmative and negative teams in each bracket were entitled to debate

Saturday. The Independence teams surviving Friday's eliminations were Frank Holden and Lawrence Deever, negative; and Vera Keener and Edward Davis, affirmative. The negative team was eliminated in the seventh round, and the affirmative lost their debate in the quarter finals.

Perhaps the largest and most extensive tourney entered into was held at the College of Emporia, January 5 and 6. Thirty-three towns and ninety-four teams composed this tournament. All teams were compelled to win three out of four debates in order to enter the eliminations. Two teams composed of Ruth Helman and Vera Keener, and Helen Deane Gibson and Jessie Bradbury, entered but were defeated in the first round of eliminations Saturday morning.

The closing of the debate season was marked by the South Eastern Kansas meet held in Parsons, February 9 and 10. Each team debated one side of the question, according to the rules of the tournament. Independence failed to place, however.

Much is expected of next year's debaters since they have had much valuable experience and will be seasoned. Those returning are: Jessie Bradbury, Mayselle Clark, Edward Davis, Philip Davis, Lawrence Deever, Helen Deane Gibson, Ruth Helman, Donald Reed, Leland Shepard, and Tom Yoe. If the teams next year continue to improve as they have this year, they should go far.

Independence high school is very fortunate to have such a debate coach as Mr. Jacoby, who is recognized as one of the outstanding high school forensic coaches in this section. School authorities recognized the importance of debate and have made a place for it in the regular high school course and Mr. Jacoby has used this period advantageously. Thanks to the fine work of the coach, I. H. S. debaters are regarded as formidable foes in any tournament. One has only to consider the debate records of the past years to understand this predominate feeling.

The Independence Student

"The Independence Student" is the weekly newspaper of the two high schools and the junior college. First published in 1923, "The Student" has had an interesting history, which carried it through several stages of development, including: the establishment of a high school journalism class; the forming of a printing department, which makes the paper and the annual strictly school projects; and the addition of a reporting class to the junior college curriculum, so that adequate representation is given to each of the three schools which occupy Nees hall and the high school building. As a side issue a mimeographed junior high school paper, "The Junior High News", was published weekly during the first semester this year; but it was discontinued because of lack of time.

Each year the high school journalism class is represented at the annual conference of the Kansas Interscholastic Press Association, sponsored by the University of Kansas; and Independence invariably has the largest delegation present, with the exception of towns near Lawrence. This year the delegates included Mary Lou

The agricultural policy of "rotation of corps" was practiced this year in the selection of editors, with Paul Rogers as the first editor-in-chief. He was followed by Frances Holdren, Jo Walker, Margaret Trotter, Vera Keener, Virginia James, and Mary Lou Black, all of whom first served apprenticeship as associate editors. Sport editors during the year were Joe Seymour and Bud Walts. Staff members who retained their positions throughout the year were: Herbert Lodge and Jim McKinley, advertising managers; Martha Kimble and Jane Sanford, circulation managers; Barbara Decker, business manager; and Kay Gray, exchange editor.

In addition to publishing the weekly paper, the "Student" staff this year aided greatly in the reorganization of the high school's alumni association, which had been inactive for several years. An alumni column was conducted each week, in which appeared the rolls of all the graduating classes as far back as 1918. Beside the name of each graduate appeared his or her present address and occupation, as nearly as could be learned. A permanent, systematic record also was made of all the graduates since the founding of Independence high school in 1884.

Though "The Independence Student" entered no contests this year, it is recognized as one of the best school papers in the state. For whatever success it has achived the staff gives full credit to the following people:

Marlin F. Reppert, printing instructor, and his department, without the hearty and intelligent cooperation of which the high quality of the publication could not have been maintained.

The teachers of the high schools and college, from whom most of the news was secured or by whom its accuracy was assured.

The merchants of Independence, who, even before the economic recovery had been felt in this city, continued to use "The Student" as their advertising medium and thus gave it the necessary financial support to make it a self-supporting project.

The Girls' Glee Club

The Independence high school girls glee club has an enrollment of fifty this year. The club is divided into three sections: The first and second sopranos and the altos. These sections have nearly the same number of girls in each. The director is Miss Irene Reid, and the accompanist is Marjorie Smith.

The officers of the glee club this year are: president, Barbara Decker; secretary, Frances Holden; and treasurer-librarian, Bernice Cutler. The club meets every day fourth hour.

It is usual to have smaller singing groups form from the club, but this year only one has appeared on a program. This is the nonette. It has sung on several occassions, both in school and out of it; and it has been on exchange programs to other schools.

The class work of the club is singing in trios or in sextets. This brings to attentions the best talent of the class. The girls sing unaccompanied most of the time. Miss Reid chooses clever, light, and difficult compositions to train the girls in the club. The study of music is offered. The club is privileged to hear good music in victrola records of light and heavy operas; such great violinists as Mischa Elman and Fritz Kreisler; operas or songs sung by artists of fame as: Marion Talley, Schumann Heink, Enrice Caruso, Galli-Curci, and Tetrazzini; and many of the best modern orchestras and bands.

Shortly before Christmas, the glee club sang Christmas carols in the school assemblies. They also sang, under the supervision of Miss Reid, at the homes of several people, the Tuesday night before Christmas.

The girls of the club took a large part in the production, "An Old Spanish Custom".

The Boys' Glee Club

Under the skillful and efficient direction of Miss Irene Reid, the boys' glee club has improved wonderfully since the opening of school. This organization sang on the assembly program Armistice Day and in various choruses of the college operetta, "An Old Spanish Custom".

The club this year has only nineteen members, the smallest number since the club was organized, but it is composed of a well trained group of high school vocalists. Due to the small number and lack of parts, it was impossible for the club to compete in the music contests or choose a quartet this year.

Careful selection of vocies by the director has brought forth a colorful blend of tone quality. Their excellent training is due largely to the untiring and ever-willing efforts of Miss Reid.

Cooperation was the watchword during the whole year, and efficiency was attained. Many have been the times when the boys have been forced to control their wrath when a tenor or lowly bass cracked an old gag, revised.

The personnel according to parts is as follows: First tenors, Chester Burns, Paul Goodwin, Donald Hart, Homer McCalla, Robert Noel, and Kenneth Sears; second tenors, Herbert Lodge, Winfred Nash, Joe Seymour, Dean Scott, and Donald Warren; baritones, Marvin Baker, Allan Cannon, Brice Goodwin, Edwin Silger, and Robert Weber; basses, Thurman Hunt, Frank Sicks, and Claude Wingard.

Although many of the members of the various sections are graduating this year, Miss Reid announces that the prospects of an efficient and talented organization for the coming year are promising.

The National Honor Society

High school students all over the United States may be seen wearing a small gold pin, symbolic of membership in the honor organization for high schools. The purpose of the National Honor Society is to challenge students to greater efforts in scholarship, leadership, service, and character, the four highest standards that can be obtained during a student's high school career.

Scholarship is the first requirement, but one who is merely a student is apt to be what we commonly call a bone. According to the rules of selection, the member should be the ideal high school boy or girl, and so the founders of the society added the three other requirements.

The ability to lead others in school activities will later assert itself in greater fields of life and cannot be encouraged too much. Leadership may also be defined as dependability. One who can be depended upon to do a task after being asked once and who does not have to be reminded is truly a good leader.

Service to your classmates, your school, and your community also looms high in the world of success.

The last, but certainly not the least, requirement is character. A great character is the greatest achievement in any life. The possession of a good character is life's achievement. Having attained these four qualities, one is sure to have a well-rounded and worthwhile life.

The National Honor Society is an outgrowth of the Phi Beta Sigma, founded by Dr. Owen of Chicago normal college in 1900. The local chapter was organized eleven years ago under the supervision of Mr. W. L. Friley. Miss Arvilla Jarrett is the present sponsor.

The following officers were elected for the year '33-'34: president, Raymond Arrington; vice-president, Winifred McCoy; secretary, Virginia Gilmore; and treasurer, Virginia James.

The Senior Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserves is an organization for all high school girls. Its purpose is to help girls "find the best" in life, spiritually, mentally, and physically. The success of the club this year has been due largely to the able direction of the sponsors, Miss Gray and Miss Morrison.

Meetings were held every two weeks. Various topics of practical interest were discussed.

Miss Morrison and four girls attended the mid-winter conference held at Chanute. They profited greatly by the inspirational meetings and brought home many new ideas for the advancement of the club.

The organizatoin has served the community in many ways. At Thanksgiving a basket was prepared and sent to a needy family. At Christmas time a party was given for about forty of the underprivileged children, at which each received a gift. Gifts were also sent to the children of the Mexican settlements. A group of the girls sang Christmas carols at the annual program which the Mexicans give. With this social service project, friendships were formed with some of the Mexican girls. They made scrap books which were given to the children in the hospital. They prepared potted flowers that were taken to the shut-ins at Easter time. Besides this, they colored eggs which were sent to the needy children.

The Mother-Daughter banquet, given jointly with the Y. W. C. A., was one of the big events of the year.

Once each month cabinet meetings were held with individual members acting as hostesses. After each business session a social hour was enjoyed. Regular monthly committee meetings were sponsored by various women of the Y. W. C. A.

The Senior Hi-Y

The 1934 Senior Hi-Y had an appreciable increase in membership over proceeding years. The members have the avowed purpose, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character", imbeded in their hearts and strive to stand up to it. The Hi-Y tends to develop the four sides—the physical, mental, spiritual, and service—of the character.

The Hi-Y has many and varied activities during the year. Tournaments are held in the following sports and games: swimming, golf, old jack, checkers, ping-pong, and tennis. Metals are given for the winners. For social activities the club has a mixer in the gym, watermelon parties, wienner riasts, and hikes.

In order to stimulate interest in the sports, the club sold pencils with the football schedules of both high school and college printed on them. The club also had football score cards with the names of the high school and college players printed on them, which it distributed at all games.

As a service to the school, the Hi-Y maintains a book exchange and junior and senior high school books are resold to the students.

The officers of the club are: Raymond Arrington, president; Elmer Braden, vice-president; Jack Duckworth, secretary; Tom Baehl, treasurer; Junior Hatcher, program chairman; Tom Yoe, Bible Study chairman; Edward Davis, service chairman; and Fred Beal, publicity chairman.

Though the helpful service and guidance of R. L. Daggett, club sponsor, and the cooperation of the cabinet and personnel of the club, this year has been a very happy and successful one for the Hi-Y.

The International Club

The International Club of Independence High School was founded in February, 1931, through the efforts of Vice-Principal Maust. It is affiliated with other similar organizations in high schools and colleges throughout the world.

The purpose of the Club is twofold: to encourage interest in and understanding of national and international problems; and to promote friendship and understanding between the youth of the nations.

During the year several open forums were conducted by Mr. Maust at which the members discussed the problems, benefits, and broader understandings gained through membership in the organization. Many interesting points were brought forth in these discussions.

Throughout the year members of the organization have corresponded with students in other countries resulting in a better feeling and understanding between the students.

At several meetings the club was honored by guest-speakers from Independence who had lived or traveled abroad. At these meetings the customs, habits, and pecularities of the people of Japan, Cuba, Scotland, and Jugoslavia were explained and described.

To Mr. Maust, the sponsor, and Miss Brown, assistant-sponsor, belong the credit for the successful program this year.

Officers for the year were president, Frances Wilkin; vice-president, Neal Masters; secretary-treasurer, Rachel Featherngill.

The Daubers' Club

The Daubers' club was organized seven years ago and has since been one of the prominent school organizations. Its purpose is to bring about a better appreciation of art among students and to give to students who do not take art an opportunity to learn something of the subject. The club also makes it possible for a student who is taking art to work on projects which may not be included in his regular class work.

In previous years the members have usually made individual projects such as leather tooling, enamel placques, and batik work. Also talks have been given to the club by the members or by outside speakers. But this year the members voted to make a marionette show. "Cinderella", a play suitable for marionettes was selected and each member was given a character to make. It is hoped that all the marionettes will be finished soon. If there is time before school is out, the play will be presented by the club members. Miss Old, the sponsor of the Daubers' club, has helped much in showing the members how to make the marionettes.

It is doubtful whether the club will be able to sponsor an art exhibit this year as it has done formerly.

Officers for the year were elected at the first meeting of the club. They are: Frances Holdren, president; Mary Louise Aubuchon, vice-president; and Doris Doop, secretary-treasurer.

ATHLETICS

The "I" Club

This year marked the tenth anniversary of the "I" Club since it was organized under the supervision of D. H. Smith in 1924. The membership of this organization is limited to only those who receive letters in the six major sports in which the school competes. The sports are as follows: football, basketball, track, tennis, golf, and swimming. Swimming was added to the list as a major sport for the first time this year.

Meetings of this organization are held bi-weekly. Each week two members of the club are appointed to present the program for the following week, and by doing so many outstanding programs are presented during these meetings. This group of athletes have had the privilege of hearing many of the outstanding athletic speakers in this part of the state during the past few seasons. When a member fails to present his program when it is due, there is usually a severe punishment awaiting him.

The main feature of this organization every year is the initiation of new members, who have received their first letter. The initiations are held in the spring, after the track season, and all new lettermen of the entire school year are initiated at once. The enforced parades in outlandish costumes are the delight of every student except the ones being initiated. Later, trying ordeals, the applications of big, broad paddles by brawny arms, and a big feed top off the ceremony.

The other feature that is eagerly looked forward to by every member is the annual "I" Club picnic. This year the picnic was held at Dewlin's Grove, and about eighty were present.

For the past year the officers of the club were: Paul Rogers, president; and Ray Corn, secretary-treasurer. There are twenty-eight members of the "I" Club at the present time. This number will be increased considerably after the closing of the spring sports.

The Senior G. A. A.

The Senior Girls' Athletic Association was organized about eight years ago for the purpose of encouraging physical education and athletic activities for the high school girls. The local organization is a department of the Kansas State High School Athletic Association. Through this athletic association, the girl student may participate in athletic activities and earn letters and local and state awards.

The intramural system which we use allows awards to all girls who have the proper number of points given for (1) organized activities, such as volley ball, basketball, armory ball, and swimming; (2) unorganized activities, such as bicycling, coasting, golf, bowling, horseback riding, horseshoe pitching, skating (ice or roller), tennis, and walking; (3) achievement tests and health and hygiene. A total of seven points is given for one hour of organized activities, and three and one-half points for unorganized activities.

The first award is the school letter of felt or chenille given to girls who have earned the necessary six hundred points. Four hundred additional points are neessary for the second award, a chenille state letter. The third and final award, a pin, is a gold "K". Another 400, or a total of fourteen hundred points is essential to merit this final award.

The girls this year are taking advantage of the opportunities offered them by the G. A.A.and are working hard for their awards.

The officers this year are: president, Helen Deane Gibson; vice-president, Naida Sharpe; secretary, Frances James; treasurer, Sarah Walke. Due credit should be given to the work of the sponsor, Miss Elva Hughes.

Football Lettermen

PAUL ROGERS, halfback—Superlatives are not descriptive enough for our honorary captain. He was captain of the Mythical All-Southeast Kansas league team. Paul was the "sprintingest", "dashingest" player ever to don the moleskins of I.H.S. Teammates and the crowds never knew just what minute the speed demon was going to dash off a 35-, 55-, or 85-yard touchdown; but they knew it was always a possible threat. Luck to you, Paul, as you continue your successful athletic career just started.

LOYAL PATTIN, halfback — Transferred from the line to the backfield, Loyal earned the reputation of being a hard fighting halfback. His superior playing in the Turkey Day game against Coffeyville should always be remembered. He will be lost by graduation.

ED REYNOLDS, center—Playing his last year for I.H.S., Ed made an excellent center. His accuracy and skill in handling the ball was remarkable. The gap made by his departure will be hard to fill next year.

RAYMOND ARRINGTON, guard— Raymond was known as being one of the very few scholar-athletes. On the gridiron he played a savage game, tearing his opponents' line to pieces and breaking up their plays. As he is a senior, his place will be hard to fill next year.

CHARLES ARMSBURY, tackle —Although the largest man on the team, Charles handles himself well. He was a main factor in the line and outstanding on the defensive. He is ineligible for further competition.

MYRON CADWELL, guard — Hard fighting and fast, Myron played a fine game at guard. Many times he broke through and ruined the opponents' plays. He earned his second letter this year and has two more years of competition.

RAY CORN, end — Ray was a hard scrapper with lots of pep. He did the punting for the team and was a good defensive end. His shoes will be hard to fill next year, as he is a senior.

TOM BAEHL, fullback—A hard-driving, blocking fullback, strong on defense and a threat on the offense. Better known as the "Rambling Redhead", he has another year to play for I.H.S. and should play a bang-up game.

FRED BEAL, quarterback, Although the smallest man on the team, Freddie was sensational as a passer, punter, and a ball lugger. He should play a heads-up game for I.H.S next year.

ALFRED TODD, end—"Al" was the best defensive end on the squad. His ability to snag passes was outstanding when a passing attack was needed. He also played a noteworthy offensive game. Al is a senior.

FRANK SICKS, halfback — Frank was a speedy ball carrier and had lots of fight. His line plunges made him a constant threat throughout the season. He has another year of competition.

PAUL LONG, tackle— "Lottie" made his first letter in football this year. He was a good defensive tackle and broke through and blocked many kicks. He will be lost by graduation.

JOE SEYMOUR, quarterback— Joe was one of the smaller men on the team and proved himself a clever and cool field general. He played a hard, clean game. Joe will be lost by graduation.

LLOYD McKAIN, halfback — "Mutt" is a speedy ball carrier with lots of drive. This was his first letter, and he has two more years of play.

TOM YOE, end—"Poker Face" Tom always played his best for I.H.S and earned his first football letter this year. He has another season of competition and should play a strong game.

JUNIOR ARMSBURY, tackle— Another of the Armsbury dynasty who developed into a strong linesman. Junior was a hard fighter and tackler. This is his first letter, and he has one more year of competition.

JAMES GORDON, end — This was Jim's first year of football, and he played a hard, clean, heads-up game. He was outstanding on the defense and a good blocker. Jim has another year to play.

CHESTER BURNS, guard— "Chet" made his first letter in football this year and played a bang-up game. He pulled out of the line fast, and his interference for the backfield was fine. He is a senior.

CHARLES RAGLIN, guard — "Chuck" always went in and played his best and was known for his fighting spirit. This was his first letter in football, although he will be lost by graduation.

ELMER BRADEN, tackle— Elmer was a good offensive tackle, an excellent blocker, and had plenty of fight. This was his first letter, and he will be lost by graduation.

The Football Season

Facing the serious question of inexperience, Coach Deane Smith called the first football practice for September 1; and approximately 75 aspirants responded, including five lettermen. With the first game a few weeks off, the team was gradually being whipped into shape.

The opening game with Moline proved to be a very close affair. Although Independence was in scoring position several times, Moline's stiff defense prevented the Bulldogs from crossing the goal line. In the waning minutes of the game Roger's 25-yard pass to Corn was completed for the only score of the game. The final score was 6 to 0.

The first league encounter was with Pittsburg. Although the Bulldogs, led by Rogers, flashed a powerful offensive, they were defeated by a score of 9 to 0, due mainly to poor handling of the ball.

With Rogers clicking off a 33-yard run for a touchdown in the first few minutes of the game, the Bulldogs downed the Parsons Vikings on their home field 18 to 0. For the sixth time in three years Rogers was called back after making a sensational 40-yard return of a punt.

The defeat of Fort Scott here boosted the Bulldogs into second place in the league. The break came when Long recovered the Tigers' fumble and started the Bulldogs on a drive into the enemy's territory. The game ended with Independence on the big end of a 25 to 6 score.

On a water-soaked field at Chanute, the Yellowjackets defeated the Bulldogs 13 to 0. The use of an aerial attack failed for the Independence team. A crowd of several hundred turned out to see the Yellowjackets avenge last year's defeat.

Again the flying feet of Paul Rogers made history, when he scored two touchdowns against Fredonia. Rogers reversed the field on a play to dash 80 yards. The game ended 13 to 0.

Smarting under a 7 to 0 score with Sedan at the end of the first half, the Bulldogs came back the third quarter and tied the score on four plays. From then on the game was filled with sensational runs. The entire team played well.

In the Columbus game the lone Independence score came when Rogers raced 69 yards down the sidelines. We failed at the extra point and lost the game, 7 to 6.

In the Neodesha game the overconfident Bulldogs were almost defeated by the Blue Streaks, but narrowly won by a score of 12 to 7. This was a non-league game.

Before a crowd of 2500 the Coffeyville Golden Tornado staged an upset by defeating the Bulldogs 7 to 6. The game was one of the hardest battles ever fought in Producer park. Although the Coffeyville team was on the alert for Rogers, he succeeded in making a spectacular dash of 30 yards. Both teams played exceptionally well, but failing to convert the extra point again cost the Bulldogs.

At the end of the '33 season 20 men were awarded letters, and of this number 12 will be lost by graduation. Those returning for next year will be Baehl, Beal, Sicks, Yoe, Gordon, Cadwell, J. Armsbury, and McKain.

The Basketball Season

The basketball outlook was anything but bright at the beginning of the season; and although Independence did not fare so well in league play, they always put up a hard fight. With only one letterman back, Coach Smith developed a hard fighting team out of green material.

The Bulldogs started the season by defeating Caney 33 to 12, taking the lead in the first quarter and keeping it throughout the game.

The next game with Neodesha the Orange and Black showed marked improvement and emerged victorious by a score of 28 to 22.

The team suffered its first defeat at the hands of Pittsburg in the first league game 35 to 13. The Bulldogs were ahead at the half, but were held scoreless in the last half.

In the game with Parsons the Bulldogs met their second defeat of the season. The S.E.K. champions won the game by a score of 35 to 15.

Failing to overcome the first half lead, Independence lost to their old enemy, Coffeyville, 21 to 11. In their second game with Neodesha, the Bulldogs broke their losing streak and trounced their rival to win 42 to 24.

Keeping Independence on the defensive most of the game, the Chanute team won 40 to 21. The team was weakened without the services of Yoe or Beal.

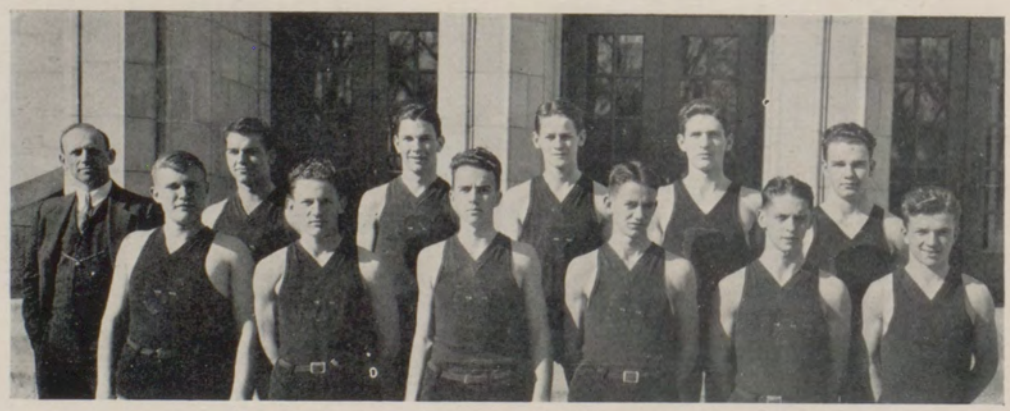

In the game with Columbus the Bulldogs lost by a point, 18 to 17. The team did well in making free throws.

Coffeyville defeated Independence in their last game by one point, 20 to 19.

Independence was eliminated by Pittsburg 38 to 20 in the second round after defeating Cherryvale 26 to 11 in the tournament held in Coffeyville.

Letters were awarded to the following six boys: Paul Rogers, Tom Yoe, Frank Sicks, Thomas Baehl, Emmett Condon, Fred Beal, and Bill Sloop. Rogers and Sloop are seniors and will be lost to the team next year.

Senior High Track

The completion of the 1933 track season ended the seventh consecutive year that Independence has remained undefeated in dual meets. Several of the most outstanding records of the school were broken during the spring meets by the tracksters.

The new records established were: the high jump record was raised to 5 feet 10⅛ inches by Phipps during the interclass meet; Reynolds shattered the javelin record by heaving it 176 feet 4 inches; the medlay relay, composed of Seymour, Bell, Knight, and Warren, lowered the record to 3:42.2; Warren lowered the 880-yard run record to 2:04.7; and the 880-yard relay, composed of Rogers, Cannady, Phipps, and Goodell, lowered that record to 1:34.3.

The interclass meet was won by the seniors, who totaled 66 points. The juniors were second with 35 points, and the sophomores third with 23 points.

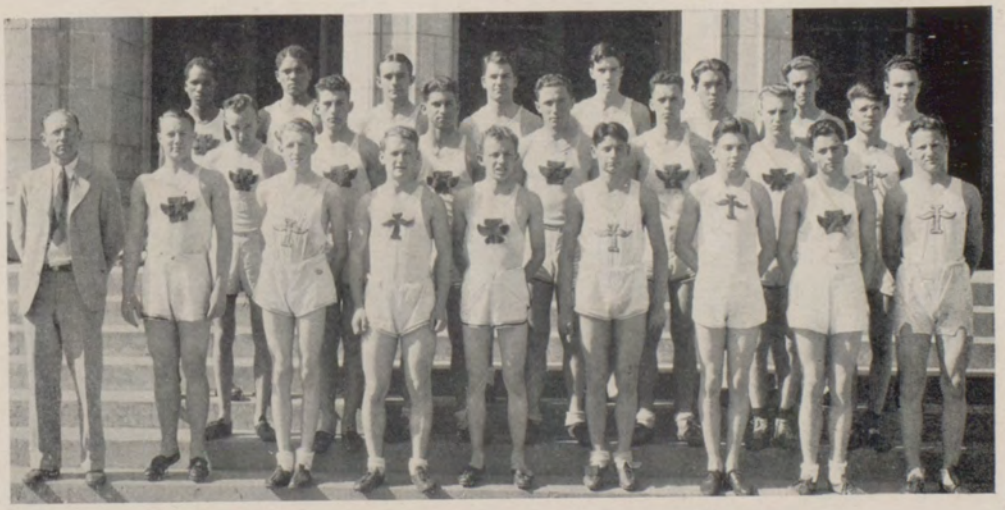

The first dual meet was held here with Altamont, and was defeated by the Bulldogs 98½ to 28½. The next meet was a quadrangler meet held at Neodesha with Independence, Cherryvale, Fredonia, and Neodesha competing. Independence was victorious with a total of 105½ to Fredonia, who was second with 25½ points.

Coach Smith entered five events in the K. U. Relays and won fifth place. On May 3, Independence journeyed to Chanute and again showed their superiority in dual meets by defeating them 96 to 36.

On May 6, the entire team was entered in the S.E.K. League meet held at Pittsburg, and the next week entered the regional at the same town, winning second place.

At the close of the season eighteen members of the track team were awarded letters.

The Golf Season

When golf was first introduced as a major sport in I. H. S., it was considered a sport in which only a few people could participate, and consequently it was extremely difficult to obtain sufficient material for a successful team. Since that time golf has probably gained more in popularity than any other sport. In Independence alone three new golf courses have been established and the number of those who play has increased several hundred.

During the past three years, the I. H. S. golfers have won the S. E. K. league individual and team championships twice. They also have established a record of being undefeated in dual matches for three years.

The annual spring tournament got under way quite early this year and nearly twenty golfers turned out for the tournament. This tournament is played the regular hole-play and those contestants that are successful in reaching the semi-finals and finals are chosen to represent the school in the golf meets.

Last year the finals turned out to be a family affair, Charles Armsbury won the school championship from Junior Armsbury, another of the Armsbury dynasty. This tournament is regularly held at the Independence country club, under the direction of Tom Manley, the professional of that club.

The bulldogs began their golf season in good order by turning back the Caney team here, April 12. The team met with some difficulties but managed to eak out a 7 to 5 victory.

The following meet proved equally successfll for the Bulldogs when the Chanute golfers were defeated 11 to 4 by the local team. This was the only match of the year in which the schools were represented by five golfers on each team.

The next match proved very disastrous to the I. H. S. team and brought to and end the splendid record of the local team of being undefeated for three years. The team that defeated the I. H. S. team was the team from Fredonia, who ran up the score of 10 1-2 to 1 1-2.

On Map 6, the S. E. K. league meet was held here for the first time. Parsons was crowned the new champion in both individual and team honors. Independence placed second to Parsons in both events, and lost out of the individual honors by only one stroke.

Letters were presented to the five members of the team at the season. Those who received the letters were: Charles Armsbury, Junior Armsbury, Frank Sicks, Bill Mitchell, and Vernal Miller. Of these, Charles Armsbury, Bill Mitchell, and Vernal Miller will be ineligible for further competition.

The Tennis Season

The players, who compete for I. H. S. in tennis meets, are defending one of the best records ever made by a school in any sport. The output of successful tennis teams by I. H. S. has been a byword among the tennis centers of this section of the state for seven years, I. H. S. has won the singles championship in three state tournaments, and six times in the league tournaments; also the teams have been the doubles champions in five league tournaments.

Last year proved no exception to this fine record. The tennis teams won every meet, which included the dual meets and the league tournament. The season started with the school tournament, which decided the members of the team. The winners of the doubles were Behrens and Simmons, while Blade won the singles.

The first meet of the season prover very successful for Independence, when they defeated Caney here, 3 to 0. For the next meet, the teams journeyed to Fredonia and defeated them, 3 to 0. I. H. S. was again victorious when Fredonia played return match here the following week. This was the only meet during the season in which the high school team lost a point, the score being, 2 to 1.

In the S. E. K. meet held here May 6, Independence carried away all the honors by winning both the singles and doubles championship. Blade won the singles by defeating Hanlon, also a member of the I. H. S. team; and the doubles was won again by Behrens and Simmons, who have established a record by winning this championship for the third consecutive year.

Those who were awarded letters at the close of the season were; Blade, Hanlon, Behrens, Goodell, and Simmons; all of who will be lost by graduation.

The Pep Club

The Pep Club had twenty-four members this year, including the two girl cheer leaders. Miss Elva Hughes, the sponsor, made possible the programs and the cooperation with other school activities by the club.

The officers were: president, Barbara Decker; vice-president, Mary Lou Black; secretary, Rebecca Chaney; treasurer, Josephine Walker.

Eighteen members of the club are seniors. The six remaining juniors each year elect new members. These members are initiated usually by a few stunts on the campus and in the assemblies. The final initiation comes with a picnic.

The club has a constitution by which it is conducted. Any girl whose grades are not passing is dropped from the club, and a new member is elected.

Special effort was taken to prepare for the Thanksgiving game with Coffeyville. The campus was decorated by miniature football teams. Posters and banners were on display. Between havles of the game, a spectacular drill was given by our club. Ballons filled with gas were released and sailed away high in the sky.

At the close of the football season the club gave a banquet for the football team. Later an entertainment was given for the track and basketball teams.

The Pep Club wishes to thank Mr. Stevens, the faculty, and their sponsor, Miss Hughes for their cooperation.

JUNIOR HIGH

The Junior Girl Reserves

The junior high division of the Girl reserve organization is divided into two groups—the Blue Star club and the Blue Triangle club. Both have completed a very successful year.

The Blue Star group, sponsored by Miss Wahl and Miss Tulloss, has about eighty members. The officers are: president, Jessie McBrayer; vice-president, Helen Emert; secretary, Virginia Sue Garrett; and treasurer, Helen Miller.

The club has had interesting meetings on "Nature Study" and "Scotland" and several enjoyable that all could help with the plays have been given. In order grams, the girls were divided into eight different groups, and at each meeting, one group helped with the entertainment.

The Blue Triangle group has a membership of about one hundred and is under the sponsorship of Miss Crocker and Miss McNiel. The following officers were elected: president, Adeline Walts; vice-president, Mary Ann Bowen; secretary, Bonnie Ballou; and treasurer, Kitty Marie Woodman. The group had several plays put on by the seventh grade girls during the year.

Both groups had picnics in the fall, and both groups also sent baskets to the poor at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held on April 3. "Painting the Picture" was the theme of the banquet program, with Mrs. Caroline Durkee as guest speaker.

The Junior Hi-Y

The junior Hi-Y, like the senior Hi-Y, is a Christian organization for the boys of the junior high school and this year has thirty-five members. The club was formed in 1926-27 under the leadership of Mr. Heckethorn, who has been the sponsor since that time. Much credit is due Mr. Heckethorn for the success of the club.

The greatest and highest achievement of the Hi-Y is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout our school and our community high standards of Christian character". For this reason the club was organized and members of this activity try to live up to their motto. For the boys who are enrolled in this Christian activity, life will contain more happiness and they will obtain finer ideas out of life than they otherwise would.

The officers of the junior Hi-Y are: Burks Sherwood, president; Stanley Porter, vice-president; George Jones, secretary; and Dick Webb, treasurer. Members of the cabinet are: James Blaney, programs; Jack Shultz, Bible study; Arthur Knott, world brotherhood; Dean Alford, service.

The junior Hi-Y sent several baskets of food to the poor at Thanksgiving time. This is an established custom, having been done every year since the organization of the club.

The club was well represented at the district conferences at Cherryvale and Fredonia this spring, and took an active part in the proceedings.

The junior Hi-Y is expecting to send a group to Camp Wood this year if possible.

Junior High Basketball

A new method of handling basketball was inaugurated in the junior high school for the 1934-1935 basketball season. Competition between schools was almost entirely abondoned, and intramural competition substituted. The idea back of this change was to give basketball training to all who cared for it ,rather than to a small handpicked few who possessed more ability than others. Although the value of competition between schools was recognized, it was believed that more players could be developed under the intramural plan, and that all would be given an equal chance to participate, regardless of ability. The success with which the intramural idea was carried out, together with the popularity of this type of competition, has practically assured its continuance in the junior high school.

At the beginning of the basketball season, two leagues were formed. The American league, consisting of ten teams, was composed entirely of seventh grade boys. The National league was made up of eighth and ninth grade boys, and included eight teams. During the season, a single round robin schedule was played in each league, and a tournament held at the end of the season. This gave each boy a chance to play in from ten to fifteen matched games, in addition to parctice games.

Each team had a distinctive name, and elected a captain for the season, teams possessed self-colored jerseys as another distinguishing feature. Rivalry became quite intense as the season progressed, although at all times a friendly spirit prevailed.

The following are the standings of the teams at the end of the season's regular league play.

Junior High Track

The 1933 track season found only four lettermen available for competition on the junior high squad as a majority of the Bullpup squad had graduated the year before. These lettermen, Crawford, Knight, Haberly, and McKain formed the nucleus for a track team which established more school records than any previous Bullpup squad had accounted for in one season.

In the first meet of the season, the interclass meet, the combined seventh and eighth grade forces proved to be too much for the ninth grade team, the final count being 122 to 109. This was the first time a ninth grade team had ever failed to win the annual interclass meet.

Fredonia Junior High next engaged the Bullpups in a track meet at Riverside Park, April 8, 1933. Led by John Crawford, the Bullpups were victorious by a count of 113 to 40. In this meet Crawford established school records in all the events in which he was entered, the 100 yard dash, shot and discus.

In a triangular meet with Humboldt and Chanute, the Bullpups were far below form in most of their performances, and placed second behind a nicely balanced Chanute team. In this meet, no outstanding marks were made because of a muddy track.

The league meet, the usual climax of the Bullpup season, was held in Independence, on May 6. In this final meet, the results were as follows: Chanute 53, Independence 49, Humboldt 42½, Parsons 25, Cherryvale 20½ and Fredonia 8.

As a result of their season's performance, the following boys were awarded track letters: Marvin Baker, Richard Boner, Lou Boys, Hughie Clay, John Crawford, Harold Goad, Doyle Haberly, Howard Harper, Bill Knight, Bill Knott, Willie Lyons, Lloyd McKain, Dick Overfield, Bernard Scott, J.L. Vanderford, DeFrancis Young, and Malcolm Wewerka.

The Junior G. A. A.

Two years ago, the Junior G. A. A. was organized under the sponsorship of Miss Elva Hughes. The local club is a part of the Kansas State High School Athletic Association. The intramural system is used. Organized activities used in this system are volley ball, basketball, swimming, and tumbling. The unorganized activities are bicycling, bowling, coasting, golf, horseback riding, horseshoe pitching, skating (ice or roller), tennis, and walking. The Junior G.A.A. belongs to Group I which awards five points an hour for organized activities, and two and one-half points an hour for unorganized activities.

Our organization meets every two weeks, at which time a program is presented. The program committee is composed of one member from each class.

Three awards are given. A felt shield with the letters G.A.A in brown and gold for the winning of four hundred points is the first award. The second award is the school letters in the school colors for the winning of an additional five hundred points. The last award is a gold pin of a sunflower design with the letters G.A.A. inscribed on it for the total of fifteen hundred points.

In order to obtain these emblems, one must have besides the points, passing grades in all subjects, sixteen weeks of health charts, a successful heart examination by a certified physician, and a good sportsmanship record.

The money the G.A.A has is obtained through candy sales held twice a month.

Our officers this year are: president, Helen Miller; vice-president,, Jessie McBrayer; secretary, Virginia Cain; and treasurer, Kittie Marie Woodman.

Sue Cevier: What does Page call his motor boat?

Virginia Garret: I can't say exactly, but I'm sure that what he called it when he was trying to start the engine wasn't the name printed on the bow.

* * * * *

Mr. Bowen: This is the third time you have been late to class. Don't you know you can't stay the flight of time?

Frank Nash: Oh, I don't know. I just stopped a couple of minutes down the street.

* * * * *

Luther Fowler (at the door): Is May in?

Maid (haughtily): May who?

Luther (peeved): Mayonnaise.

Maid (shutting the door): Mayonnaise is dressing.

Miss Burns: Say, I'm stuck. Do you know anything about a flivver?

Jim Blaney: Nothing but a couple of funny stories.

* * * * *

Mr. Colburn: Jack, I'm afraid I'll not se you in Heaven.

Jack: Why, what have you been doing now, Pop?

* * * * *

Harold Shoemaker: Hello, old boy, how do you feel?

Lynnell Hughes: I swallowed a dime. Can you see any change in me?

* * * * *

Ansel Hugo: Pa, why do you always insist on my singing when Mr. Green comes here?

Mr. Hugo: Well, I don't like to come right out and tell him to go.

* * * * *

"Are you really content to spend your life walking around the country begging?

Weary Willie: No lady, Many's the time I wished I had an auto.

* * * * *

Jack Drohen: Hello! I want to order a box for tomorrow.

What size?

Jack: There will be six of us in the party.

But they only come in single sizes. We'll have it made special.

Jack: Is this the Lyceum?

No, this is the undertakers.

WHAT HAVE YOU?

Mr. Maust (on "missing link" lesson): Which animal comes next to man? All right, John?

John Thompson: I guess the flea comes as close as any.

As Alfred Todd stood beside his mother, who was making some purchases, the grocer told him to help himself to a handful of nuts. But Al shook his head.

"Why, what's the matter?" asked the grocer. "Don't you like nuts?"

"Yes," replied Al.

"Well, go ahead and take some."

Al hesitated, whereupon the grocer put a generous handful in Al's pocket.

When they had left the shop his mother turned to her small son and asked, "Why did you not take the nuts when the kind man asked you?"

"'Cause his hand was bigger than mine." Al replied.

Policeman: How did you come to get that jar of honey?

Maxwell Bolton: Well, I admit I don't keep no bees; but what's to stop a fellow squeezin' it out of the flowers himself?

* * * * *

Lee Beebe: What makes these sardines so high?

Grocer: They're imported, mum.

Lee: I'll take the domestic ones, them as had the brains to swim across to this country.

Caroline DeMott: Why can't Bobby and Mary and I go with you?

Mother: Because father and I are going to a surprise party and you are not invited.

Caroline: Well, don't you think they'd be lots more surprised if you take all of us along?

* * * * *

Paul Long: Pa, what is a Board of Education?

Father: When I went to school, it was a pine shingle!

* * * * *

The class had been told to make sketches of what they most desired. Henrietta Wininger handed in a blank piece of paper.

"This is strange, Henrietta," said Miss Old. "Isn't there anything you want?"

"Yes," said Henrietta, "but I can't draw it. I want a holiday."

* * * * *

Walter Dittmer: Do you think old Morganfeller's money is tainted?

Charles Loggan: Yes, it has two taints to it—'tain't yours and 'tain't mine.

* * * * *

"Sweets to the sweet," said Junior Hatcher as he passed the candy to his fair neighbor.

"Oh thank you so much, and may I pass you the nuts?"

* * * * *

Ruth Jane O'Brien: Did you get some good drinks when you were in Europe:

Fred Beal: Gosh, no; I couldn't find a bootlegger anywhere.

* * * * *

John Thompson (holding up a button, twenty years from now): Would you do me a favor, lady?

Housewife: What it is?

John: Would you please sew a shirt on this button?

GOING TO COLLEGE?

If we all knew now what we will know in 1954 there would be NO reason or circumstance great enough to keep A SINGLE MEMBER of the CLASS of '34 from completing at least the 2 years offered by Independence Junior College.

Ask advice both from college graduates and those who did not go to COLLEGE and think it through. Your decision will be a source of either REGRET or SATISFACTION the rest of your life.

Mr. Maust (henpecked): Yes sir, judge, she's been throwing things at me ever since we were married.

Judge: But why have you not complained about this before?

Mr. Maust: Today's the first time she ever hit me, judge.

* * * * *

Junior Stevens: Mother, was daddy the first man who proposed to you?

Mrs. Stevens: Yes. Why?

Junior: I was just wondering if you couldn't have done better if you'd have shopped around some.

* * * * *

The minister was calling and was being entertained temporarily by small Freda Hurd.

"And what does your mother do for you when you've been a good girl?" the good man asked her.

"Oh, she lets me stay home from church," was the reply of the modern little miss.

* * * * *

"Can you imagine!" cried Roberta Snow. "That fellow I waited on just now said hogs were five dollars now. Did that mean five dollars each?"

"No," replied Anita Rottler, "that's five dollars a hundred, of course."

"Hm-m! No wonder farmers are kicking," sighed Roberta. "Imagine, only a nickel apiece for pigs!"

* * * * *

Medicine Man: Gentlemen, I've sold these pills for over 20 years and never heard a word of complaint. Now what does that prove?

Leland Shepard: That dead men tell no tales.

* * * * *

Mrs. Holden: Now son, I know thousands of little boys and girls who would be glad to eat their spinach.

Frank: Name three of them!

Miss Hall had instructed her class to write an essay on winter. One student's attempt read as follows:

"In winter it is very cold. Many old people die in winter, and many birds also go to a warmer climate."

* * * * *

Frances Fennimore: Is there no hope of being saved?

Captain: None whatever.

Frances: How far away is the nearest land?

Captain: Two miles.

Frances: In what direction?

Captain: Straight down.

* * * * *

Mr. Thibus: From this day on you get not another cent. You are dead to me.

Bob: Then you might give me $500 for a decent burial.

* * * * *

Mr. Burns: I don't care if that little shrimp has lots of money. You always said you wouldn't marry a man less than 6 feet tall.

Barbara: I know Dad, but I decided to take off 20 per cent for cash.

* * * * *

First Cootie: I heard you had a big party last night. Many there?

Second Ditto: No—just a little neighborhood affair. Only about 200,000 present.

* * * * *

Mistress: Have you been driving for good people?

Willard McNutt: Gee! You should see the obituaries some of 'em got in the papers.

* * * * *

Miss Lake (Calling at pupil's home): Your son has a great thirst for knowledge. Where did he get it?

Mrs. Long: He gets the knowledge from me and the thirst from his father.

One at a Time

Many ministers could, from personal experience, tell of strange names bestowed upon infants at their baptism, but few could equal the following story recently told by the Bishop of Sodor and Man. A mother, who was on the lookout for a good name for her child, saw on the door of a building the word "Nosmo." It attracted her, and she decided that she would adopt it. Some time later, passing the same building, she saw the name "King" on another door. She thought the two would sound well together, and so the boy was baptised "Nosmo King Smith." On her way home from the church where the baptism had taken place, she passed the building again. The two doors on which she had seen the names were now closed together, and what she read was not "Nosmo King," but "No Smoking."

* * * * *

Classified.

Recently a woman depositor entered a Boston bank to make a deposit. She had some bills and checks to deposit, so she procured a deposit slip which required the listing of bills, specie, and checks. She listed her bills and checks in their respective places, but was somewhat in doubt as to what to list under specie. After a few moments' thought she wrote after the word specie "Female" and turned in her deposit.

Tom Baehl: I wouldn't have any sense.

In a Bad Fix

A minister in a certain town in Arkansas took leave of his congregation in the following manner:

"Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodbye. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruits and wormy apples, and "by their fruits ye shall know them."

"Bretheren, I am going to a better place. I have been called to be chaplaiin of a penitentiary Where I go you cannot come but I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Gooby."

Probably He's Right

A commentator says that marriage is a great thing—no family should be without it.

* * * * *

A newly married couple were entertaining, and among the guests was one whose conduct was rather flippant. At supper he held up on his fork a piece of meat which had been served him, and in a vein of intended humor remarked, "Is this pig?"

"To which end of the fork do you refer?" asked a quiet looking man sitting at the other end of the table.

* * * * *

Still His Seeds

Bill Sloop: What are you burying in your back yard?

Joe Seymour: Just replanting some of my seeds— if it's business of yours.

Bill Sloop: It looks more like one of my hens than seeds.

Joe Seymour: Well the seeds are inside.

Dietary Experiment

Willie: "Ma, if the baby was to eat tadpoles, would it give him a big bass voice like a frog?"

Mother: "Good gracious, no! They'd kill him."

Willie: "Well, they didn't!"

* * * * *

Religious Handicap

Miss Hall: "Now, Robert, what is a niche in a church?"

Bob Burdette: "Why, it's just the same as any other itch anywhere else, only you can't scratch it as well."

A woman heard that her two sons were in the habit each at separate times and quite unknown to each other of taking one of the maids out.

Fearing to bring down on their heads the wrath of their father by making a fuss about it, she asked them if it were true, but could get no satisfactory answer to her inquiry.

It occurred to her that by a little strategy she might get the truth from the girl, so she said: "Now, Mary, I want you to answer me candidly. Which of my two sons do you like going out with best—George or Joseph?"

"Well, madam," replied the girl, reasured by her mistress' manner, "if ye must know, of the two I like George best: but for a downright good time, give me the master!"

* * * * *

Popular Alibi

Walter Dittmer: "So you really believe there's such a thing as luck?"

Stanley Miller: "Of course—otherwise how on earth could I explain the sucess of my enemies?"

* * * * *

Bad Girl

Observant Child: Mother, why hasn't papa any hair?

Mother: Because he thinks too much, darling.

Child: Why have you such a lot, mama?

Mother: Because....go to bed this instant!

Mrs. Smyth: "This 'ere fellow thinks 'e can sing like Caruso."

Mrs. Brown: "Well, they do say as 'ow Caruso 'ad a beautiful voice, but 'ow could they know, with 'im stranded on thet island with nobody but Friday to 'ear 'im?"

SCHOOLS

constitute the salient vehicle which makes life worth living. Youth should prepare through this facility for life's ventures, that they may know and appreciate the value of experiences as they come to them in the practical application of energy and talents they acquired through study. The art of living a clean and useful life should be every youth's ambition.

"I send you this pair of bloomers in hopes you will wear them as proof of your affection for me," read a note which a young man had sent to his girl along with a box. The girl almost fainted when she read the note, but opening the box she found two beautiful roses inside.

Mrs. Reppert (discontentedly): Marlin, do you think I'm going to wear this old squirrel coat all my life?

Mr. Reppert: Squirrels do, darling!

* * * * *

Waitress: I'm sorry but the coffee is exhausted.

Mr. Daggett: I'm not surprised. I've noticed it growing weaker and weaker for some time.

* * * * *

Mrs. Stevens: That Mrs. Jitters must be a terrible gossip.

Mr. Stevens: What makes you think so?

Mrs. Stevens: Why I never can tell her anything but what she's heard it before.

* * * * *

Tom Baehl: I seem to know you. Did I once lend you money?

Willard McNutt: Did you get it back?

Tom: Yes.

Willard: Then you don't know me.

* * * * *

Miss Hall (at ball game, as pitcher and catcher hold a conference): What are they talking about?

Miss Murphy: About what to throw to the next batter.

Miss Hall: But they aren't allowed to throw anything except the ball, are they?

Jane Sanford: Say, dad, how many kinds of milk are there?

Father: Well, there's evaporated milk, buttermilk, malted milk and —but why do you wish to know?

Jane: Oh, I'm drawing a picture of a cow and I want to know how many spigots to put on her.

* * * * *

Donald Warren: Yes, I know fish is brain food, but I don't care so much for fish. Hain't there some other brain food?

Jack O'Bryan: Well, there's noodle soup.

* * * * *

Mrs. Gray: Well, what did your father say when you told him you had wrecked the car?

Kay: Shall I leave out the swear words?

Mrs. Gray: Yes, certainly.

Kay: He didn't say a word.

* * * * *

Mr. Reppert: Let's get our wives together tonight and have a big time.

Mr. Stockebrand: O. K. with me. Where shall we leave them?

* * * * *

Donald Hart: How are you buying your books?

Nick Carter: Two dollars down and a dollar every time the collector sees me first.

Friend: How is your son getting along in his medical studies?

Mrs. Burns: Fine; he can already care for small children.

The Miserable Male

A lecture was recently given on "How the Worm Conducts Its Courtship." Any married woman could talk at length on a subject like that.

* * * * *

Oh, woman, when thy locks were long,
Fit subject for an epic song;
Now that thy tresses shingled be
Four lines are all too much for thee.

Impossible, Q. E. D.

It was the custom of the immortal Socrates to foregather with a circle of philosophers and geometricians about a convivial bowl, drawing inspiration from the vintage of Bacchus, nevertheless having a corking time. After the tenth round he would rise—for it is written that he always could rise—and address the symposium.

"I move," he would say, "that this circle go home and square itself."

And so seriously did the multitude take him that the squaring of the circle grew to be considered impossible, yea, even unto this day.

A Best Seller

He had been looking over the Christmas cards on the counter for some time, when the sales woman suggested: "Here's a lovely sentiment, 'To the only girl I ever loved."

"That's fine," he said, brightening, "I'll take five—no, six of those, please."

The professor was very absentminded. One evening while studying he had need for a book mark, and seeing nothing else handy, he used his wife's scissors that lay on the table. In a few minutes his wife wanted the scissors, but a diligent search failed to reveal them.

The next day the professor appeared before his class and opened his book. There lay the lost scissors. He picked them up and holding them above his head, shouted, "Here they are, dear."

A colored cook came home after midnight from a revival meeting shouting at the top of her voice. Her employer, letting her in, said: "Aunt Mandy, this is all foolishness. Religion shouldn't be so noisy. Tell that preacher of yours to give a sermon on the building of King Solomon's temple, which arose without even the sound of a hammer. And remember that real religion is quiet and peaceful."

"Lawd, honey!" answered Aunt Mandy. "Us ain't aimin' to build no temple yet. We is jes' blastin' now!"

An optimist is one who hops out of bed on a cold morning, saying: "Well, old bed, I'll be back to you in seventeen hours."

A pessimist is one who hops in bed saying,"Gee! up again in seven hours!"

Unbearable

The applicant for cook was untidy and insolent in appearance.

"Don't hire her," whispered Jones to his wife. "I don't like her looks."

"But," remonstrated his wife. "just consider the reputation for cooking she bears."

"That doesn't m a t t e r," said Jones testily. "We don't want any she b e a r s cooked. We don't like them."

Hardly Worth It.

Little Mary, who had fallen ill, begged for a kitten.

It was found that an operation was necessary for the child's cure, and that she must go to the hospital.

Her mother promised her that if she were very brave she should have the finest kitten to be found.

As Mary was recovering from the influence of the anesthetic, the nurse heard her muttering:

"It's a rotten way to get a kitten."

Full Hand Beats a Straight

Harmon writes a high-brow hand,
A hand aristocratic.
How plain is Harmon's signature!
How virile and emphatic!

Saunders writes a sorry scrawl,
A scrawl that looks terrific,
A kind of crude cuneiform
Or scrambled hieroglyphic.

Harmon's graceful characters
Have a soft and subtle shading,
Which he, a struggling shipping clerk,
Wastes on bills of lading.

Saunders' signature looks like
The laundry marks on collars—
But any bank will honor it
For twenty million dollars!

Help That Comes Too Late

What use of the rope if it be not flung
Till the swimmer's grasp to the rock has clung?
What help is a comrade's bugle-blast
When the peril of Alpine heights is past?
What need that the spurring pean roll
When the runner is safe beyond the goal?
What worth is eulogy's blandest breath
When whispered in ears that are hushed in death?
No, no! If you have a word of cheer,
Speak it while I am alive to hear.

Learning the Bishop's Preference

A young lady sat next to a distinguished bishop at a dinner, according to Harper's Weekly. She was rather awed by the bishop's presence. For some time she hesitated to speak to him. Finally, seeing some bananas passed, she turned to him and said:

"I beg your pardon, but are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop was slightly deaf, and leaning forward, replied:

"What did you say?"

"I said," replied the young lady, blushing, "are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop thought for a moment and then said:

"If you want my honest opinion, I have always preferred the old-fashioned nightshirt."
