OF THE
INDEPENDENCE
HIGH SCHOOL
IN THE STATE OF KANSAS

PREFACE

DEPARTING from the design of former years, the 1937 Orange and Black Staff hopes that in this book the Students and Alumni of the Independence high school will see a clearly portrayed picture of high school life at I. H. S. IT IS our desire that this volume be a true year book showing a cross section of the activities and personnel of our school. Although we have introduced modernism and originality of design, we have preserved the dignity befitting an Independence year book.

WE HAVE used our campus and buildings for our entire motif and have not adopted an artificial scheme, around which it would be necessary to create many pages of art and design.

THIS BOOK is to serve as a record of the serious and lighter moments of our school year . . . Let this book bring back these memories.

Martin Johnson

TO THE Alumni of I. H. S. . . . To those who have attained national prominence, we here extend our sincere congratulations for their outstanding achievements . . . . Those who have become cogs in the vast machinery of the nation, we even more heartily congratulate, for it is their kind that makes this mighty nation . . . . To all these we dedicate this Year Book.

CONTENTS

THE SCHOOL . . . . Reveals the Beauty of our Campus, The Administration, Faculty Seniors, and Undergraduates.

ORGANIZATIONS.... Creators of strong and lasting friendships and upright characters.

ATHLETICS.... Devoted to the Development of the True Independence High School Sportsmanship.

CONTRASTING DESIGN in architecture is shown on these facing pages . . . the memories linger on.

STARS and Stripes Forever . . . a daily reminder of our unequaled heritage in this, our native land.

J. H. CLEMENT, Superintendent of Schools
A. B. McPherson College
A. M. University of Kansas
A. M. Columbia University

Our superintendent, J. H. Clement, possesses the one trait which, above all others, is necessary for the existence of a leader in any business or industry. That is the ability to adopt oneself to the changes in the modes of living that time must necessarily bring about. Educational methods change with time just as surely as our ways of living, as our transportational facilities change. Well aware of this, Mr. Clement, in his years as our superintendent, has planned our school life in such a way that we are always abreast with the times, getting a practical education instead of out-of-date knowledge.

Mr. Clement has a great deal of interest in the students both individually and collectively. He spends a lot of his time at school and at the different atheletic and forensic events doing all he can to help the students win a name for themselves and for the school. He is held in high esteem by the students of the Independence schools, and is deserving of the highest praise.

E.R. STEVENS, Principal
B. S. Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia
M. S. University of Kansas

The man whom we, as students, usually try to find fault with, as the head of our school, is Prof. E. R. Stevens. However, when we come down to the real situation or when we need help, we always turn to this person who seemingly has a remedy for every one of our ills. Perhaps, at first, his remedies do not seem to our liking, but in the long run, we find this doctor has given us the correct prescription, and we readily forget any wrong impressions we might have had at the start.

It is not often that a school can boast of a principal who not only fills the duties of his office, but also takes a major part in the school activities of the state and nation. Mr. Stevens is president of the Kansas State High School Athletics Association as well as president of High School Athletic Associations.

He can be found an interesting spectator of every athletic event that it is possible for him to attend, an ardent booster of forensics, and a leader in civic programs.

The Board of Education

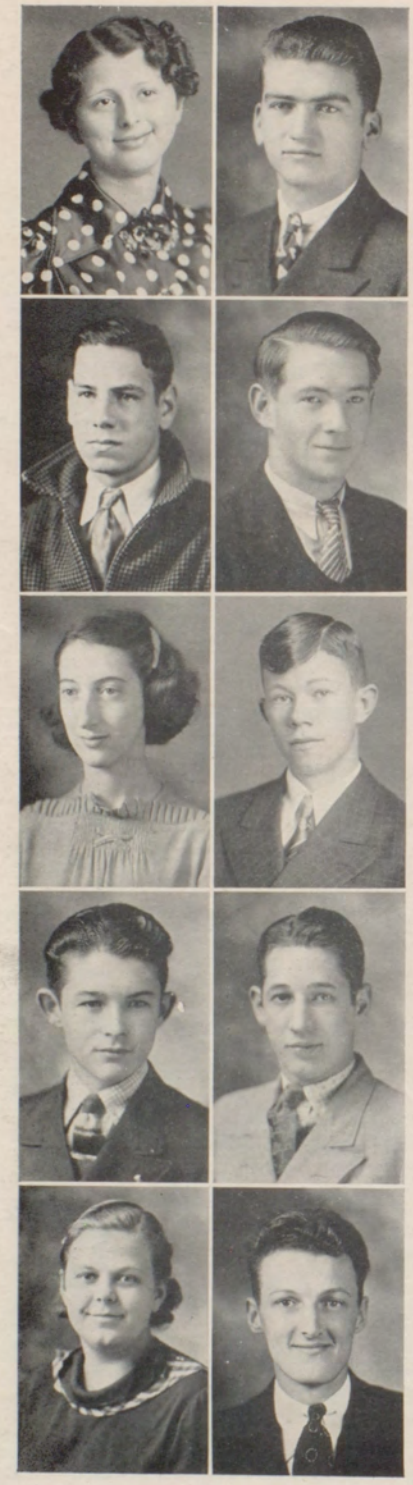

A most important part of our school system, yet one to which little attention is paid or credit given, is the school board. They are to the educational system of Independence the same thing that Congress is to the United States. Not strictly a judicial body, not entirely legislative in their efforts, yet adminstrative of what they deem necessary for our school life, they give freely of their time and efforts to retain Independence's reputation of having one of the best school systems in the state. The running of an educational system is a very important and expensive task. This operation takes a great deal of money and time, and much thought must be given as to how the income can be divided so as to do the most good and cover the most ground. This the school board has done very efficiently, making a reduced budget do the same work that a large allowance had formerly done.

Being only six in number, the school board has considerable overlapping in committees, one member being responsible for many different things. In spite of this, none of the duties of the board is slighted. There are four of these committees; buildings and ground, finance, teachers, and library. Each committee has an important job to do to keep a well rounded system and one that will give the students the greatest opportunities. In some instances, one member has an important job to do in several different committees.

The members of the board of education at the present time are: W. O. Gray, president; O. L. O'Brien, vice-president; Mrs. J. B. Blades, S. E. McDaniel, Edwin Potts, and C. E. Stewart. They are responsible for an efficient, smooth running, and economical organization that has been and still is a credit to the people of Independence.

The members of the board are elected for a term of four years, three being elected every two years. In addition to the regular members are two ex-officio members of the board of education, superintendent J.H. Clement and Florence Harper, secretary-clerk. This group of men and women is indeed a most important one in our community, one to which a great deal of credit is due.

To them we express our appreciation of an enjoyable twelve years of school life.

SENIOR OFFICERS

Left to right: Witt, Knott, Knight, Hillc.

Senior Class History

Starting four years ago as the greenest of freshmen, this year's seniors have gone through high school with a reputation of being a very unusual group of students. Having no mental prodigies and a minimum of the indifferent type of students, the graduating class of '37 has, through common interests and ideals, formed a well rounded class of students. These interests, while common to most seniors, cover a wide field. Scholastics, athletics, and the extra-curricular activities share equal places in the minds of the class members, each being well represented.

In the first of these fields, scholastics, the senior class is very unique. We claim no book worms and at times we have even been accused of being a bit indifferent toward studying. That in itself is erroneous. The seniors are a fun loving group of students, American boys and girls, who, while appreciative of knowledge from books, have a much higher regard for practical and useful knowledge that has only its foundations in books.

In atheltics, the seniors found another possibly stronger point. The football, basketball, track, swimming, golf, and tennis teams were composed largely of seniors. Athletics has come to be considered a most important part in any school organization; following along that line, this year's graduates have specialized in the field of physical training and have made a name for themselves as a group of good athletes.

Rounding out their high school course, the seniors have taken advantage of their opportunities to take part in the extra-curricular activities. This phase of the school life is considered very important in a well rounded education, and has been treated as such by the graduating class of '37.

All in all, the seniors are well prepared for the life that is to follow their graduation, whether it is in the business world or in some school of higher learning.

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Left to right: Serfass, Swanson, Stevens, Wise.

Junior Class History

When we look back over the two years that separate us from our freshman days, the time seems short. It might have been but yesterday that we gazed with reverence on the bared heads of seniors, and we are still awed as we stand at the portals of our last year.

The junior class has been credited as being one of the school's outstanding classes ever since it entered old I. H. S. The members have participated in three fields—scholarship, athletics, and the extra-curricular activities.

Though studious, the juniors cannot rightfully be called prodigies, for we have given to I.H.S. some of her best records in athletics. We boast of having seven lettermen in football, two of whom wore letters last year. The swimming and basketball teams consist of a number of juniors, who have shown up well this year and promise to do even better next year. Likewise, in scholarship and other cultural activities we have contributed in a worthy measure.

Yet there is greater work to be done. As this eventful year approaches its close, we see other duties and feel other responsibilities. It is with a hope that we may carry with us in all of these, that spirit which has helped us thus far and which continues to grow in its great power of molding men, that we close now the history of our junior year.

We are determined, in our senior year, to continue to raise even higher the standards of I. H. S., and make the class of '38 be remembered in years to come as a truly great class.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS

Left to right: Cavert, Clement, Robley, Smith.

Sophomore Class History

With a record showing dependability, cooperation, participation in athletics, and other school activities, as well as outstanding scholarship, the class of '39 has passed its first milestone in I. H. S.

The two hundred and thirty-five sophomores have given much of their time and ability to the organizations of our school. The class is well represented in the orchestra, band, and drum corps.

In the realm of athletics, also, the class has been outstanding. Not only were there lettermen in the major sports of football, basketball, and track, but also in the less widely known sports of swimming, tennis, and golf. The tumbling team, composed largely of sophomores, has given many performances of distinction.

At the beginning of the school year the class honored four students by electing them class officers. These officers were: president, Bill Cavert; vice president, Florence Clement; secretary, Loma Jane Robley; and treasurer, Marian Smith.

The sophomores pride themselves on their school spirit. They may always be found in the cheering sections giving whole hearted support to their teams. In this the "go-getting" sophomores have more than lived up to their name.

In the remaining two years, we, the class of '39, are determined to advance the already high standards of I. H. S.

ORGANIZATIONS

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Back Row: Sherwood, Hunter, Silger, Overfield, Clayton, Wininger, Nash, Drohen, Howard, Lohner, Heatherington, McKain.
Front Row: Knott, Lewis, French, Gorrell, Witt, Welch, Lawler, Faulk, Atkisson, Danforth.

Boys' Glee Club

Having only twenty-one members, a much smaller class than is usual, the boys' glee club has been able to do a greater variety of work and to realize individual talent more fully than in former years. Of the twenty-one boys, approximately half of them are old members who form the foundation for a well balanced chorus. Under the direction of Miss Reid, the boys have come to appreciate music of all types and have learned how to sing properly.

The boys' glee club has made two appearances in assemblies this year, one of which was impromptu and turned out to be more like a class period than an assembly performance. The programs consisted of popular songs and in several instances there were solo parts for different boys in the chorus. Because the class is relatively small, a great deal of solo work has been done with good results.

The operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad," was of course the principal event of the year for the glee clubs. The male leads were sung by college men, but a large number of the minor roles were played by boys from the high school glee club. The male choruses and the boys' dances were composed principally of boys from the glee club.

Reviews of operas in class gave the members of the glee club a greater knowledge of the famous opera composers and their works. Each boy had charge of one opera which he reviewed in class in the manner he saw fit. This and a study of the fundamentals of scales, chords, and signatures served to give a variety to the class work.

For the first time in several years the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah" was not sung by the glee club. Other outside activities made the time too limited for the boys to practice on that immortal chorus.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Top Row: Cowles, Harbert, Henaman, White, Boulanger, Bullock, Wass, Hanna.
Second Row: Stevens, Smith, Dominy, Ebright, Clement, Cheney, Buffenbarger, Howard, Baker.
Third Row: Rauch, Taylor, Raines, Stafford, Miller, Swanson, Emert, LaDuke, Conner.
Bottom Row: Miller, Cherrie, Garr, Bowen, Knott, Dunn, Scranton, Schaub, Clark.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee club of 1937 had an enrollment of forty members. The girls have cooperated with the instructor and each other, and under the direction of Miss Reid have attained efficiency in their musical work. This year the club appeared several times on various programs and several small groups were selected to sing for different organizations. The girls' trio won much favor everywhere they made an appearance.

The outstanding event of the year was the operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad", which was presented April 16 at the Memorial Hall. The girls from the glee club who had major roles were Shirley Rauch, Eleanor Swanson, Jane Cowles, Florence Clement, and Marie Hanna. The other girls in the club sang in the choruses and several of them were in the dances. The show was fun for those who were in it as well as a pleasure for those who saw it.

To increase their cultural knowledge and also vary the time in class, the girls reviewed the authors, nationalities, and stories of the well known operas. Because of these opera reviews, many of the well known characters are familiar to the girls and they are able to recognize the famous musical numbers.

The seniors of the club made their final appearance with the seniors of the boys' glee club in the commencement exercises at the Memorial Hall. The senior chorus is one thing all seniors are eager to participate in. It is not confined to just the seniors in the glee clubs; all seniors who have had any glee club work are eligible.

The officers of the Girls' Glee club this year were Jean Marie Knott, president; Jane Cowles, secretary; and Fern Cherrie, librarian.

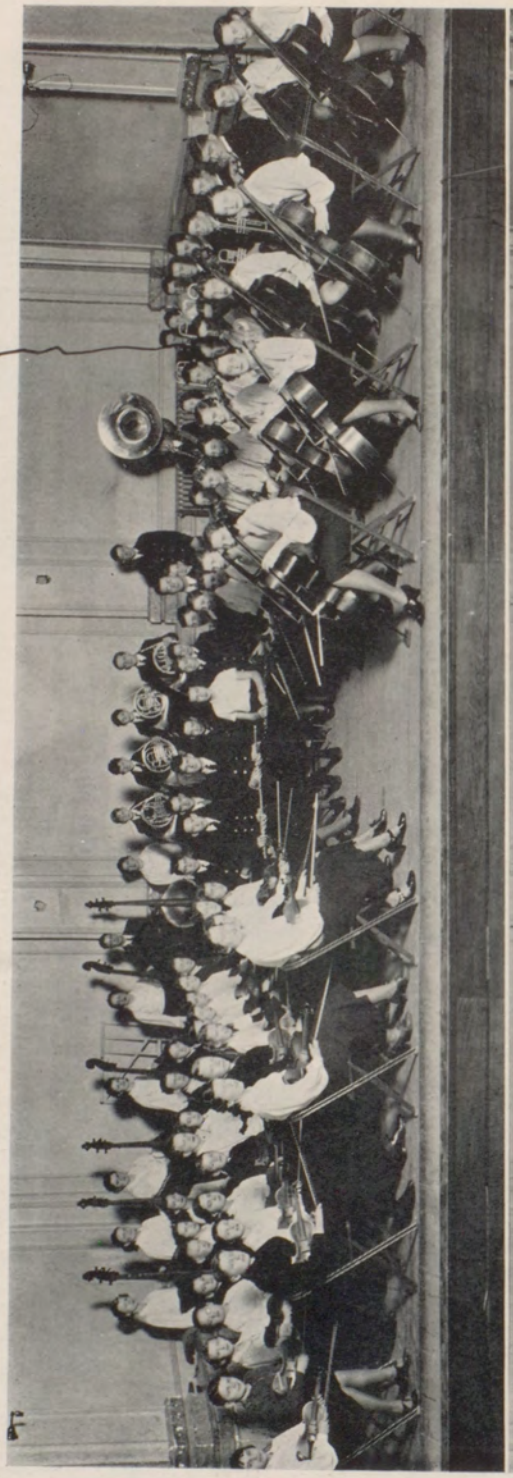

"The Belle of Bagdad"

This year's all school operetta, "The Belle of Bagdad", was presented as usual under the direction of Miss Reid. The plot of the show, written by Geoffrey Morgan and Frederick Johnson, evolved around an unknown belle in Bagdad who was seen in a newsreel picture and was known only by an amulet, worn around her neck. The Super Film Company sent Dick Taylor, Fred Beal (I. J. C.), with his two mechanics Bill, Leland Shepard (I. J. C.), and Bob, Don Reed (I. J. C.), in an airplane to Bagdad where they eventually find Jewel, a beautiful girl, played by Shirley Rauch, who was the daughter of the Caliph of Bagdad, Carman Witt (I. J. C.). Ali Ben Mustapha, the prefect of police, John Gaughan (I. J. C.), Archie Fitzgibbons, Dick Arey (I. J. C.), and Henrietta Whipstitch, Maxine Lawson (I. J. C.), supplied most of the comedy. The other leads were played by Emma Lou Midcap (I. J. C.), Florence Clement, Marie Hanna, Eleanor Swanson, Margaret Helman, and Jane Cowles.

Jean Marie Knott had charge of all the dances, which included three girls' tap dances, a mixed waltz clog, a girls' oriental waltz, and a hilarious boys' eccentric ballet, in addition to her own solo dances, a tap and an oriental dance. Twelve boys from the glee club also put on a sailor drill.

The boys' and girls' glee club supplied most of the singers for the choruses, aided by some singers from the college. This year's operetta is claimed by many to be the best ever given by the Independence schools.

DRAMATICS OFFICERS

Left to right: Kellogg, White, Kandt, Cowles.

Dramatics Club

Scene—Room 401
Time—10:10 on Thursday, most any week
Characters—Miss Anna Ingleman, official quieter-downer, and Faithful dramatists.

Miss Anna: "Well, where's the president? Mr. Kellogg is never here on time. Vice-president, take charge!"

Harold White: "Meeting will now come to order. The secretary, Tavy Kandt, will now give the roll call."

Tavy Kandt: "Well, you see, Miss Anna-----".

Miss Anna: "Just as I expected, left your notebook at home. Can't trust a soul—proceed with the meeting."

Harold: "Treasurer's report."

Jane Cowles: "After the last check was written, we were exactly $101.73 in the red—oh, but of course , we haven't gotten the activity fund yet."

Harold: "Now for the program-----."

Anna: "Well, who has charge of the program? Who has a reading? Well, get up there and give it; what are you waiting for?"

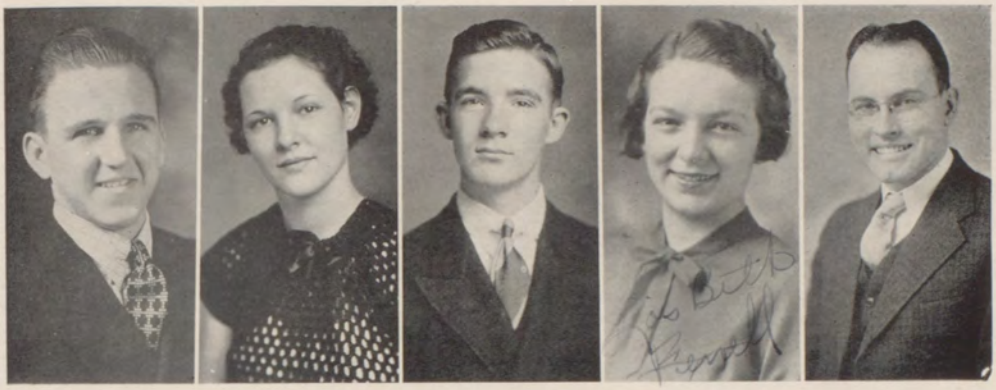

The program, what there is, moves on.

Miss Anna: "I just have a word to say in regard to the cast of the long play. If you don't start getting here on time, I'm going to give you all zeros. Say, back there, if you think what you are doing is more important, then get out, or give a talk on the four C's."

White: "Meeting adjourned."

These club meetings were the basis of all the business and management for the plays given this year. The long ones were, "The Meal Ticket", "The Night of January 16", "Phantom Bells", and the senior play. With "Jazz and Minuet" we took second place at Chanute, and received first at Winfield with "The Purple Rim."

DEBATE TEAM

Left to right: Titsworth, Wise, Porter, Ferrell, Strawn, Coach.

Debate History

Beginning the year as the only two debaters in I. H. S., Porter and Titsworth won a third at Pittsburg in a field of sixty teams, and a second at Coffeyville in an equally as large tournament when they were defeated in the finals by Classen High School of Oklahoma City. This debate was broadcast over KGGF.

Otis Hunter, Lawrence Hammann, Irma Wise, and Lois Beth Ferrell now joined the squad. At Wellington, the enlarged squad made a good showing and took fifth.

Only Wise, Ferrell, Porter, and Titsworth made the trip to Emporia where the three man team composed of Ferrell, Titsworth, and Porter took fifth in a field of 80 teams.

With two new members, Lynell Hughes and Junior Stevens, the four regulars went to Springfield, Missouri, for one of the largest and best-rated tournaments of the year. Porter and Titsworth advanced till they and two teams from Oklahoma City were left.

The district tournament at Parsons included Coffeyville and Chanute, the strongest teams in the state. The four regulars of I. H. S. defeated Coffeyville to go to the finals where they were defeated by Chanute.

As they won this second in the district, they were invited to the state tournament at Lawrence. Here against the sixteen best teams in the state the four debaters again went to the finals, but in a triangular debate the boys were defeated by Chanute and the girls by Newton.

As a fitting close to a successful season, Porter and Titsworth went alone to Peru, Nebraska, where they won first in the consolations against forty teams in Nebraska.

Stanley Porter having won sixty-six out of a possible seventy-nine first ratings, was considered as one of the most able debaters of all the tournaments this year and is to take his place as one of the best debaters I.H.S. has produced.

The entire success of the season can be contributed to Mr. Robertson Strawn, the junior college debate coach. Mr. Strawn has given freely of his time and expert coaching to these debaters.

STUDENT STAFF

Top Row: Buffenbarger, Bullock, Cowles, Drohen, Elder, Emery, Fellis, Garr.
Center Row: Goll, Grant, Hammann, Hanna, Hardwick, Hunter.
Bottom Row: Kellogg, Knott, Krone, Love, Reed, Sircoulomb, Titsworth, Witt.

"The Independence Student"

The medium through which the people of Independence get the news of the activities of Independence high school is "The Student". This weekly publication is written and edited by members of the journalism class, and printed by Mr. Reppert and his printing classes, it follows then that the journalism class, in writing for "The Student" has an important and responsible job.

"The Student" as in former years has a wide variety of columns and stories. The high school gossip column, the "Spectator," has been in full swing this year and has done a great deal to pep up the paper. "Mike Chatter" has probably been more informational and interesting than any other such column in recent years. Beside these regular columns several others have been run a week or two at a time as the situation demanded.

In order to give each student experience in different phases of newspaper work the staff for "The Student" was changed every three or four weeks. In this way a student might be an editor, reporter, business manager, sports editor, and ad solicitor all in the same year.

One of the new features and one which has attracted a great deal of attention is the ready-mat service. By using one of these ready-mats, a student can make a cut of any picture he needs merely by tracing the picture on the mat and then making the lead mould from it. This has created a larger variety of ads than was formerly possible.

Mr. Brown took five of the journalists to the Kansas Interscholastic Press Association at K. U. last fall. The conference proved very interesting to the Independence delegation, which was smaller than usual. Those who made the trip were: Jean Marie Knott, Jane Cowles, Middo Garr, Jack Drohen, and Ben Love.

ANNUAL STAFF

Top Row: Witt, Knott, Fellis, Blackford, Kellogg.
Bottom Row: Titsworth, Goll, Garr, Heatherington, Reppert (Sponsor).

Annual Staff

The 1937 Orange and Black for the first time in many years, did not have a central theme which would have to be followed without the slightest variation. Instead, the staff decided that an original book with all the things the students like, minus the uniformity that sometimes grows boresome, would be the best all-around theme that a summary of the year's activities could have.

Likewise, they make no teacher the target of the dedication, instead, they dedicated your book of 1937 to the Alumni, using as a symbol, the late Martin Johnson.

The staff this year was composed of such notables and hard-workers as Keith Witt, editor; Jean Marie Knott, associate editor; Joe Blackford, advertising manager; Junior Heatherington, joke editor; Middo Garr and Katherine Fellis, kodak editors; and Kenneth Goll, Joe Titsworth, and Seth Kellogg, assistants. Mr. Reppert again was the sponsor. He must be thanked for his time, careful preparation, and the printing of the yearbook.

The two-period trade class in printing was very helpful in carrying out the almost endless work of printing such a volume. We merely call your attention to the fact it has been necessary to print 1,018,000 page impressions to present you this finished book.

One of the most notable features of this year's book is the section of entirely new pictures of the teaching staff of I. H. S. Another is the new type cover. And still another is the departure from the colors of orange and black, to a new color scheme, red, blue, and silver.

The staff sincerely hopes that the students will like this unique book without the customary theme, with its new type of dedication, the host of new pictures of teachers and students, and the kodaks and jokes. Although it may not have the requisites of a national prize-winner, we hope and believe that it does have the requisites that will make you proud of your Orange and Black for 1937.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES

Bottom Row: Meuschke, Woodman, Bullock, LaDuke, Walts, Wright.

Girl Reserves

The Girl Reserve is an organization of the Y. W. C. A. for "teen-age" girls. Its purpose is to "Find and Give the Best." Its symbol is a blue triangle, representing body, mind, and spirit. The club tries to develop this three-fold life through their regular programs and committee work.

The club has a membership of 140 this year, each girl being on one of the committees. Each committee meets once each month to plan the work of their committees. At the close of the meeting they have a covered dish dinner, giving an opportunity for the girls to form new friendships.

The publicity committee tries to stress the Girl Reserve ideals by their posters and newspaper articles. This committee, led by Bonel La Duke, has been a most active one this year.

The service committee has pieced a quilt for a poor family, has given four baskets of colored Easter eggs to small underprivileged children, Christmas gifts to the Mexican children at the cement plant, Santa Fe settlement, and brick plant. In cooperation with the social committee, lead by Kittie Marie Woodman, they sponsored a Christmas party for about thirty-five little boys and girls. The social committee has entertained the club members with a Hallowe'en fete and shamrock-sister week which ended with a party.

The conference committee made arrangements to send eight girls to the summer conference at Camp Wood. This year's committee was led by Viola Lang.

The finance committee made all these activities possible by having rummage sales, candy sales, a cookie sale, a box supper, which was held jointly with the Hi-Y, a pencil sale, and many other money-making schemes. The good work done by this committee was directed by its chairman, Eleanor Swanson.

The officers of the past year have been president, Mary Katherine Serfass; vice-president, Gladys Emery; secretary, Rosemary Williamson; treasurer, Adeline Walts.

SENIOR HI-Y

Top Row: Dreisback, Wininger, Shoemaker, Mason, Wininger, Overfield, Wyatt, Connor, Cole.
Second Row: Daggett (Sponsor), Colburn, McKain, Caskey, McGee, Orr, Hughes, Wilkins, Braden.
Third Row: McHenry, Weaver, Goad, Cavert, Boys, Bath, Elliot, Glynn, Buckles.
Bottom Row: Buffenbarger, Condon, Weidlein, Webb, Dominy, Titsworth, Hall, Sharpe.

Senior Hi-Y

The purpose of the Hi-Y club is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

The Hi-Y started the year with a very successful book exchange. This project was also carried on at the mid-semester. At the beginning of the football season the organization sold some scheduled pencils. Pencils for the basketball season were also sold. These sales helped the club and also helped to boost the teams. Hi-Y members were always to be seen at the high school games helping at the concessions.

In cooperation with the Senior Girl Reserves an old-fashioned box supper was sponsored in the auditorium for the entire school. The Hi-Y profits are to buy a new electric score-board for the gym.

December 11, 12, and 13, four members attended the state Hi-Y conference at Chanute. The district conference at Howard was also attended.

Many good times were had on "weiner roasts" and at the annual mixer. A line party at which the boys could take their girl friends was also enjoyed very much. At Christmas time the club gave two Christmas baskets.

Officers for this year are Kenneth Dominy, president; Joe Hall, vice-president; Dick Webb, secretary; Joe Titsworth, treasurer; Gerald Wininger, program; Charles Weidlein, service; Beryl Wyatt, Bible study; Harold Sharpe, publicity.

It is hoped that there will be a good delegation from Independence at Camp Wood this summer.

Mr. Daggett deserves much credit for his untiring efforts in carrying on the Hi-Y program thoughout the year.

SENIOR G. A. A.

Back row: Boulanger, Miss Hughes. Front row: Cherrie, Lane.

Senior G. A. A.

In 1926 the Senior Girls' Athletic Association was organized in the Independence high school. The purpose of this organization is to encourage physical education for senior high girls. Both out and indoor sports are afforded.

Every Monday after school the girls play volley ball, basketball, or armory ball, and every Wednesday after school they swim.

A standard is used to keep the record of points. Members also get credit for unorganized activities, such as bicycling, golf, horseback riding, horseshoe pitching, skating, swimming, tennis, or hiking. Organized activities are volley ball, basketball, and armory ball. The girls also have achievement tests and health hygiene.

For every hour of organized activity a member receives seven points. For every hour of an unorganized activity she receives three and one-half points. To earn these points a girl must spend eight weeks in some sport. The first award given to each girl is acquired by 600 points. It is a school letter. The second award, a state letter, is awarded to each girl who has earned 500 additional points to her first 600. The final award is a gold pin with the letter "K". For this honor it is necessary to have a total of 1400 points.

The officers this year are Pauline Lane, president; Fern Cherry, vice-president; Ina Boulanger, secretary; and Wanita Adams, treasurer.

This year the G. A. A. had a hamburger fry at Barbara Shaffer's cabin and also had a Halloween party.

Pep Club

Pep club's must have a purpose and that of the I. H. S. Pep Club is to create pep and enthusiasm at the various athletic events. This year the members have cooperated in every way possible.

Each girl is chosen after her personality, scholarship, character, and popularity have been taken into consideration. This year there were 17 seniors and 7 juniors.

Pep rallies have been held many times during the year, and each time the girls have been the leaders. Many of the out of town games were attended by the club and a large percentage attended the home games.

Could any club get along without its sponsors? This year Miss Elva Hughes and Miss Mary Self gave their time to make the club a success. Deep appreciation is due both of them. Miss Hughes taught the girls the drills and Miss Self had charge of the assembly programs.

Like any other organization the Pep Club must have officers. This year they were: President, Jean Marie Knott; Vice president, Jane Cowles; secretary, Sue Sevier; and treasurer, Gladys Dunn.

Usually the initiation of new members is a lively evening for both new members and old. This year the initiation was held at the Independence Country Club.

Both the football lettermen and the pep club girls look forward to the annual banquet which is given in honor of the lettermen. This year it was held in the K. G. & E. rooms December 4. The theme of "rainbows" was effectively carried out in the program. Sue Sevier was the very witty and clever toastmistress. The committee chairmen were; program, Jean Marie Knott; menu, Kittie Marie Woodman; decorations, Jane Cowles; invitations, Gladys Dunn and Dorothy McQuain.

Cosmopolitan Club

How's this for "New Deal" tactics? Following the precedent set by the "Big Business" concerns, last year's Spanish and French clubs this year merged to form the Cosmopolitan club.

Members do not have to be omnipotent in their language ability. They need not even be enrolled in a foreign language course to belong to the club. Its purpose is to acquaint the members with the languages and customs of our foreign neighbors.

The club offered a variety of interesting and entertaining programs, of which the following were the highlights. Following an almost annual custom, Mrs. Hart Goodloe told of her experiences in France. Because her childhood and youth were spent in a French home, her accounts are those of a native. At another meeting Mr. M. R. Lamar told the group about Nicaragua as it was when he was stationed as a member of a United States Marine Corps in 1920. His wife, who is a native of Nicaragua, told of the home life there. Miss Martha Albers, a pupil in the high school, who was five years old when she came to the United States, described her last summer's trip to her native country, Germany.

Miss Baldwin, the sponsor, who traveled in Mexico last summer, told of her trip and showed some pottery and a serape which are typical Mexican works of art. Cosmopolitan in another direction was Mr. S. A. Maust's word picture of a broadcast from Radio City.

Some of the other meetings were devoted to the learning of simple forms of greeting and other commonly used expressions of the French and Spanish. Music had a part in these programs with the singing of French and Spanish songs, in their respective native tongues.

High-and-mighties for the year were: president, Nadine Wade; vice-president, Robert Lewis; and secretary-treasurer, Luther Fowler Jr.

Vocational Club

"He that hath a trade hath an estate; and he that hath a calling hath a place of profit and honor." --- Franklin.

Thinking of the above quotation culminated in the organization of the Vocational Club. This club is composed of boys enrolled in machine shop, woodwork, and printing trade classes. The creed of the club is: "To extend our knowledge of the work-a-day-world."

This club was organized in the fall of 1936, with Mr. Bowen and Mr. Friley as sponsors. Since it was through the efforts of Howard Overton to organize this club, he was elected as the first president, with Joe Blackford as vice-president, and Duane Armsbury as secretary. Meetings were held every two weeks, with the following persons as speakers: Rev. Humbert, Glen Hackmaster, H. C. Black, Delbert Brooks, Mrs. Goldie Blades, and Emmett Wilson with motion pictures.

Besides having speakers, the club went on two trips to modern industries. Trips were made to the Cement Plant and under the instruction of Mr. Richard Scott, the boys learned many facts about the manufacturing of cement.

A trip was also made to the Uhrich Mill. The boys went through every department in the plant, coming out with a better knowledge of how things were done in the mill. A trip to the Bovaird Supply Co. is also to be taken before the closing of school

Having been a very successful organization, the Vocational Club has served a good purpose in helping the individual to find his life work.

GENERAL SCIENCE CLUB

Back Row: Stevens, Neeland, Hammann, Heckman, Atkisson, Lawler, Castillo (sponsor).
Front Row: Sircoulomb, Dillman, McBride, Freels, Burdette, Furnas.

General Science Club

In 1934 encouraged by Mr. Castillo a group of boys organized the General Science club. Since the club was organized, applicants for membership have been required to pass an examination which is designed to cover the field of science, the applicant is particularly interested in. The purpose of this examination is to eliminate from the club those students who are not intending to make some field of science their life work or at least establish a hobby in some phase of science.

The club has set as its purpose to extend our knowledge of the sciences. In order to carry out this purpose to the fullest extent they have undertaken the task of building a museum in the school. This museum which was opened the second week of March, has grown from a small exhibit to a very fine collection. The subjects which are treated in main are comparative anatomy, paleontology, geology, and Indian arts.

Mr. E. L. Banion has been foremost among the citizens of Independence in aiding the club in the building of the museum.

The officers for this year are Evan R. Stevens Jr., president; Bill Burdette, vice president; Junior Furnas, secretary; and Wayne Sircoulomb, treasurer.

The club will meet regularly during the summer vacation in order to improve the museum and to take various trips, visiting points of scientific interest in south eastern Kansas.

The Science Club

The Science club this year is small yet it might be termed mighty. The club has only six members, but these have an interest in the club, and their efforts combined with the efforts of Miss Plank, the chemistry and physics teacher, as well as the sponsor of the club, have made this year's club a success.

All the works of scientists are interesting to the members of the club. A resolution was passed in one of the meetings which stated that each member answer the roll call with some topic of interest concerning the works of science. Many articles for reports have been taken from the Science Digest, a new magazine which all the members read and enjoy.

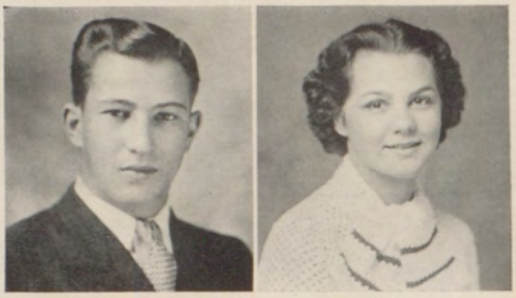

This years club has met once every two weeks in the chemistry and physics lecture room where all business was discussed. The members then put on demonstrations there or gave reports. No dues were required this year and the club was kept going by the interest of the students.

The meetings were taken up by demonstrations and talks prepared by the members. The reports have been of a general nature since the club has not confined its works to one particular subject. The demonstration, as a rule followed the reports and made them more realistic and more easily understood. Some of the reports were on blue-printing, thermite, iodine, bromine, carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide, fluorine, and various other metals.

Some films and slides were obtained and these were shown. They created a new interest for the members. These were on soap making, modern methods of fighting forest fires, floods, earthquakes, and astromony.

The club officers for the year have been Lawrence Rottler, president; Dalton Simon, secretary-treasurer; and Lawrence Hammann, program committee chairman.

HONOR SOCIETY

Witt Knott

Honor Society

The close of this year marks the fourteenth and possibly the last birthday of the National Honor Society in I. H. S. After having been organized by Mr. Friley in 1923, the Independence division of the organization has been discontinued with no plans made for future admittances to the society.

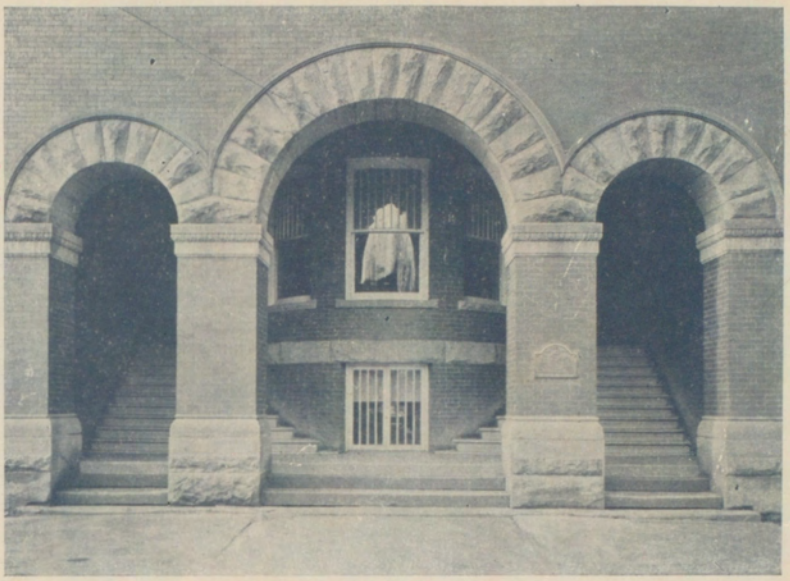

The four requirements for a member of the National Honor Society are: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Membership is signified by a small gold pin bearing a torch and the letters C, S, L, and S. The Society was derived from the Phi Beta Sigma, an honor society for high schools started by Dr. Owen of Chicago Normal College in 1900. These honor groups became more numerous as the years passed and were finally united under the name, National Honor Society.

Each of the four requirements, character, scholarship, leadership, and service, has a definite meaning. Character, the first and most important of these, is a goal every student should strive to achieve. A good character is one thing that only you yourself can obtain; money can not buy it, others can not give it to you.

Scholarship, formerly the only requirement for the National Honor Society, has its meaning in its name. However, a person need not be a bookworm to stand high in scholarship.

Leadership and Service go hand in hand, a good leader is one who is always willing to be of service to his classmates or community and who may be depended upon to carry out any venture in the right way.

Last spring only two juniors were elected to the National Honor Society, Jean Marie Knott and Keith Witt. Keith was elected president by the old members and Jean Marie secretary-treasurer.

ATHLETICS

CHEER LEADERS

Dunn Hunter Knott

Athletic Boosters

A very important part of our athletic curriculum is the cheering section. The cheer leaders in particular and the student body as a whole should be given a great deal of praise for the whole-hearted support shown at all athletic contests. The cheer leaders this year, Jean Marie Knott, Gladys Dunn, and Otis Hunter, have done a remarkable job in creating pep and enthusiasm when it was most needed, both at home and at out of town games. Their job is by no means an easy one and they should be remembered for the way they have given their time and efforts in doing it well.

There are five men in Independence high school who are directly responsible for our athletic activities. The first of these, Mr. L. E. Losey, the athletic director, has charge of all the schelules and arrangement for all the games and meets. Although he is a very important link in our athletic chain, very few people even know of his position or his duties. He is very capable and does his work well.

The other four men are the coaches. George "Jog" Allen has just completed his first successful year as football coach. Forrest Smith has charge of the swimming team, Rufus Daggett directs the golf and tennis teams, and Earl Bevan, ably coaches the basketball and track squads. We are very fortunate in having so capable a staff of coaches, who in turn produce a group of good teams for Independence high school. This group of men combined with the student body, serves to make up our athletic department, a department that has been and still is known as a very efficient and commendable one. The coaches and the athletic directors are deserving of our greatest appreciation.

Football History

Starting rather slowly and gathering speed and power as the season progressed, this year's Bulldog eleven wound up its season in a blaze of glory by calming Coffeyville's Golden Tornado 7 to 0. That in itself indicates a profitable season for the canine crew. The reason for the successful climax was that Coach "Jog" Allen, in his first season as Bulldog mentor, produced a well-rounded team whose success depended upon teamwork and not upon individual stardom.

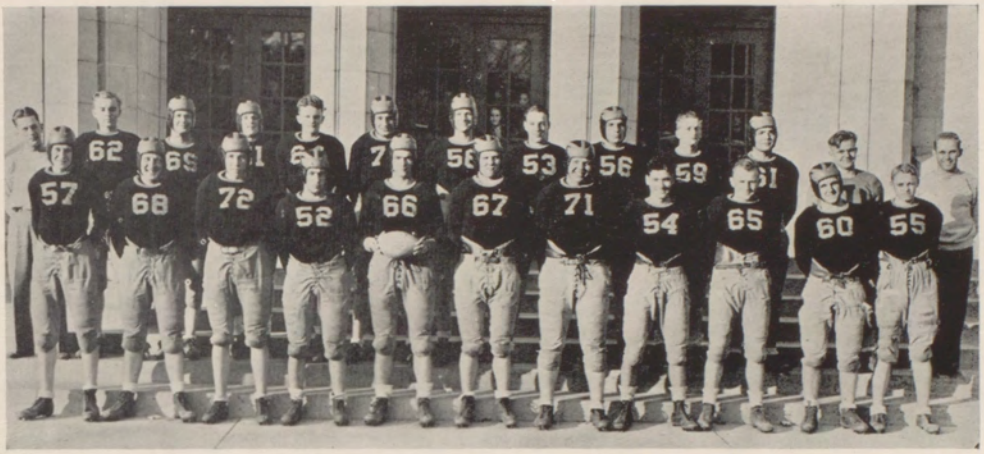

Having no warm-up game, the Bulldogs found themselves with no offensive in their first two league games and, consequently, lost them both to Pittsburg and Parsons respectively by scores of 14 to 0, and 6 to 0. Coming back strong after suffering two defeats however, the local eleven walked over Ft. Scott to the tune of 20 to 0, and also won from Columbus 7 to 0.

Returning to their home field the Bulldogs continued their winning streak to down Moline, a non-league foe, 26 to 0, before meeting their final setback of the season at the hands of the Chanute Comets, 14 to 0. This game was a closely fought game as far as the yards gained were concerned, the locals suffering their defeat because of an inadequate pass-defense and several bad breaks.

Despite this defeat, the Bulldogs were decidedly on the up-grade as far as power was concerned, and continued to become stronger during the remainder of the season. In two non-league games preceding the annual Thanksgiving game the Bulldogs had things much their own way, literally swamping Neodesha and Fredonia by scores of 20 to 0, and 35 to 0.

In the Coffeyville game, the Bulldogs gave a remarkable exhibition of what teamwork, desire to win, and good mental attitudes can do for a football team. Going into the game as the underdog but with the sincere determination to do or die, the Bulldogs upset the meaningless dope bucket to bring down the curtain on a highly successful season.

Basketball

The Bulldogs began the season with four returning lettermen. Reaching their best form in but few of the games, the team finished the season in a tie of sixth place in league competition. Although the team finished low in the standings they gained very much in experience, and in every game, whether they won or lost, the Bulldogs lived up to their names by fighting from the opening whistle to the end of the game.

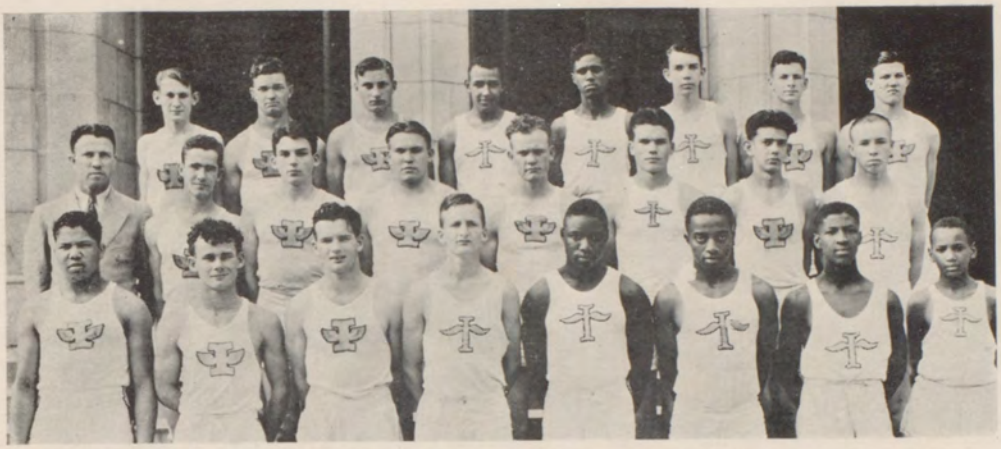

The first league game was dropped to Pittsburg by a narrow margin of 35-22. The locals lost a thriller to an experienced Viking team in the second game of the season. Having been tied the first half of the game the Parsons team forged ahead in the final minutes to win 25-22. The following week the Bulldogs met the Ft. Scott Tigers. After a defeat at their hands last season, the home team took the game by a score of 21-14. A fast breaking Columbus team won from the Bevan men 41-22. The fighting canines lost to a powerful Chanute team 58-24. When Coffeyville and Independence meet a close game is always played with neither team rated the favorite. This season the Tornado took an early lead in the first half. The locals closed the gap the second half, but were unable to overtake their rivals. The final score was 30-22.

Outside of league play I. H. S. won two games and lost four.

In the regional tournament held at Coffeyville the locals were eliminated by Parsons in an overtime period 31-26.

The basketball letters were awarded to eight boys at the end of the season. Those boys wearing the letter are: Joe Hall Dick Webb, Bob McHenry forwards; Bill Knight, center; Quinten Russell, Ted Gray, Dick Overfield, and Bill Condon, guards. Joe Hall. Dick Webb, Dick Overfield, Bob McHenry, forwards; Bill Knight, center; Quinten Russell, Ted Gray, Dick honorary captain at the close of the season by the lettermen.

State Champions 1936

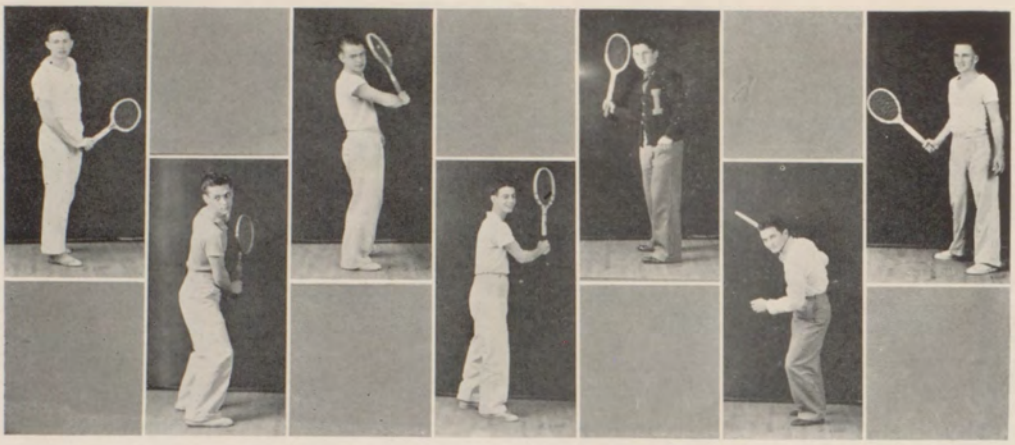

Independence high school acquired its first state athletic crown last year when the Bulldogs tracksmen won the state meet at Wichita. Russell Burns, mighty weight man, Mead Smith, demon of the cinder path, Winston Rogers, high jumper, and Bill Knight, jack of all trades, made the trip to Wichita with Coach Bevan and came back with the state crown. Mead Smith won the 220 yard dash. and took second in the 100-yard sprint, losing to the winner by mere inches. Russell Burns, Winston Rogers, and Bill Knight placed in enough events to win the meet and the state track crown.

In addition to winning the state meet the 1936 Bulldogs track team won the S. E. K. league crown, the first for any Independence team. In this meet, as in all the others, Smith and Burns carried off the high point honors to make a clean sweep of all the big meets, the Orange and Black warriors also annexed the regional meet to their string of victories. Tudoring this the Bulldogs left no doubt as to their strength as a track team. This was the first time that any S. E. K. team ever won all three of these meets in the same year.

The Bevan men went through the entire season without a defeat in any meet. During the year, four school records were broken and a fifth was tied. Russell Burns set new records in the shot put, discus, and javelin. Winston Rogers set a new mark in the high jump and Mead Smith tied the 220-yard dash record.

Coach Earl Bevan, in his first year as senior high track coach, developed a strong well rounded team, one of the best in the country. He lost Burns and Smith from the '36 team but will have enough lettermen returning to make another strong team this year.

TENNIS TEAM

Orr Baker Shultz Webb Hall French Titsworth

1936 Tennis

The tennis team last year, due to the transfer of Deane Smith to Kansas City, had a new coach, Rufus Daggett. Mr. Daggett, having played a good of tennis in his younger days, is well fitted for the job and has started the development of a new group of tennis players.

Although winning only three matches, one with Parsons and two with Elk City, and taking one with Coffeyville, the tennis squad made a good showing throughout the year. Most of the squad were sophomores and juniors who have another year ahead of them.

The squad participated in eight meets this year including the regional at Pittsburg, where they went to the semi-finals. In all meets they were a fighting group.

Mr. Daggett during the year in order to determine how to rank his men and to stimulate interest, ran off a school elimination tournament and practice matches. The winner of the school tournament was Ted Baker. He has further stimulated interest in tennis by running off a tournament and challenge matches in the junior high so that in years to come he might have a group of well-skilled boys.

The Bulldog racqueteers had eight meets last year and had the following results:

Date	Singles won	Singles lost	Doubles won	Doubles lost
April 8—Coffeyville, here	1	5	1	1
April 23—Parsons, there	3	1	1	1
April 24—Coffeyville, there	1	1	1	1
April 30—Bartlesville, there with Coffeyville	2	6	1	3
May 2—S. E. K., here	0	2	1	2
May 6—Elk City, here	6	0	3	0
May 8—Regional, Pittsburg	2	2	0	1
May 13—Elk City, here	6	0	3	0

GOLF TEAM

Blackford, Overfield, Boys, Armsbury.

1936 Golf

In his first year as golf coach, Rufus Daggett had a good turnout of golf aspirants for the early Spring practices. After the annual elimination tournament had been run off he formed a team of four good golfers, Lewis Boys, Duane Armsbury, Earl Overfield, and Joe Blackford. Lewis won the elimination tourney with Duane in the runnerup position and Earl and Joe following in that order.

The two most important events of the year for the Bulldog linksmen were the S. E. K. meet at Parsons and the State meet at Wichita. Duane Armsbury turned in the lowest score to win the S. E. K. meet with Lou Boys as runner-up. Duane and Lou paired up to win the team trophy. This meet established the Bulldog golfers as a strong team and gave them a good rating for the State meet that was to follow.

The Bulldog entries fared well against the best high school golfers in the State meet at Wichita. Duane Armsbury again was low for the Independence golfers taking fourth in the meet with an exceptionally low score. Armsbury and Boys ranked seventh in the team play at this meet.

In addition to these tournaments, the Orange and Black pellet knockers had three inter-school meets. The first of these was a triangular affair with Coffeyville and Bartlesville here. The Bulldogs tied with Bartlesville for high point honors. In the return meet with the two schools this time at Bartlesville the canines had an off day and held down the third place honors.

The other meet was with the Parsons vikings at Parsons. The Bulldog golfers lost only ½ point out of a possible twelve and returned home with an easy victory. Armsbury was low medalist in the meet.

SWIMMING TEAM

Back Row: Colburn, Peterson, H. Gross, Love, Carpenter, Crum, St. Helens, Clayton, Rogers.
Front Row: Knott, L. Gross, Fauk, Goll, Atkinson, Cavert, Steinberger, French, Monson, Welch.

Swimming

Starting the season with six returning lettermen, the Bulldog swimmers, coached by Forrest Smith, continued to make a name for themselves as dangerous rivals for the swimmers from even the largest schools. Because swimming is a relatively new sport in most high schools, the Bulldogs have found it necessary to schedule their meets with larger schools such as the Tulsa high school and Wyandotte high school from Kansas City.

After two practice meets with Coffeyville, the canines took a trip to Tulsa for the first scheduled meet. Tulsa is the largest high school this side of the Mississippi River and has a wealth of swimming material. However the Bulldogs returned with two firsts and a total of 27 points against Tulsa's 48.

Following their defeat at Tulsa, the locals downed the Coffeyville Tornado here 47 to 29 before taking a week-end trip to meet Wichita North and Wichita East on Friday and Saturday. Wichita North barely nosed out the Bulldogs 35 to 31 in a good, hard fought contest. The strong East team had little difficulty with the Smith men and downed them 48 to 18.

Returning home the Bulldogs downed the Pembroke Country Day school from Kansas City 43 to 32. In a return meet here Tulsa again won but by a smaller margin of 45 to 30.

The Bulldogs won their return meet with Coffeyville 40 to 32 before taking on Wyandotte here in the season's finale. Wyandotte broke four Independence pool records in the seven events and had a medley relay team that came within .2 of a second of the national record. Nevertheless the locals took two firsts and enough seconds and thirds that Wyandotte only won by 39 to 27.

The lettermen this year are: Atkinson, back stroke and diving; Gross, free style; Carpenter, free style; Welch, free style; Knott, free style; Goll, free style and diving; and Crum, breast stroke.

Junior Hi-Y

Completing nine years of faithful service as sponsor of Junior Hi-Y, Mr. Heckethorn has resigned to sponsor the Engineering club and Mr. Campbell who came here this year from Iola has taken his place. Mr. Campbell has definitely proved himself capable of leadership of the club by his willingness to work with the group and his practical knowledge of the club ideals and platforms. The purpose of the Hi-Y as given in the manual, is: "To create maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." The platform which is both brief and to the point is—clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living.

In cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. the Junior Hi-Y sold some woodworking projects which had been collecting in the junior high division of the industrial arts department. The proceeds of this sale were used as our club's donation in the Y. M. C. A. drive for funds. Because the club is composed of our young boys nothing is done to raise money for the club except the regular noonday candy sales and the sale of woodworking projects.

There were thirty-five members in the club this year, and the officers elected were: Bob Hille, president; Dale DeVore, vice-president; Walter McVey, secretary; and Charles Crane, treasurer. The various committee chairmen were: Bobby Gibson, program; Jimmy Gray, service; Levi Todman, Bible study; Warren Reigle, world brotherhood; and Jimmy Martin, publicity.

A delegation of boys from the local Junior Hi-Y club attended Camp Wood last summer. The boys who attended from here were Richard Dent, Jack Bates, Walter McVey, Nelson Buckles, Dale DeVore, and Jimmy Martin. Another group is expected to go this coming summer.

Junior Girl Reserves

The Junior Girl Reserves, organized in 1923 by Miss Gray and Miss Crocker, was, after the first few years of its existence divided into two groups, the Blue Star and the Blue Triangle Girl Reserves. At the present time the sponsors of the Blue Triangle are Miss Crocker and Miss McNeil, while Miss Wahl and Miss Tulloss sponsor the Blue Star group.

During the year a large variety of programs are presented in which the girls of the two groups are urged to participate. The program committees try to have at each meeting, as guest speaker, some person prominent in the school or in civic life. A few have been, Mrs. "Jog" Allen, Miss Audrey McAnulty, Miss Hazel Halsey, Mrs. Stockebrand, Jean Marie Knott, Miss Fannie Wellman, and Miss Nell Mitchell.

Each year at Christmas and Thanksgiving the groups collect food for the less fortunate, and also, in the fall, both Girl Reserves have a picnic at the Riverside park. The Junior Girl Reserves cooperate with the Senior Girl Reserves for the Girl Reserve banquet.

The officers of the Blue Triangle Girl Reserves are: president, Virginia Thompson; vice-president, Maxine Overfield; secretary, Twila Seibert; treasurer, Peggy Kors; program chairman, Janet Davis.

The credit for the success of the Girl Reserves should be given to the sponsors.

Junior G. A. A.

For a number of years, the Junior Girls' Athletic Association has been offered as an activity to junior high school girls. The purpose of this state-wide organization is to promote physical education and organized and unorganized activities among the junior high girls.

The awards that are offered for the many activities are: (1) a golden felt shield with the letters G. A. A. printed on it. It is awarded when the member has obtained four hundred points by doing various things. (2) A school letter of orange and black which is given for an additional 500 points. (3) The third and final award, a gold sunflower, is awarded when the member has acquired a total of 1,500 points. In order to win any of these badges, the girl must be passing in all her studies and must have a good record of fine sportmanship.

The awards are based on a certain number of points which are given for organized activities that include volley ball, basketball, swimming, and tumbling. The unorganized activities are skating, tennis, walking, hiking, swimming, horse-shoe pitching, golf, coasting, bowling, ice skating, and horse back riding.

Last fall the three classes, seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, held a contest to see which would get its dues paid first. The dues are ten cents per year. The winning classes were the four seventh grade classes and one eighth grade class which were given a picnic by the other classes. The picnic was held in the girls' gym because bad weather prevented its being held at the park.

The officers for this year, 1936-'37, take charge of the program in turn The officers are: Virginia Renner, president; Elizabeth Heckman, vice-president; Helen McLaughlin, secretary; and Ramola Plake, treasurer. Also special officers were elected. These were Margaret Ann McConnell and Virginia Reeves, cheer leaders; Mildred Sharpe and Mary Catherine Wainscott, song leaders; and Berta Jean Buckles, pianist.

Intramural Basketball

Under Coach Jog Allen, the director of the intramurals program, the largest group of boys turned out to help make this year the best the intramurals have had.

The winning team of each grade was taken to the regional high school basketball tournament at Coffeyville as a prize for winning their league.

The winning teams follow: Diamond Oilers, ninth and tenth grade winners, include Ralph Sicks, captain, Kenneth Boyle, Richard Lamar, Darrell Adams, Harold Houx, Clifford Cole, and Roland Wass. Eagles, eighth grade champions, included Harvey Cook, captain, Raymond Ross, Kent Kane, Joe McGee, Carl Klein, David Gorrel, and Alex Haas. Kangaroos, seventh grade champions, included Robert Masters, captain, Ivy Spears, Bob Plummer, Charles Huff, Bill Ormsby, Charles Willoughby, Bill Lybarger, Charles Scott, and Charles Moss.

For the finals of the three leagues, the junior high pep band played and helped produce pep and enthusiasm along with the crowd of junior high students that packed the gym.

It might be mentioned that Ralph Sicks has been captain of his team in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, and his team has won the championship of their league each year.

Junior High Track

In coach "Jog" Allen's first year, the junior high trackmen had two meets in addition to the annual interclass meet. In the interclass meet the ninth graders collected the most points but lost to the combined eighth and seventh grade teams by one point.

The Bullpups won the triangular meet with Fredonia and Humboldt here by a wide margin, having more points than Fredonia and Humboldt combined. Several of the Bullpups showed real talent in this meet.

Coach Allen took five boys to the state meet at Eureka. They won third place and only missed second place by a fraction of a point. The Bullpups had two firsts in the meet, Clyde McGuire in the shot put and Harry Pruitt in the 100-yard low hurdles. The boys making the trip were McGuire. Pruitt, Steinberger, Wilson, and Cavert.

The records for both class A and B are as follows:

Mr. Myers: "You're an honest lad, but it was a $10 bill I lost, not ten ones."

Jimmy Gray: "I know, mister, it was a $10 bill I picked up. But last time I found one, the man didn't have any change."

The minister's wife, while calling on a member of the congregation, mentioned, with excusable pride, that her daughter had won the prize in a music recital.

Her listener at once showed her fellow-feeling.

"I can understand your pride," she said. "I well remember how pleased I was when our pig took the first prize at the agricultural show."

Eugene H. espied Chris Boomis coming along the road with his fishing tackle on his back.

"Catch anything, old boy?" he eagerly asked.

"Yes, two."

"Good! What were they?"

"The 7:30 there, and the 5:15 back."

"And now," asked Miss Hall, "will anyone give me an example of an indirect tax, please?"

"The dog tax," announced the pupil.

"Why do you term that an indirect tax?"

"Because the dog doesn't pay it."

Bughouse

Mr. Castillo: "Name the five most common bugs."

Walter McVey: "June, tumble, lady, bed, and hum."

Mildred Emens: "Is your new horse a dray horse?"

Bob Hillie: "It's a brown horse; cut out that baby talk."

Robert Coldwell was on his first visit to Niagara falls and a guide was trying to impress him with their magnitude.

"Grand!" suggested the guide.

Robert did not seem impressed.

"Millions of gallons a minute!" explained the guide.

"How many in a day?" asked Robert.

"Oh! billions and billions!"

Robert looked across and down and up, as if gauging the flow. Then he turned away, apparently unimpressed.

"Runs all night too, I suppose!" he remarked.

Pearl Russell was trying to make an impression: "I clean my diamonds with Ammonia, my rubies with Bordeaux Wine, my emeralds with Danzig Brandy, and my sapphires with fresh milk."

Minnie Burns: "I don't clean mine when mine get dirty, I just throw them away."

Mathematics on the Ark

Noah went back into the ark after all the animals—as he thought—had come out of it. In a corner he saw two snakes. "Crawl on out of here!" he said. "You know the orders!"

"We can't obey," said one of the snakes. "You told us to go out and multiply on the earth—and we are adders."

"I don't like to say anything that might embarass the summer borders," said an old farmer to his new hired man. "If I frown at you when we are at the table, that means for you to quit eating."

"All right," replied John. "I don't like to say much myself. If I frown back at you, that means I ain't goin' to stop."

Charles Olney: "So sorry I bumped into you, I didn't see you."

Lily Beck: "Flatterer!"

Flats Tire Them

Johnny: Pop, what do you know about people who live in trailers?

Pop: I know one thing son, they hate flats.

Mary B. Todd: "Waldo is such a dear! He is going to teach me to play cards so that I'll know all about it after we're married."

Marian Smith: "That's nice. What game is he going to teach you?"

Mary B.: "I think he called it solitaire."

Mr. Bevan: "The principal informs me that class periods are to be ten minutes shorter, beginning next week."

Robert Carroll: "That is bad news! We're not getting enough sleep as it is!"

Mr. Thompson: "Hey! Pull over to the curb, lady. Do you know you were doing seventy-five?"

Helen Burns: "Isn't it marvelous!—And I just learned to drive yesterday."

George Meade: "Yes, when I was in Africa a lion ran across my path. I had no gun in my hand so I took a pail of water and poured it over his head and he ran away."

Ralph Sicks: "I can vouch for that. I was in Africa at the time and the lion ran into me. When I stroked his mane, it was still quite damp."

Elizabeth Hadley (in grocery): "Is the head cheese over there?"

Roland Wass: "No, ma'am, that is one of his assistants."

Peggy Kors: "I can't see for the life of me why she wants to marry that man Brown. He has a wooden leg, a glass eye, false teeth and wears a wig."

Gene Welch: "It must be the feminine instinct that makes them hanker after remnants."

Clerk: "These are especially strong shirts, madam. They simply laugh at the laundry."

Customer: "I know that kind; I had some which came back with their sides split."

Caller: "Won't you walk as far as the street car with me, Tommy?"

Tommy (age five): "I can't."

Caller: "Why not?"

Tommy: "'Cause we're gonna have dinner as soon as you go."

"There now, you've broken a mirror. Now you'll have seven years bad luck."

"Oh, I don't believe that. I knew a woman who broke a great big mirror and she didn't have seven years bad luck."

"Is zat so?"

"Yeah. She was killed in an automobile accident the next day."

Mrs. Losey: "Who was that man you just raised your hat to?"

Mr. Losey: "That? Oh, that was my barber. He sold me a bottle of hair restorer a month ago, and whenever I meet him I let him see what a fraud he is."

Mrs. Smith: "I sent my little boy, Walter, for two pounds of plums and you only sent a pound and half."

Storekeeper: "My scales are all right, madam. Have you weighed your little boy?"

Last Hope

The squad of recruits had been taken out to the rifle range for their first try at marksmanship. They knelt at 250 yards and fired. Not a hit. They moved up to 200 yards. Not a hit. They tried at 100. Not a hit.

"Tenshun!" the sergeant shouted. "Fix bayonets! Charge! It's your only chance."

Fair Size

The young farmers were boasting about the size of vegetables they had grown. Finally, one of them turned to Uncle Seth.

"What was the biggest thing you raised this year. Uncle Seth?"

"A squash."

"Well, how big was it?"

"We never measured it," drawled Uncle Seth, "but we used the seeds for snowshoes."

Flicker Stars

Mrs. Mosquito: "Where is your daughter?"

Mrs. Housefly: "She went to the front door for a screen test."

Maybe

Bird Fancier: "That bird won't fly. All he wants to do is sit down."

Sweet Young Thing: "Oh, it must be one of those stool pigeons!"

Put Out

Ralph: "I had to kill my dog last night."

Charlie: Was he mad?

Ralph: Well, he didn't seem any too pleased about it.

Vindicated

"But you guaranteed that this watch would last me a life time."

"I know—but you didn't look very healthy the day you bought it."

Efficiency

A man got a job polishing automobile bodies. During the first week he was taught to polish with only the right hand. The second week he was made to use only the left hand. The next week he had to use both hands.

"Easy isn't it?" the foreman asked at the end of the third week.

"Yes," said the new man. "Just fix a broom to my pants. and I'll sweep the floor at the same time."

"My sweetheart's a diamond cutter."

"Oh— in the jewelry business?"

"Not exactly—he cuts the grass on the baseball field."

The first time a Scotchman used the free air at the garage, he blew out all four tires.

Silly

An elderly lady walked into a railroad ticket office at Chicago and asked for a ticket for New York.

"Do you wish to go by Buffalo?" asked the ticket agent.

"Certainly not!" she replied. "By train, if you please!"

Cop: "Lady, don't you know this is a safety zone?"

Women Driver (in difficulties): Of course—that's why I drove in here.

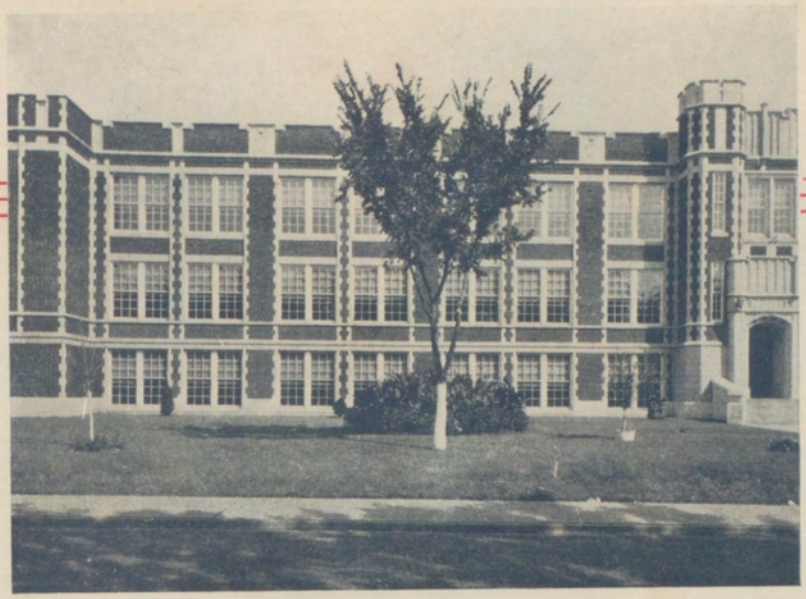

Judge: "Now, I don't expect to see you here again, Rastus."

Rastus: "Not see me here again, Jedge. Why, you all ain't going to resign yo job, is yau, Jedge?"

The Measure

Grocer: "We have some nice string beans today."

Mrs. Youngbird: "How much are they a string?"

A little robin flew on high,
Upon the roof she flittered,
And as she laid a tiny egg,
"This one's on the house," she twittered.

Tightwad (after purchasing): "See here, boy, what's all this you're yelling about--"Big swindle with 160 victims?" I don't see anything about it in this paper."

Newsboy: "Hey, read all about the big swindle; 161 victims!"

Recipe for Flunks

Take 18 weeks of bluff—stir in several unexcused absences; combine with plenty of inattention. Flavor with many moonlight strolls; add plenty of dates. Bake with the teacher's red-hot temper. Serve warm with disappointment at the end of the semester.

It is not hard to realize why modern girls are 'live wires.' They carry practically no insulation.

Jean Knott: "All this talk about every kiss shortening a girl's life. Why I think every kiss makes her an hour younger."

Middo Garr: "Goodness! Then I don't think I'm born yet."

Then there's the man who was expelled from the colony, because he got up every morning with a grouch on.

"I want to marry your daughter."

"Do you drink?"

"Thanks, but let's settle the other matter first."

Lady: "Are you really content to spend your life walking around the country begging?"

Tramp: "No indeed, lady. I've wanted a car many a time."

Jane Cowles: "A kiss speaks volumes, they say."

Jack Stephenson: "Yes? Then, don't you think it would be a good idea for us to start a library?"

George Jones: "What did you have for lunch?"

J. Danforth: "Three guesses."

George Jones: "No wonder you looked so hungry."

Then there is the Scotchman who helped his kids celebrate Christmas by painting their fingers red, white, and blue to look like peppermint candy.

Schellie: "Are the fish biting?"

"I don't know," replied Ernie. "If they are, they're biting each other."

College Student (having surrendered his seat) :I beg your pardon.

Co-ed: I didn't speak.

Stude: I'm sorry. I thought you said, "Thank you."

Butler: "Shall I remove the mirrors, sir?"

Movie Actor: "Yes, Jarvis, take them away. I wish to be alone."

"I don't mind," said the professor, "if I see a student fidget about toward the end of the hour. I don't mind seeing him take out his watch and look at it. But when he takes out his watch, stares at it, puts it to his ear, and then shakes it!!!! It gets me!"

"Daughter," said the father, "is that young man serious in his intentions?"

"Guess he must be, dad," she replied. "He's asked me how much I make and what kind of meals we have, and how you and mother are to live with."

R. Williamson: "Let me play something for you."

B. Lewis: (At eleven p. m.) "I am always moved by the sound of music."

Miss Lake: "Will your people be surprised when you graduate this month?"

George Jones: "No, they have been expecting it for several years."

Before they were married he gave her a penny for her thoughts and now it takes 40 dollars to get her to shut up.

"The chef at the 'Green Parrot' has been cooking for twenty years."

"He ought to be almost done by now."

"Does the coach have the team under his control?"

"I'd Say! Everytime he gets a headache the whole team takes an aspirn!"

George Bath—What keeps us on this earth?

Mr. Castillo—The law of gravity.

George—What did we do before that law was passed?

Schoolroom Answers

Freshmen—I dunno

Sopomore—I am not prepared.

Junior—I don't remember.

Senior—I don't believe I can add anything to what has been said.

Rooster: "Why are you eating all those tacks?"

Hen: "I'm gong to lay a carpet."

She wasn't a school teacher's daughter, but she sure had class.

Get a Sax, Keed

Luther Fowler: "This harp seems to sing that you love me."

Wynona Beaty: "But, my boy, that's not a harp; it's a lyre."

Pat Davies: "If I ask you to kiss me, which cheek would you choose?"

Buck Hardwick: "I'd hesitate a long time between."

Ziggle, Pop. Splutter!

Doctor: "What you need is an electric bath."

Bill Miller: "Nothing doing, doc, I had an uncle drown that way up at Sing Sing."

Elsie Mae Rogers: "Am I descended from a monkey, Mother?"

Mrs. Rogers: "I dare say. but I'm not sure. I've never met any of your father's people."

Geo. Jones:"Gee, Mom, a truck just ran over Pop and mashed him all over the pavement."

Mother: "George! How often have I told you not to tell me such things while I'm eating!"

Miss Plank, in chemistry lecture: "I will treat"—(interrupted by student who had been dozing, half aroused by the familiar words.) "Good for you, Miss Plank, good for you."

Shirley Rauch: "Hey! This pair of gloves are about six sizes too small for me"

Salesman: "Well, didn't you ask for kid gloves?"

Mr. Bevan: "Good-by, Dear. If I can't get home for dinner tonight I'll send you a wire."

Mrs. Bevan: "Don't bother, Earl. I've read it already—found it in your coat pocket."

Teacher: "Can you tell me the difference between a stoic and a cynic?"

Abie: "A stoic is a boid that brings the babies and a cynic is the place where you wash the dishes."

Throw a Party

Sign on a drug store window: "Take home a brick, you may have company."

"Does your wife believe all you tell her?"

"Does she! Why, she believes lots of things I'd never dream of telling her."

"Hello! Hello! This is Smith, Smith and Smith, lawyers."

Dick Strawn: "Oh, yes! Good morning, good morning, good morning."

Diner: "A little bird tells me this soup is terrible."

Waiter: "A little bird?"

Diner: "Yes, a little swallow."

"So you asked Geraldine to marry you?" asked a man of the other.

"Yes, but I didn't have any luck," replied his friend. "She asked me if I had any prospects."

"Why didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"

"I did. Geraldine is my aunt now."

Man wants but little here below,
He's ready to admit it.
And if Uncle Sam keeps taxing him
He's pretty sure to get it.

Conundrums

What creeping vine is exactly four? IV (ivy).

Why is hope like a decayed cheese? Thousands live upon it.

Why is a fighting cat like a surgeon? They both mew-til late.

Why is a chicken like a farmer? They both delight in a full crop.

What is that which is bought by the yard and worn by the foot? A carpet.

What is that which is black but sheds more light than any other luminary? Printer's ink.

What is the difference between a girl and a night-cap? One is born to wed, the other is worn to bed.

What is the difference between an accepted and a rejected lover? One kisses the misses, the other misses the kisses.

What is the difference between an editor and his wife? One sets articles to rights, and the other writes articles to set.

What is the difference between a wealthy toper and a skillful miner? One turns his gold into quarts, the other turns his quartz into gold.

Spell mouse-trap with three letters. C-a-t.

When is a boat like a heap of snow? When it is a-drift.

What ailment may we look for on an oak? A-corn.

What do cats have which no other animals has? Kittens.

What nobleman is mentioned in the Bible? The barren fig-tree.

What is that from which if you take the whole some will remain? Wholesome.

Why is a pig a good mathematician? He is good on the square root.

The shoemaker's every article is sold (soled) before it is finished.

Why are a gentleman's love letters liable to go astray? They are miss-directed.

Why is a church singing-book like a school-house? It is full of little hymns.

Who was the first deadhead? Joseph; his brothers put him into a pit for nothing.

Why are balloons in the air like vagrants? They have no visible means of support.

How is the best way to retain a gentleman's affections? Never to return them.

Why should all people go to rest directly after tea? Because when "t" is gone, night is nigh.

What requires more philosophy than taking things as they come? Parting with things as they go.

What is a western settler? A six-shooter.

Why is a youth trying to raise a mustache like a cow's tail? Because he grows down.

Why are books the best friends? When they bore you, you can shut them up without offense.

Why is a lady when sick at sea like some of our literary men? Because she is a contributor to the Atlantic.

It Saved the Day

"You know, when I was timbering in the Northwest it snowed so hard that we had to be let down with ropes to reach the tops of the trees. And the fog was so thick that the fish lost themselves in the wood, and we had to sleep with mosquito netting over us to keep the pollywogs out oy our eyes. We soon remedied that by digging ditches in it and draining it back to the river."

"Well, you know when I was down digging the Panama Canal, it was so hot there that one day when my buddy went in swimming and dove off a twenty-foot rock into the stream, he forgot to take into account the evaporation, and when he was half way down all the water was gone."

"Was he killed?"

"No, it happened that one of our sudden heavy rains came up and he landed in eight feet of water."

Cashier Wanted

The business man dashed into the employment agency.

"Look here," he said to the clerk, "I'm looking for a cashier."

The clerk looked somewhat surprised.

"Why, sir, I thought I furnished you with one last week."

"I know, that's the one I'm looking for."

"That fake spiritualist was very upset at his seance last night."

"Do you think something went wrong?"

"Yes, he looked as if he'd seen a ghost."

"I got zero in my French course."

"That's absolutely nothing to worry about."

"Hello, Bill; I'm glad to see you. What on earth have you been doing for the past three months?"

"Ninety days!"

"Why the toothbrush in your coat lapel?"

"It's my class pin—I go to Colgate."

Kentucky Colonel

A general and a colonel were walking down the street. They met many privates, and each time the colonel would salute he would mutter, "The same to you."

The general's curiosity soon got the better of him, and he asked:

"Why do you always say that?"

The colonel answered:

"I was once a private and I know what they are thinking."

"Waiter, there's a fly in my soup!

"That's quite all right, sir; it can swim."

There Ain't No Justice!

Client—Say, I don't like these pictures. They don't do me justice.

Photographer —Justice. Lady, what you need is mercy!

"Just burned a hundred-dollar bill."

"Gosh! You must be a millionaire!"

"Well, it's easier to burn 'em than to pay 'em."

Two Wrongs Don't Make A Right

"Pop, I'm quitting school tomorrow."

"Why, sonny, don't you like your teacher?"

"Naw. Yesterday she told us that six and six wuz twelve, and today she said it was nine and three."

"Who beat you up?"

"You see it's this way. I took my girl to a restaurant and she found a fly in her soup. She called the waiter and said: "Get this insect out of here."

"So what?"

"So what? He threw me down a flight of stairs."

Fond Mother—Yes, Genevieve is taking French and Algebra. Say good morning to Mrs. Jones in Algebra, darling.

The Winnah!

"Well, boys," said the kindly old gentleman to a group of urchins gathered along the river bank, "and why do you gaze so intently upon yon seething waters?"

"We're seein' who can stay under water the longest, Mister," piped up the largest, "and Jimmy's been down forty-seven minutes already."

"Yes sir, officer, when a fight starts, I always do my best."

"What's your best?"

"A hundred yards in ten seconds."

Did you hear of the frosh who walked through the new art museum and stopped in front of a mirror and exclaimed, "It must be a Rembrandt".

"Where is the car?" demanded Mrs. Daggett.

"Dear me." ejaculated Professor Daggett, "Did I take the car out?"

"You certainly did! You drove it to town."

Jane Cowles Visits The Farm

Jane—Oh, what a funny looking cow! Why hasn't it any horns?

Farmer—There are many reassons why cows do not have horns. Some are born without horns and do not have any until the late years of their life. Other are dehornded, But the chief reason that this cow does not have horns is that it is a horse.

Bob Moses(having surrendered his seat): I beg your pardon.

Miss Baldwin: I didn't speak.

Bob: I'm sorry, I thought you said, "Thank you".

"What did you have for lunch?"

"Three guesses."

"No wonder you are so hungry."

"What makes you stutter?"

"I-I-I d-don't s-s-tutter—I-I just h-h-esitate."

What a Guy

It was on a Florida golf course. Mortimer being home for the holidays, confronted a caddie.

"I've heard the fellows back at school talk a lot about this game of golf. Will you explain it to me?"

"Not much to it. Just hit the ball with this stick and try to knock it into that hole way over there with the flag in it. Try it."

Mortimer took the club handed him and with a mighty swing made a drive of three hundred and twenty yards. The ball came to a stop three inches from the hole.

"That's too bad," moaned Mortimer, "I missed it."

Daughter: "Marriage —pooh! I'd like to see a man get me into that situation!"

Father: "I'm positive that you would, darling."

People who have fallen asleep inside of concrete mixers that were in motion are the kind of people who sleep the soundest in class.

Mr. Maust (To student): "Do fish perspire?"

Gladys Dunn: "Of course. Whaddaya think makes the sea salty?"

Playing Safe

Dick Overfield: "If you put me in the game I will assure the scoring of a touchdown."

Jog Allen: "But we want assurance it will be our team to score that touchdown."

Irate Customer—Here; look what you did!

Laundryman—I can't see anything wrong with that lace.

Irate Customer—Lace! That was a sheet!

I nearly walked off with a nifty coonskin overcoat at the cafe last night.

What happened?

When I got out on the sidewalk I found a college boy inside it.

Where are you going to eat?
Let's eat up the street.
Aw, no; I don't like asphalt.

For men who are lazy about tending to the lawn in the spring, heres a warning: Give dandelions an inch and they'll take a yard.

Dean: "We offer an excellent course in foreign relations."

Frosh: "Not interested! All my folks live right here in the U. S. A."

"How come you always want to be on the go?" queried one cannibal of another. To which the second cannibal grunted, "I dunno. It must be the Gypsy in me."

The best way to drown out a saxophone player is with three buckets of water.

George Jones: "Can you tell me what was Coleridges' last poem?"

Miss Hall: "Kubla Khan."

Jones: "Where can I find him?"

Joe: Nothing, only I ain't got a spoon.

Modern Proverbs

A bird in the hand is bad table manners.

Success has turned more heads than halitosis.

Surprise

"You certainly were drunk last night."

"Go on, I know that, tell me something I don't know."

"You got married last night."

"Yep, I once broke through some ice and fell into 26 feet of water."

"And did they get you out?"

Chaperone: Girls, I have a man outside I want you to meet.

Athletic Girl: What can he do?

Religious Girl: What church does he belong to?

Literary Girl: What does he read?

Chorus Girl: How much does he make?

College Girl: Where is he?

If you want to remember things, tie a string around your finger.

If you want to forget things, tie a rope around your neck.

There is nothing strange about the saying that the modern girl is a "live wire". She carries practically no insulation.

There is a lot to be said about there being nothing to see in a small town. Oh boy! but what you can hear.

Donovan worked in a factory where they encouraged the staff to put forward ideas.

One morning he was shown into the office of the chairman and announced that he had thought of a way of insuring that none of the hands would be late in the future.

"That sounds good," said the chairman. "How do you propose to do it?"

"Sure and that's aisy, sorr," said Donovan. "The last man in blows the whistle."

Customer: Have you a book called 'Man, the Master of Women'?

Salesgirl: The fiction department is on the other side, sir.

"The boy who gets this job must be fast."

"Mister, I'm so fast I can drink water out of a seive."

"How come you are reducing?"

"Oh, to cut down expanses."

Stanley Strain: "Clark, why don't you act your age?"

Clark Self: "I can't, it hurts my knees."

Ears For Music

"My dear, isn't that the 'Sextette from Lucia' the orchestra is playing?"

"No, I think it is a selection from 'Rigoletto.' "

"I am positive it is the 'Sextette from Lucia."

Thereupon Mrs. Schmaltz goes to the orchestra stand and reads the placard posted in the space where the names of the selections played usually are placed. She returned to her partner.

"My dear, we are both wrong. It's the 'Refrain from Smoking.' "

There's one thing to be said about a bank book, it will keep your interest as long as you keep it open.

Volunteer

Barmaid—Oh yes; I married a man in the village fire department.

Soldier—A volunteer?

Barmaid—No, pa made him.

Modern Boy

During dinner one day a father spoke to his son: "Sonny," he said, "I want to talk to you after dinner. I want to discuss with you the facts of life." So after dinner when they went into the other room, the son closed the door behind him and said "Well, Dad, what is it you would like to know?"

He: Lets keep our engagement a secret, dear.

She: Alright, but I've just got to tell Mary, she said I'd never find a man foolish enough to marry me.

Rupert Welch: "Going around with the women a lot keeps you young."

Gene Welch: "How come?"

Rupert: "I started in going with the women four years ago when I was a freshman, and I'm still a freshman."

Another fellow who's in a shady business, is a tree surgeon.

"Everybody is crazy over me," said the first floor inmate of the insane asylum.

A woman is as strong as her weakest wink.

Mr. Goepfert: The next piece will be "Hail to the Hills of Westwood."

Bill Hille: Gee, I just finished playing that.

Quinten Russell: "That ain't no sandwich. There ain't nothing in it."

Bill Condon: "Sure it is. It's a western sandwich—two hunks of bread with wide open spaces between."

Photographer: "Do you want a large or a small picture?"

George Jones: "A small one."

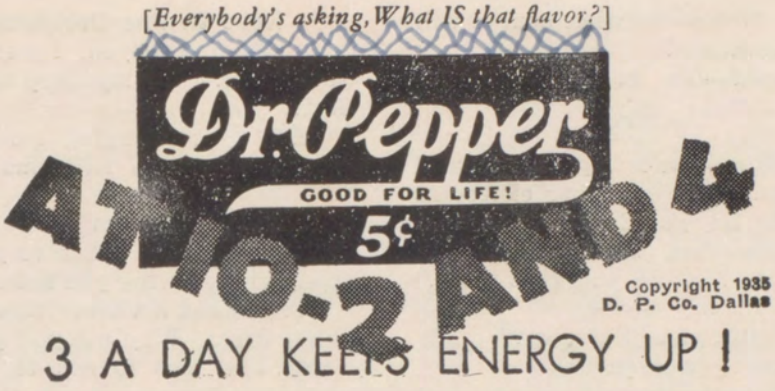

Photographer: "Then close your mouth."

Mr. White—In what course will you graduate?

Harold—Oh, in the course of time.

He tilted her lovely head toward him and bent over her expectant mouth. He gazed intently for a moment, then said softly, "I'm going to have to pull that tooth."

"What's your business?"
"Making wooden legs."
"How's business?"
"Can't kick."

Woman in crowded street car, says to friend very audibly, "I wish that good looking man would give me his seat."

Five men stood up.

"What's your business?"
"Peanut butter."
"How's business?"
"Driving me nuts."

How Clever

Rosemary W.—"What is the name of that piece the orchestra is playing?"

Bob L.—"I don't know; let's ask one of the boys in the orchestra."

Rosemary—"What's that you're playing?"

Pianist—"A piano, lady. A piano!"

Frosh—What did the Dean want to see you about?

Soph—Oh just a matter of passing interest.

Must Be Crazy

Nurse (in insane asylum)—There is a man outside who wants to know if we have lost any male inmates.

Doctor—Why?

Nurse—He says that someone has run off with his wife.

Love In The Orchestra

"Viola, I love you. I want you tuba mine. I lay my harp at your feet."

"Aw, quit stringing me along. You don't get to first bass with me."

"Say not this: 'I'm tired of playing second fiddle!' You've got too many guys bowing you around."

"Oh, what a violin sinuation! What brass! Why did you piccolo thing like that to say to me? I ought to give you a baton the head!"

"Yeah? Gee, I'm trebling all over!"

"You'd better tremolo-ver what you said. I'm liable to drum you yet."

Oh, but suite, let's give this a rest."

"Oh! Trying to snare me in double quick time, eh? Well, quit horning in. Gwan! Blow!

"Well, fife not been a chump! After all the do I've spent a music you! That's a scaly trick!"

"Say, I'm tired of listening to your chorus language. You're not so sharp. I'm leaving you flat!"

"Well, I"ll be——!"

Miss McNiel—Make a sentence with antagonize in it.

Bill Cavert—Pa said "Eat your dinner antagonize walk."

Keep It Quiet

Landlord(to prospective tenant)—You know we keep it very quiet and orderly here. Do you have any children?

"No."

"A piano, radio, or victorola?"

"No."

"Do you play any musical instruments? Do you have a dog, cat, or parrot?"

"No, but I have a fountain pen that scratches a little sometimes."

DAILY REPORTER

A visitor was being shown around the asylum. A large room with twenty beds was reached, but the place seemed empty.

"This is where the patients who were once chauffeurs are kept," said the attendant.

"But where are the patients?" asked the visitor.

"They're all under the beds examining the springs."—Exchange.

Lew Boys—But you said I had locked your heart and had the key!

Marion Smith —Yeah, but While you were gone somebody broke the lock.

Jane Cowles— What kind of a husband would you advise me to get?

Mother—You get a single man and let the husbands alone.

Louise Hall—Have you been up before the Dean?

Ruth B.—Oh, I don't know, what time does he get up?

Morning after the play:

Sue Garrett—Gosh, that suit of yours looks as though it had been slept in.

Page Epperson—It was, I wore it to the play you were in last night.

Pat Regan—Mother, you know that old vase you said had been handed down from generation to generation?

Mother—Yes, dear.

Pat—Well, this generation dropped it.

Miss Lake(to student an hour late): "You should have been here at eight o'clock."

James Easter "Why? What happened?"

Voices in the dead of night in the dormitory:

Wake up!

Can't

Why not?

Ain't sleeping.

Is it I or is it me?

Were it her or am it he?

Can it was or been it be?

We leave it to English to decree.

And as the old maid says every night when she says her prayers, Ah, men.

Mr. Brown: Would you marry a stupid man if he had much money?

Miss Reid: I don't know. How much have you?

Father—Well, Willie, I received a note from your teacher today.

Willie—Is that so. Pop? Give me a quarter and I won't breath a word about it to Mother.

Reppert—I've worked under the same boss for 20 years.

Friley—I can beat that—it's my silver wedding anniversary next week.

Spinster(anxiously)—Why don't you get married, Mr. Brown?

Mr. Brown—Why marry a woman when I can buy a parrot for $5?

Spinster—Yes, that shows once more how you men have it over us women. We can't buy a bear for less than $200.

Miss Lake—Elmer, what are the the exports of Cuba?

Elmer—I don't know.

Miss Lake—Where do you get your sugar?

Elmer—We usually get ours from the neighbors.

Marion Smith—Sure. They go so much earlier.

Dick Overfield—Do you believe in the survival of the fittest?

Dick Webb—I don't believe in the survival of anything. I am an undertaker.

Horace—I am sure Cupid had nothing to do with arranging the alphabet.

Maudine—Why not?

Horace—Because if he had, he would have put U and I closer together.

First Voter—Don't you think it would be a good thing if our legislators were limited to one term?

Second Votor—It would depend altogether on where the term was to be served.

First Student — You say you were engaged to four girls at once. How do you explain such conduct?

Second Student—I don't know, unless Cupid shot me with a submachine gun instead of an arrow.

Gordon French—What do you mean, dear, when you say I've been deceiving you for years?

Marie Hanna—Well, for one thing, Gordon. I've just found out that you get a $2,500 allowance on your income tax return for being married, and you only give me a miserable $10 a week.

Two of a Kind

"Say, Doc, I'm gonna go nuts. It's getting awful. I can hardly sleep."

"How long has this been going on?"

"About a year. Everytime the phone rings I jump and wonder who it is. Everytime the mailman comes I'm afraid to open the mail. If the doorbell rings, I'm scared to go to the door. Everytime a guy with a brief case hikes into the office I want to duck."

"Do you read the newspapers regularly?"

"I'm coming to that, too. It's getting so that I'm even afraid to look at the papers and I almost faint when a telegram comes to the house. What do you suppose is the matter with me, Doc?"

"Cheer up. My boy's at college, too."

"Hey, this milk is colored!"

"Sure. This is the blue grass country."

Nowdays, what is not worth saying is sung.

Nettie Scott: I'll give you a hundred dollars to do my worrying for me.

Lorene Arehart: Great! Where's the hundred?

Nettie Scott: That's your first worry.

Faint purse ne'er won fair lady.

And now we hear of the chap who finally gave in and bought a radio because it was too cold to stand outside the radio shops and listen.

Sophisticated youngster: Say, do you keep any men's toys.

Epitaph for a Good Girl

She led a blameless life below,
Death held for her no terrors,
And now she is gone where lilies blow,
No runs, no hits, no errors.

Scene: Counting room of the election commission in Sewanee, Alabama.

Time: Two hours after the closing of the polls in November, 1936.

Cast: (In order of appearance) Official counter for the past forty years.

"Say, what do ah do with this heah Republican ballot?"

Curtain

Director: Now in this talkie I don't want you to say a word that has more than two syllables in it.

Actress: What am I supposed to be?

Director: A college co-ed.

Sunday School Teacher: Now children, you must never do anything in private that you would not do in public.

Sammy: Hurray! No more baths!

Beryl Wyatt: "I have a suit for every day in the week."

Dorothy Pruitt: "Let's see them."

Beryl Wyatt: "This is it."

Tramp: "Please, mum, could I have a dollar?"

Lady: "What for?"

Tramp: "I want to start a bank account."

Upen—"Say do you bite your finger nails?"

Atom—"Bite 'em. Why I piece on 'em between meals."

A battalion commander was trying out a new orderly from a contingent of Negro recruits. Just before inspection he went to look over his quarters and their condition put him in a fury.

"Orderly!" he raged. "Do you call this place clean? Look! I can write my name in dust on top of this desk!"

With his teeth flashing in a wide smile of wonderment, the orderly nodded approvingly and mumbled:

"Yassah, Mistah Majah, it sure is nice to be educated, ain't it?"

Hear, Hear!

"Can you tell me how to get to Bryant Street?"

"What's that, stranger? I'm a little deaf."

"I beg your pardon?"

"I said I'm a little deaf. I didn't hear you."

"You don't say! I'm deaf too."

"That's too bad. Now, what did you want?"

"Can you tell me how to get to Bryant Street?"

"Sure. You go down this way for four blocks and then turn to your right. It's the third street down."

"That's Bryant Street, is it?"

"Oh! No. Excuse me, old man. I thought you said Bryant Street."

"Never heard of it. Sorry. stranger."

.Why Take Her?

Tom Heinzeman: "Did I tell you about the awful fright I had at the Hop last night?"

George Jones: "Careful, old man. No one has the right to talk about a girl that way."

Miss Reid: What key are you singing in?

Florence Clement: Skeleton key.

Miss Reid: Skeleton key?

Florence: Yes, it fits anything.

In the mountains of West Virginia. a befuddled man reeled out of a bar and sagged into a seat in the hotel lobby alongside a clergyman. Being in an overwhelmingly friendly mood, and desiring to make conversation, he said to the clergyman:

"Thish ish a nice shotel."

"Yes," coldly replied the minister, "I find it amply comfortable."

"Ash what I shed, brother. Whatchu say let's you and me have a li'l drink?"

"No, thank you; I never touch the stuff."

"Shay!" replied the befuddled one. "Who y' shink y'r kiddin'? Why, you gotcha collar on backwards right now!"

Pluto: "The Ed took me to see the educated fleas last night."

Mongrel Pal: "How were they?"

Pluto: "Fine! Fact is, I took the leading lady home with me."

At five in the morning the farmer called the summer boarder for breakfast. Soon after, still rubbing his eyes, the boarder sat down at the table.

"This breakfast." he said, "is like a pigs tail."

"How come?" asked the farmer, surprised.

"It's twirly," said the boarder.

"WE KNOW LEATHER"

The man walked into a restaurant, ornate in its futuristic decorations and reeking with an atmosphere of high prices. He was ushered to a table and immediately ordered a glass of water. The waiter brought the water, which the man swallowed with one gulp, and asked for another glass of water. While the waiter was away the man took out a small package of sandwiches and spread them on the table. No sooner was this done than a severe looking individual came to the table and said:

"I beg your pardon, sir but this isn't—"

"Who are you?" interrupted the man.

"I am the manager," was the impressive reply.

"Good!" said the man. "I was just going to send for you. Why isn't the orchestra playing?"

Rough Stuff

Some of our novelists seem not to care what they do with their characters' eyes. For instance:

"Her eyes roamed carelessly round the room."

"With her eyes she riveted him to the spot."

"He tore his eyes from her face and they fell on the letter at her feet."

"Their eyes met for a long, breathless moment, and swam together."

"Marjory would often take her eyes from the deck and cast them far out to sea."

A schoolboy was asked to explain the formation of dew. His answer was: "The earth revolves on its axis every twenty-four hours, and in consequence, of the tremendous pace at which it travels, it perspires freely."

During the political campaign an angry candidate strode into a newspaper office.

"Look here." he cried. "You've been printing lies about me in your paper."

"That's right," replied the editor. "I know it, but—Good Lord, man—what would you do if we told the truth about you?"

Joe Titsworth, the embryonic campus orator had returned from his first effort as a political speaker.

"Why the dejected look?" asked Stanley Porter.

"Well, right in the middle of my speech someone hit me with a base, cowardly egg."

"Now, please tell me just what kind of an egg is that."

"A base, cowardly egg," he replied. "is one that hits you and runs."

A fast express train was roaring by the little railway station. Above the noise the staton agent heard a yell. Rushing out to the platform, he saw a man sprawled out alongside the tracks with his face scratched and clothes torn. A little girl was standing by, looking on in breathless excitement.

"Did he try to catch that train?" the agent asked the little girl.

"He did catch it," she replied, "but it got away from him."

"Why should you ride a mule if you wish to be rich?"

"Because you are no sooner on than you are better off."

Charge It

While motoring in England Mr. Stockebrand stopped at a garage to have a small defect in his accumulator remedied.

"Say," he inquired, when the job was done, "what's the charge for this battery?"

"One and a half volts, sir."

Mr. Stockebrand looked puzzled.

"Yes," he said at length, "but how does that work out in American money?"

Something Wrong Here

"I don't see how a watch can keep accurate time," said Mary Helen Scranton.

"Why not?" asked Betty Rains.

"Because time flies and a watch only runs," replied Mary Helen.

A Lot Of Dog

After all, says the latest version, the frankfurter is merely a hamburger dressed up in tights.

Running True to Form

Professor: What did you find out about the salivary glands?

Stude: I couldn't find a thing, professor, they're too secretive.

A Poser

A father visiting his son was especially interested in the experiments of the chemical class. "We are at present endeavoring to discover or invent a universal solvent," said his son.

"What's that?"

"A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," returned the father; then, scratching his head, he added, "but when you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

Truth and Frikshun

He struck her, but she uttered no word. Again he struck her, but no sound eskaped her lipz. Once mor he hitter on the hed, but brave thing that she wuz, she did not whimpur. Then, enraged beyond awl reezon at her unconcern, the brute gave vent to a lo maledikshun and began reining blos on her purty littl hed, even skratching her in his madnus. Even thru this she held her peece. But at length, her feelings at the blazing point, she gave a reluktant sputter and burst into flaim.

For yu see she wuz only a match.

Faithful Service

Young Man: "Sir, I have courted your daughter for three years."

Father: "Well, what do you want?"

Young Man: "I want to marry her."

Father: "Oh! Is that all? I thought you wanted a pension or something."

Famous Last Words

"Wonder if it's loaded? I'll look down the barrel and see."

"Oh, there's the train whistle! Step on it and we'll get across the tracks before it comes."

"They say these things can't possibly explode no matter how much you throw them around."

"I wonder whether this rope will hold my weight."

"The one way to manage a mule is to walk right up in back of him and surprise him."

"That firecracker must have gone out. I'll light it again."

Visitor at Zoo: "Is that gnu very vicious?"

Guide: "Well, lady, no gnus is good gnus."

Nellie and Hille, the inseparables....Knott and Webb, solemm but wise ....Jean, the little helper-outer....Helman and Stevens, classward bound.... Overfield, the ladies man....Washburn, Topeka bound....Rivals or just friends? Dot, Gus, and Anne....Four of a kind....Small but mighty, Jog Allen.

Chinese patient on the phone: "Doctor wha' time you fixee tooth for me?"

Doc: "Two thirty—all right?"

Chinese: "Yes, tooth hurty all right, wha' time you fixee?"

Excuses are easy — even the horse has its stall.

Visitors: Whats that building over there."

A Sophmore: "Oh, that's the greenhouse."

Visitor: "I didn't know the freshmen had a dormitory all to themselves."

Jane Cowles — thought that calves gave condensed milk.

Johnny: "Dad, I saved ten cents today. I ran all the way to school behind a streetcar."

Dad: "Why didn't you run behind a taxicab and save a dollar?"

Operator: "Hello! This is long distance. I have a call for you from Miami."

"Hello! This is Ben. Listen, Jack, I'm stranded here and need $100.

"I can't hear you."

"I want $100."

Operator: "I can hear him O.K."

"Well, you give him the $100."

Mr. Reppert: "Where are the correct places to divide words?"

Buck Hardwick: "Between the vowels and accidents."

Nervous Patient: "Will the anaesthetic make me sick?"

Surgeon: "No,I think not."

Nervous Patient: "How long will it be before I know anything?"

Surgeon (gently): "Aren't you expecting a little to much for the anaesthetic?"

Or A Mouth Organ

Mr. Bevan: "Sue, name an organ of the body."

Sue Sevier: "Teeth."

Mr. Bevan: "Teeth? What kind of an organ would the teeth be?"

Sue: "A grind organ."

Girls Do

He sat down on the davenport.

"How are you feeling?" he said.

"Fit as a fiddle," said she, gaily.

"Fine!" he said. "Then you like having a beau on the string!"

The Bright Side

Cyrus Tiller went to town the other day and decided to surprise Ma Tiller, so he went into a store and bought himself one of the stylish English-drape suits. He put it under the seat of the wagon and then bought some feed for the horses. On the way home he got to a lonely bridge over a river and here he took off his old clothes and tossed them in. He reached under the seat and found someone had stolen his new clothes. He climbed on the wagon, whipped up the horses, and said. "I'll surprise her anyhow! Giddap."

Then They Laughed Again

"Are you laughing at me?" demanded the irated Professor Maust.

"No," came the answer in chorus.

"Well," insisted the professor, "what else is there in the room to laugh at?"

Temperment'll Ruin Her

Miss Baldwin: "Use the word commercial in a sentence."

Frank Lawler: "When I call my dog she'll either commercial stay, according to how she feels."
