independence community college

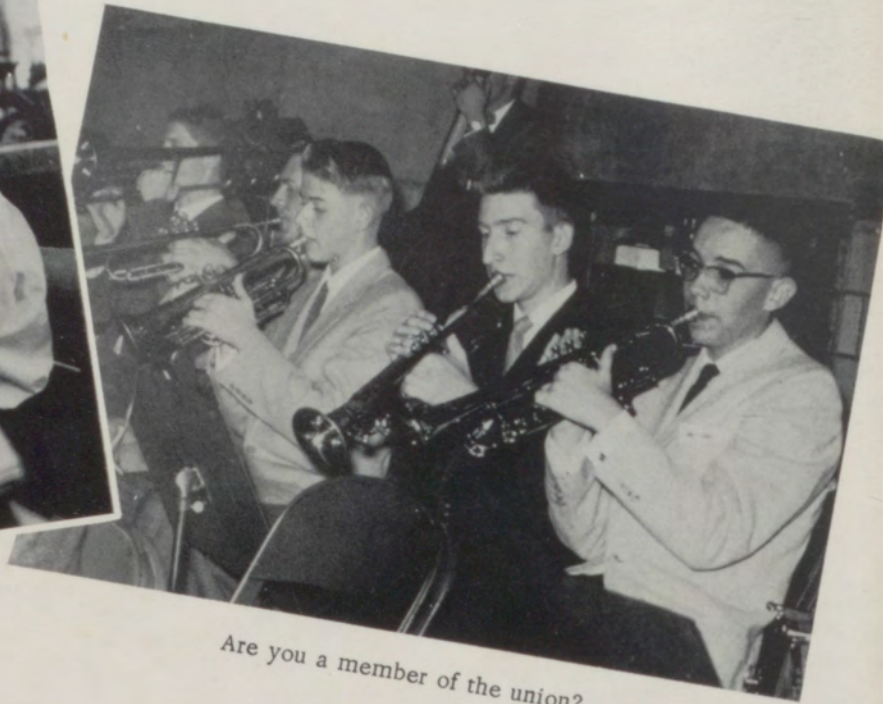

An aerial photograph of the Independence Community College campus. The image shows several large, rectangular, light-colored buildings with flat roofs, arranged in a complex layout. A prominent feature is a large, dark, square structure on the upper left. The buildings are surrounded by a mix of paved areas, including a large parking lot in the foreground, and open fields. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, providing a clear view of the campus's architecture and its surrounding environment.

Independence Community College is fashioned with care from materials of loyalty, pride, and a desire for improvement. We are never hesitant to add a new wing or remodel an outdated one. We do this as a small repayment for the enjoyment ICC gives us. All of us who profit from our years here do so unselfishly, for we get out of life here only what we are willing to put into it. This year we have done extensive building and remodeling and are proud to take our place beside the other architects of THE SCHOOL THAT SPIRIT BUILT.

Carl A. Nelson

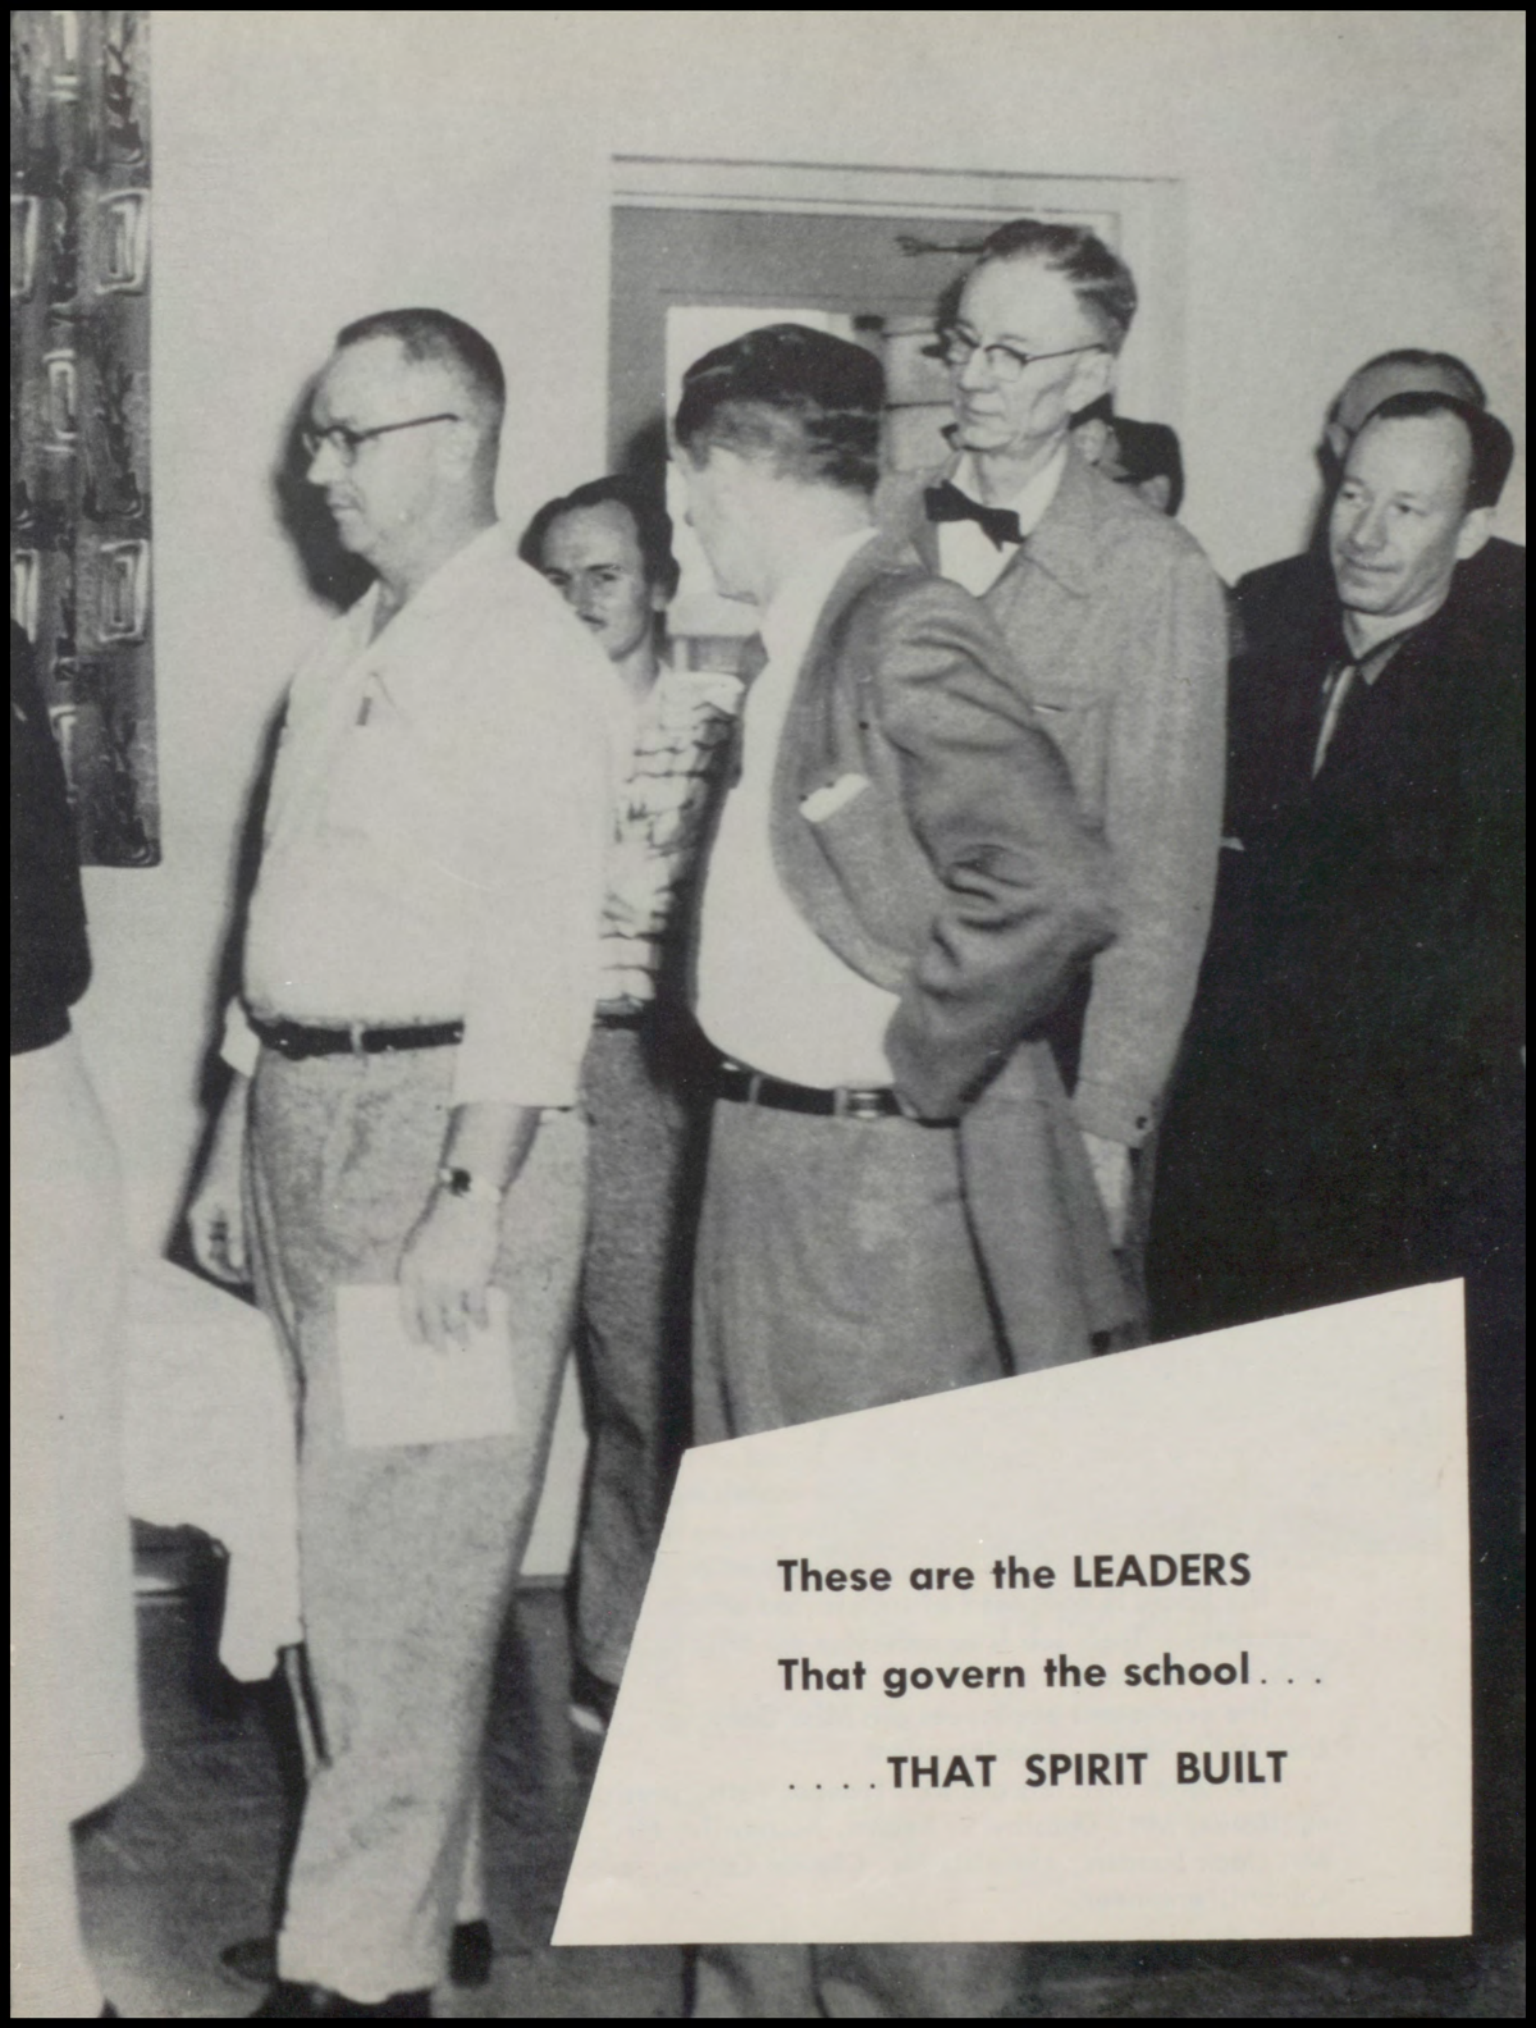

The staff of the 1958-59 COMMUNICO salutes one of the major members of our outstanding team----Mr. Carl A. Nelson.

A member of the Independence Community College faculty for fifteen years, Mr. Nelson holds the esteem and admiration of all who know him. Having served in the capacity of president of the Independence Teachers' Association, Mr.

Nelson is a leader, not only as a coach, typing and economics instructor, but among his colleagues as well.

It is with great respect that we dedicate this edition of the COMMUNICO to Mr. Nelson--a man who has played an influencing role in the lives of many.

. . . . THAT SPIRIT BUILT

Once a month a meeting of the Board of Education for the Independence school system is held. These once-a-month meetings are regularly scheduled, but often these administrators find themselves calling emergency meetings to handle problems that need immediate attention.

The board is composed of six elected officials and two permanent employees. Their job is to supervise all official action taken by the schools in Independence.

The permanent employees are Miss Georgia Lee Rockwell, clerk, and Mr. Lonnie N. Wood, superintendent.

The other officials are Mr. Francis Potts, president, and by profession, mortician; Mrs. Dorothy S. Beahm, housewife; Mr. John O'Brien, attorney; Mr. Jack Sanders, chemist; Mr. Claude Cotton, accountant; and Mr. R. J. Osborn, engineer.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national junior college scholastic fraternity. The Beta Omega Chapter was installed in Independence in the spring of 1933. This organization is limited to students in the college division. Election to membership is based upon scholarship, character, leadership, and citizenship. Students are elected by a faculty committee.

The Student Christian Fellowship is an organization that offers an opportunity to men and women of ICC for development in religious and social service. It provides for spiritual, cultural, and social growth. This organization sponsors student assemblies during the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter seasons and weekly devotional services each Tuesday. In addition, it sponsors several parties during the year and endeavors to make school life more pleasant and worthwhile.

Here President Horton Kurtis presents playwright William Inge with a pin of the organization, making him an honorary member. Mr. Inge, along with director-producer Elia Kazan, made an informal appearance before the Players. Subjects in discussion ranged from old plays to new movies. One of the highlights of the meeting was Mr. Inge's comments on his new play "Dark at the Top of the Stairs." Mr. Inge attended Independence Junior College.

Hal Hamilton, known from his appearances on the T.V. show, "As the World Turns" starred in the play, "Picnic," produced as a major part of a gala Neewollah celebration. The players worked on the production in various capacities. Hal was the honored guest at a luncheon where he was made an honorary member of the organization. Hal is a graduate of the local junior college.

Student Kansas State Teachers' Association is the new name of the organization for future teachers at I. C. C. The Student K.S.T.A. offers fine opportunities for both high school and college students planning to become teachers. One of the highlights of their many activities is Future Teachers' Day. On this day, in March, students were able to observe a day in a classroom at one of the local grade schools or at the junior high school in the department of their choice. A film on education, a book review, and a meeting for future teachers at the Independence section of the state teachers' meeting were also sponsored by the S.K.S.T.A.

OFFICERS: J. Richardson, Student Council Representative; M. Wilson, Reporter; C. Bailey, Sponsor; J. Dean, Vice-President; H. Scott, Secretary-Treasurer; J. Messenger, President; N. Gordon, Historian.

One of the many activities of the future teachers includes making decorations for and decorating a school Christmas tree. Here the group is working on this project.

Each year students interested in teaching practice teach at one of the local grade schools. Here Donna McLean is shown with a group of third graders.

The "I" Club is an organization for all Independence Community College, college division lettermen. The group was formed with the purpose of creating higher standards for the athletes to follow and give our students and the people of Independence better athletics. We try to fulfill these purposes by improving the athlete's academic work, build moral character, encourage good sportsmanship, and produce relationship among athletes.

During an athlete's sophomore year the athlete is awarded a letter jacket after he has filled the requirements and has passed at least ten semester hours of work during the semester he has participated in the sport in which the letter is to be awarded.

An Excellent Block Makes Way
for Another Morgan TD

The 1958 opening practice in the Pirate Football Camp welcomed forty candidates, nine of which were sophomores and only five returning lettermen. The freshmen candidates, one of the finest groups to represent the Pirates, wasted very little time in convincing everyone they were going to play a lot of ball.

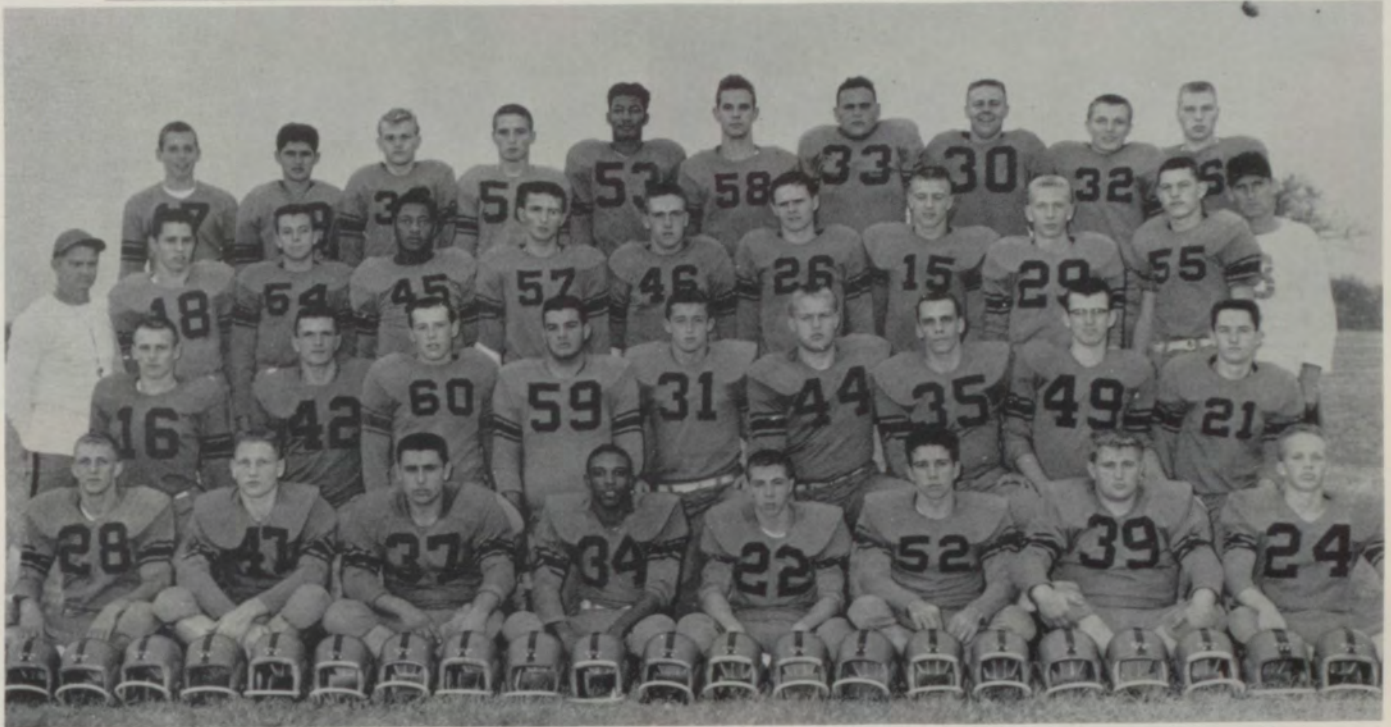

After convincingly defeating the first three opponents, the Pirates journeyed to Pratt for a big test with a veteran Beaver team which at that time was holding down the conference lead. It appeared the Pirates had the situation under control, only to drop the game, 21-14.

In their traditional rivalry game with the Coffeyville Red Ravens, the Pirates completely outplayed their opponents, but a few mistakes were the margin between victory and defeat.

Although only losing three games for the entire season, the Pirates were ruled to forfeit their opening game because of an eligibility ruling which lowered them in the final standings.

The All-Conference selection included three Pirates on the first defensive and offensive units. There were thirty members who earned letters, nine sophomores and twenty-one freshmen.

Our 1958 Bulldogs were "over the barrel". They were the defending titlists and were following the unbeaten team of 1957. Every team wanted to defeat the defending S. E. K. Champs, but the '58 Champs were successful over every challenger. As a result, this Bulldog team is the first team to string together two consecutive unbeaten, untied seasons and championships for I. H. S.

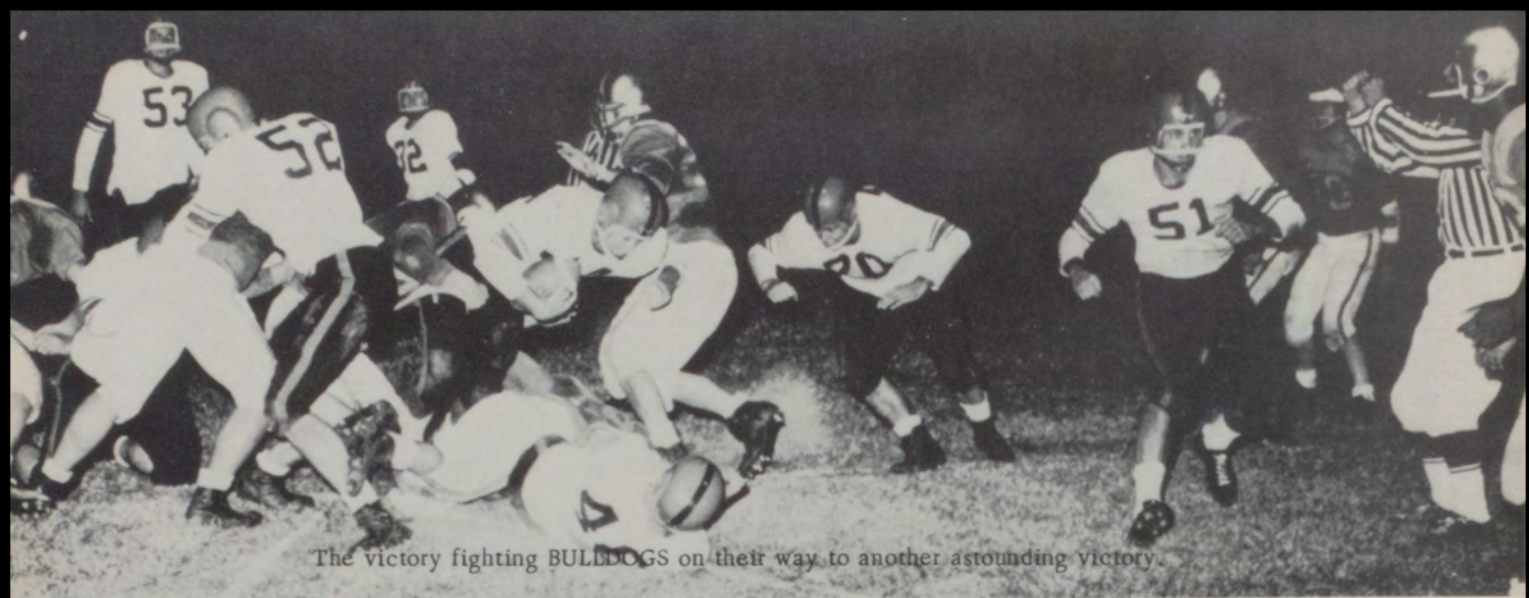

The Bulldogs returned sixteen lettermen from the undefeated '57. Lettermen provided the experience that the fighting juniors might have lacked.

This year's "orange and black eleven" featured a highly explosive backfield that could and did go all the way several times. A strong and mobile line opened up holes for the backfield men. On defense the team was particularly rugged, holding one conference team for without even as much as one first down.

The 'Dogs defeated Pittsburg to clinch the conference crown. This was followed by a victory over our ancient rival, Coffeyville, on a muddy field. Coffeyville was held to a net gain of twenty-eight yards in the rushing column by the tenacious champs.

The championship of 1957-58 proved costly to the Bulldogs of 1958-59. All five regulars were lost through graduation.

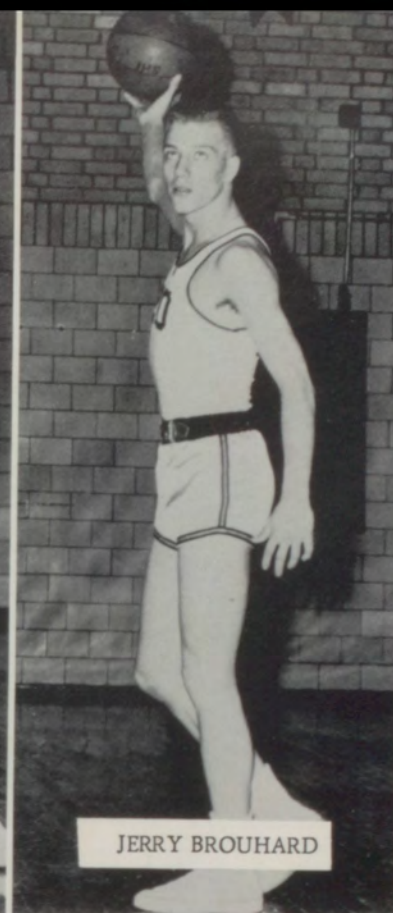

The '58-59 Bulldogs entered the SEK race with less experienced personnel than any of the other league schools and yet were able to field a team that tied for fifth place in the league. The 'Dogs won two and lost two non-league games. In comparison to other years, this season was about average but since the Bulldogs had piled up four championships in a row, football, basketball, and track; most Bulldog supporters failed to realize the effectiveness of inexperience to the squad and were unduly disappointed. However, spirit and hustle remained a Bulldog trademark throughout the season. Bill Thompson, Delbert Kemp, Pack St. Clair, and David Sicks were the major offensive leaders of the squad.

"I shall not forget . . ."

Page after page could well be written about the 1958-59 Independence Community College basketball team. For this edition of the JUCO Pirates scaled the heights in athletic achievement. This team, displaying all the qualities of champions, fired school spirit and enthusiasm to a new peak as it roared through rugged opposition to annex the eastern conference, regional, and state basketball championships.

The sheer courage and fierce determination of this swashbuckling Pirate crew was never better exemplified than in the finals of the regional tournament at Coffeyville. Playing for a coveted trip to the National Tournament, the Pirates found themselves behind by ten points at the half yet rallied against seemingly overwhelming odds to defeat the defending champion Red Ravens. The Pirates repeated the effort four nights later in a historic playoff victory over Coffeyville for the conference supremacy in a game at Parsons. It was the third straight victory for Independence Juco over their arch rivals from the south.

The Pirates became the first I.C.C. team ever to compete in the National tournament. After a heart-breaking 60-59 loss in their opener against Chipola of Florida, the amazing Bucs bounced back to bombard Alfred State Tech of New York, 112 to 79 in an offensive show that set new school records. The Pirates then trounced a strong South Carolina team from North Greenville, 99-67, to wrap up eighth place in the National classic. The Pirates lost to Kentucky 98-86 in their finale but became the tourney's No. 1 offensive team and missed all-time tourney records by the barest of margins.

Larry Knackstedt, floor general de luxe, earned All-American honors at the tournament. Coach Bob Sneller faces the unenviable task of finding replacements for the stellar guard and for other sophomore standouts such as Gary Sebbert, top scorer and a rugged rebounder, and dependable George Sherwood, the team's "solid man" who was a key factor in the team's great season.

Coach Sneller said of the greatest basketball team in the school's history: "I shall never forget this memorable season nor all the people who helped make it possible. These Pirate basketeers have shown everyone what can be accomplished by hard work, teamwork, determination, faith, and by a burning desire to accomplish what you set out to do. These boys have succeeded against great odds and under tremendous pressure. They gave to the team, at all times, their very best. They have earned and received the admiration of many people, and I am sure that they shall continue to be successful in their post-school living."

Coach Sneller summed up the wonderful season with this thought: "I think it is significant to remember that the main reason everyone gained so much from this basketball season is that everyone put so much into it."

All in all, the Pirates won 21 games and lost only six to two-year schools, including the National tourney. The 21 wins included a victory over Weber College of Ogden, Utah, the team that later won the 1959 National junior college championship.

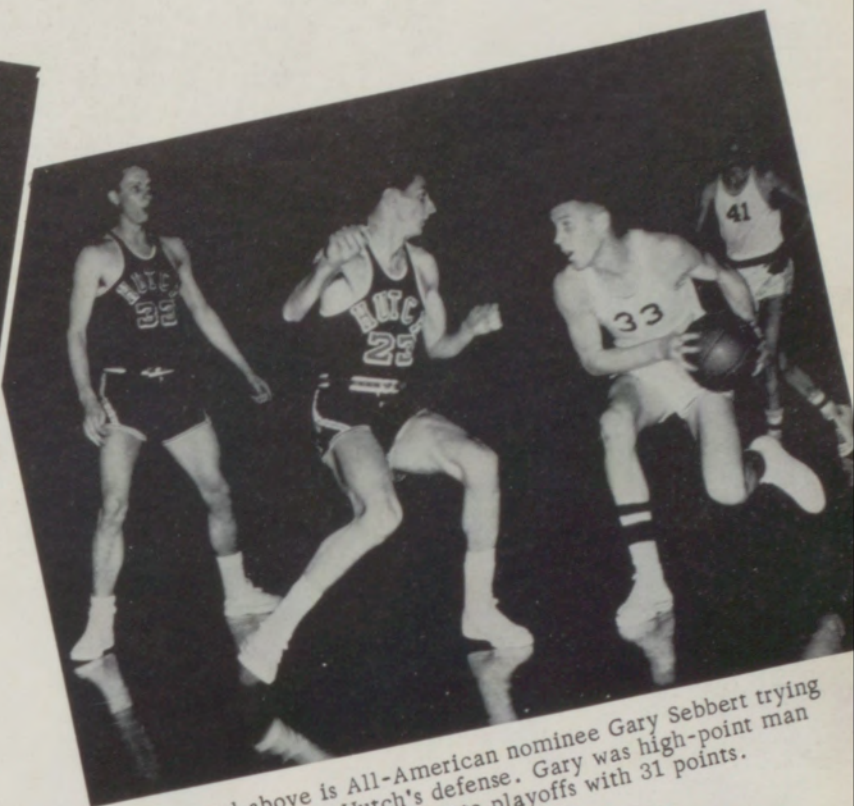

Sneller gave full credit to his assistant, Keith Ostrander, calling him "the best manager any team ever had." Sneller also praised statistician Gary House and "everyone who played a part."

The Pirates had an 18-man squad, that included 12 freshmen who will return for what promises to be another "good" year in '59-'60. However, with the loss of three regulars, it will be difficult to ever duplicate this year's team of conference, regional, state champions and number eight in the entire nation! All hail to the champions!

Pictured above is All-American nominee Gary Sebbert trying to find a hole in Hutch's defense. Gary was high-point man in the final game of the state playoffs with 31 points.

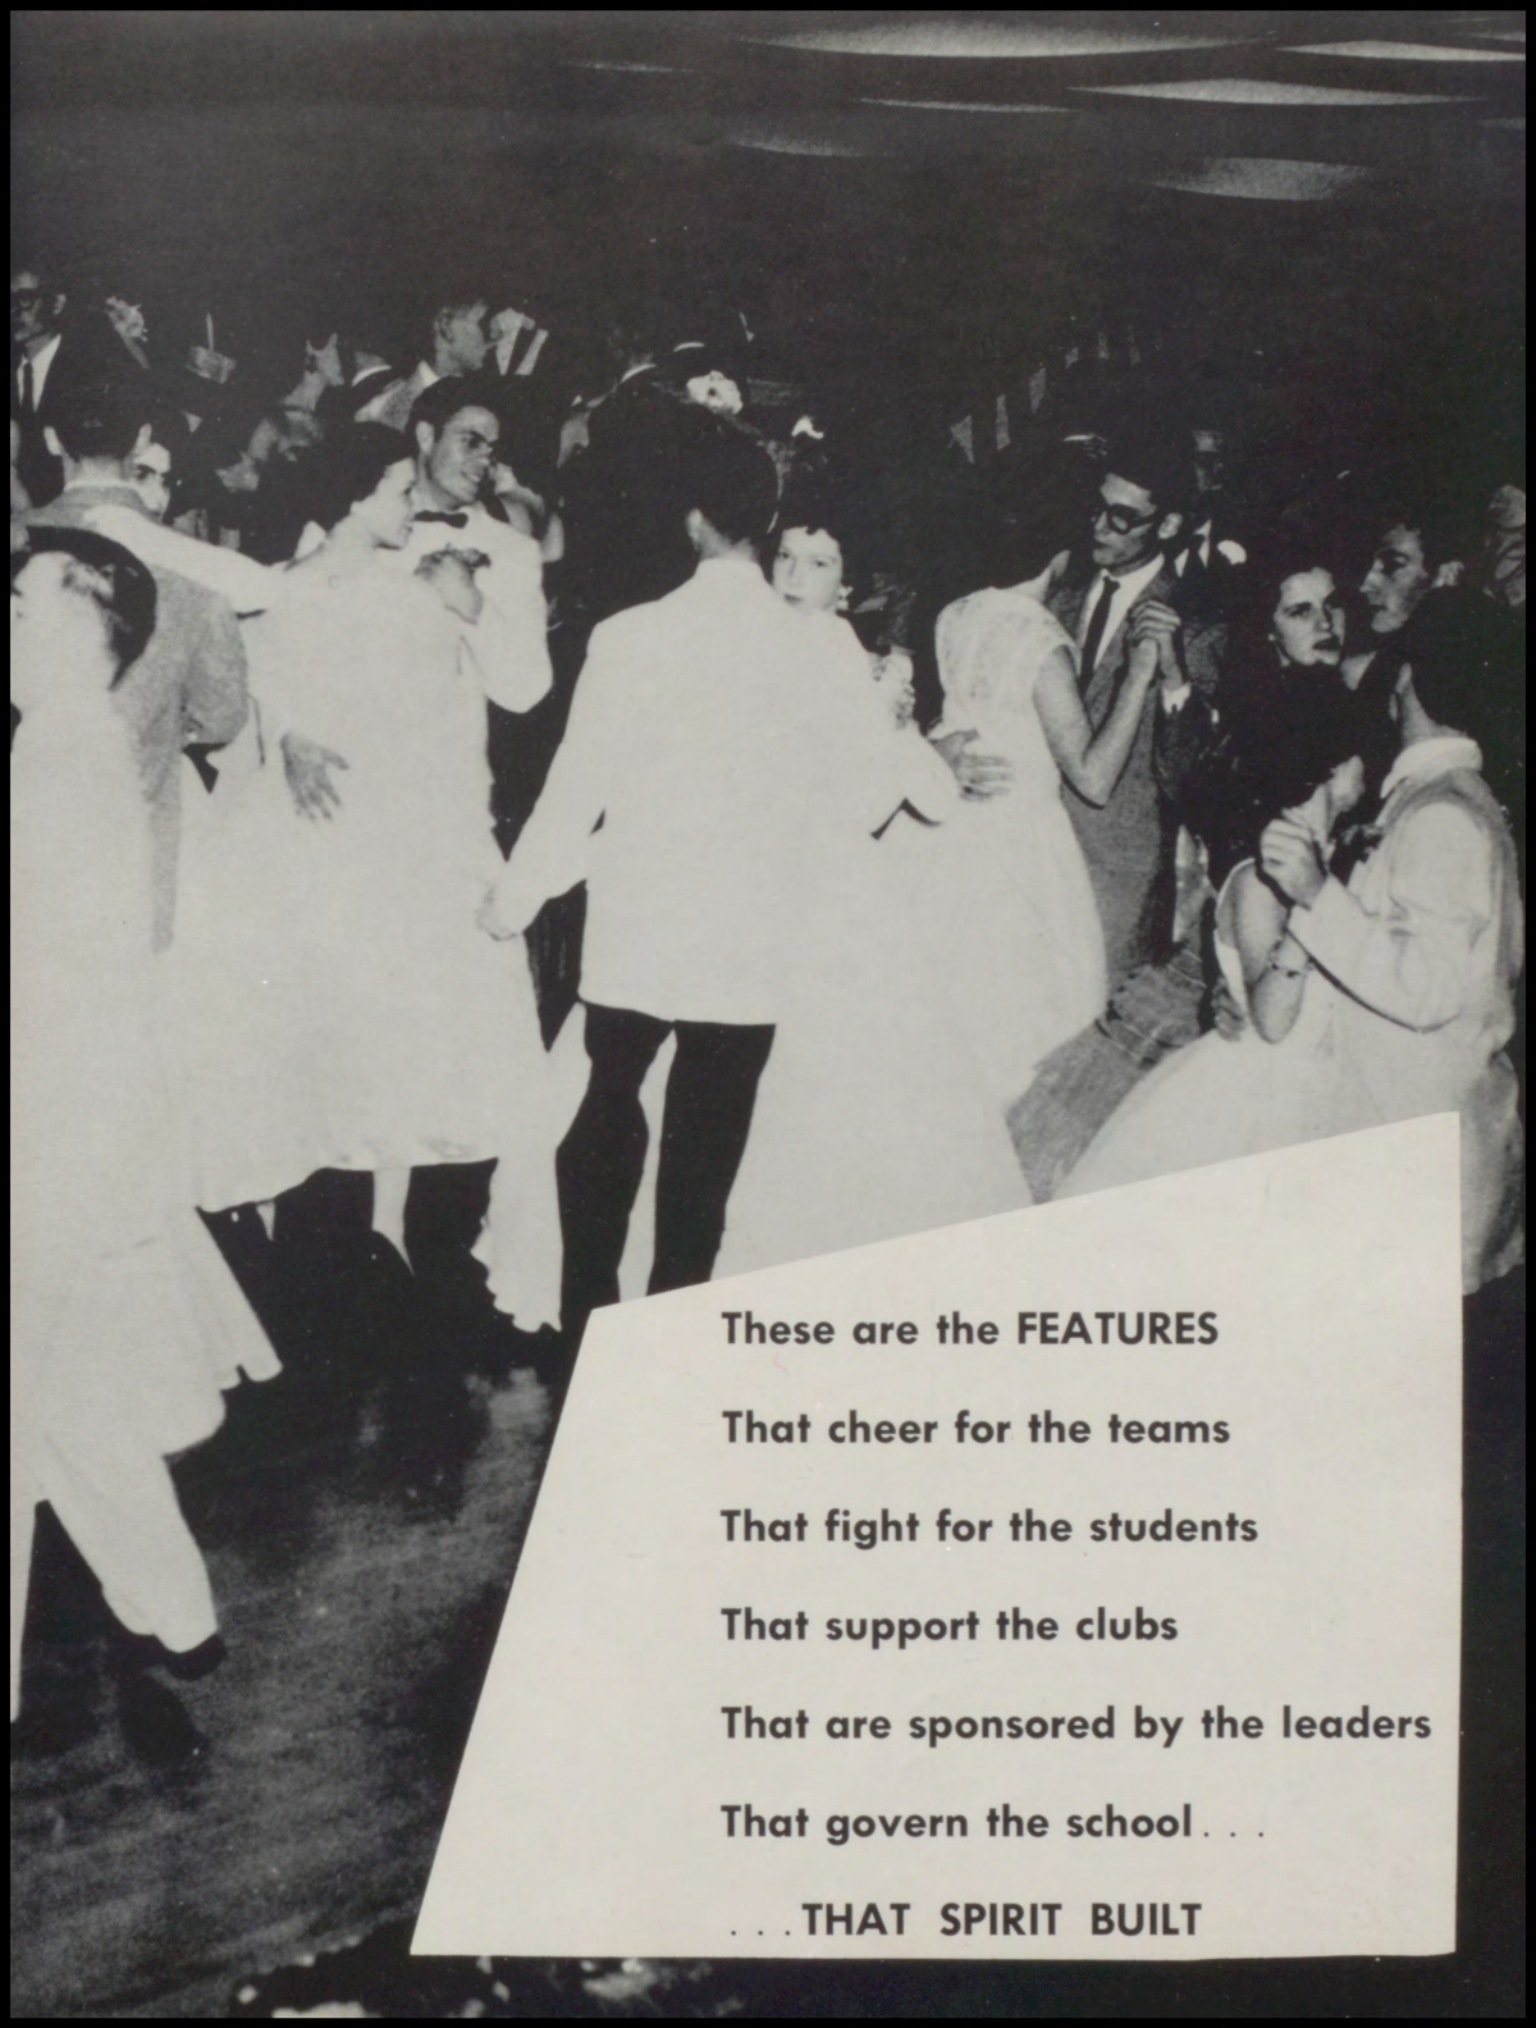

Here is an example of the ability of the Pirate football team that lead them to a very successful season.

one-act

The cast of "The Empty Room" included Nancy Cobble, Billie Jean Morrison, Tim Emert, Richard Morton and Not Pictured; Marsha Banion, Bob Wilson, and Susan Colburn.

In 1958 a new program was inaugurated by the Independence Community College Theatre Workshop. The project consisted of the presenting of four one-act plays which featured student directing and acting. The directing was done by four members of a play production class. The acting parts were open to any member of the I. C. C. student body and were chosen on the basis of talent shown at tryouts conducted by the directors.

The first play given was "The Empty Room," directed by Horton Kurtis and given in conjunction with the Christmas Assembly. The play had a religious theme which gave an interesting view of the first Christmas.

The remaining three plays were presented January 8. The first of these was "Cracked Ice" directed by Sue Goodwin. This presentation was a comedy with a weather bureau station in Alaska as the setting.

The next production was entitled "The Pot Boiler" which was also a comedy directed by actor-director Paul Grant. This depicted the rehearsal of a Broadway play.

The last play to be given was "The Monkey's Paw," a dramatic presentation directed by Peggy Turner. The play told of a family who received three wishes. The play had an extremely emotional climax.

The plays certainly presented an opportunity for excellent experience to all concerned.

Shown on stage are all the members of the cast of "Cracked Ice." They are, Audrey Leonard, Horton Kurtis, Ruth Ann Steffens, Ronald Ulm, and Glen Stith.
